VETERANS MEET

Pittsburg Streets Crowded With the Visiting Veterans and Thousands of Interested Spectators.

Stirring Parade of the Naval Veterans Held This Morning and Naval Relics Exposed to View.

Ninety Thousand War Veterans Are Expected to be in Line in Tomorrow's Great Parade.

Distinguished Guests Present and Three Hundred Thousand Visitors Are Due to Arrive Tomorrow.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 10.—The full forces of the Grand Army are in the city this morning and have complete possession. Many Western departments arrived, among them, those of Colorado, Wyoming, Minnesota, Michigan and Missouri. The parade of naval veterans took place this morning. Over 1000 men under the command of Rear Admiral J. B. Osborn were in line. The old salts were cheered all along the line of march which extended through the principal downtown streets. In the parade were carried many historic relics of naval warfare, among them the torn and stained banner which floated over the good old Kearsarge when she added lustre to the American standard on the high seas. The formation took place at 8 o'clock and the parade moved at 10. Miss Carrie Lowe, daughter of Gen. A. L. Lowe, of Fort Worth, Texas, was in the parade carrying the colors of the Dupont Naval association of Texas. She was the lone representative of the Lone Star state in the parade of the salts and her appearance elicited unbounded enthusiasm. Commandant W. S. Buckland was in command of the armed camps which presented a martial front. The First Ohio regiment sons of Veterans occupied the right of line together with the armed camps. The column was reviewed by the national officers from a stand on Cedar avenue, Allegheny. Miss Daisy Fille, the mascot of the naval veterans, who arrived yesterday from Cincinnati, was in the parade. She was dressed in regulation sailor uniform and marched beside Admiral Osborn, acting as his messenger. Miss Fille has been the mascot of the organization since its inception, and is a general favorite among the troops. She will tomorrow occupy a place of honor in the Grand Army parade. The naval veterans went into the city this morning. Thirty-four associations were represented. Commander-in-Chief J. G. B. Adams of the Grand Army arrived this morning from the East on the headquarters train, together with his staff. He was escorted to the Monongahela house by a detail of National Guardsmen and a band of music. Upon his arrival at the hotel the national headquarters were formally opened and there was a rush of visitors. Governor Pattison here. All the state headquarters have been opened and the veterans are as enthusiastic over the hospitable reception as are the people of the city over their visitors. Arrangements are perfected for tomorrow's big parade of veterans and 90,000 men are to be in line. Fully 50,000 visitors are now in the city and more are coming on every train. Five hundred extra policemen are on duty and the best of order prevails. Tomorrow will be a general holiday as the mayors of Pittsburgh and Allegheny have issued proclamations asking that as much business as possible be suspended so that as many people may see the parade as possible. Down town streets are almost impassable so great are the crowds which closely pack the sidewalks. It is expected that 100,000 spectators will see the city tonight exclusive of the veterans and their relatives. Windows on Fifth avenue and other prominent downtown streets are being sold at premiums for tomorrow's parade. All the national officers of the Women's Relief corps arrived and have taken rooms in the Monongahela house. Tonight dozens of reunions and a camp fire will take place, being the first of a series which will extend through the entire week. Noyes post, of Cincinnati, will give a reception to all the Ohio delegates at the city hall. The gathering will be addressed by Governor Pattison, of Pennsylvania, and Governor McKinley, of Ohio. This afternoon at 1 o'clock a carriage drive was given to the visiting ladies of the relief corps by the entertainment committee of the Pittsburg ladies. The Seventy-sixth regiment of Pennsylvania infantry held its reunion this afternoon as did the Eleventh Pennsylvania reserves, the Second Ohio cavalry and the Fourth Pennsylvania cavalry. Senator Quay's regiment, the Eighteenth Pennsylvania cavalry, will reunite this evening and the senator will be present. Senator J. B. Gordon, of Georgia, who was second in command of the Confederate army at Appomattox, is in the city and today met a number of men who were in the Union army when Lee gave his sword away. Senator Gordon will deliver a lecture before leaving the city. Resolutions are to be presented at this afternoon's session of the Naval Veterans association asking congress to establish a college for the education of the daughters of soldiers and sailors. John Driscoll, of Milwaukee, a member of the Naval Veterans association, was taken to a hospital today. The physicians say he is insane and that his condition is precarious.

Secretary Morton's Opinion.
NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Secretary of Agriculture Morton is stopping at the Imperial hotel with his two sons, Joy and Paul. With them he will sail for Europe Tuesday. The secretary says the drought has been very disastrous. The suffering by the drought, he fears, will be largely increased by the great fires.

IMMENSE GOLD NUGGET.

Its Finding Causes Excitement in the Australian Gold Regions.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 10.—Advices from Australia, by the steamer Warimoo, say that another immense nugget of gold was found at Cool Gardie, eclipsing the famous Londonderry find. The nugget, which has been called the Dunn nugget, after its finder, weighs 1800 ounces and is worth over $30,000. It was taken from a reef, the whole face of which glistens with gold. Tremendous excitement prevails and since the find property has increased in value at the diggings 500 per cent. The laboring miners have struck at Cool Gardie and demand £4 a week. They have armed themselves with rifles to prevent outsiders working in their places. Bloodshed is feared. Four thousand people are camped around where Dunn found his nugget, and work is being done with great haste and difficulty. Two hundred special police have been sworn in to protect property.

FIGHT WITH FOOTPADS.

Chief of Police Sullivan, of Moorhead, Bags Some Ugly Game.

MOORHEAD, Minn., Sept. 10.—The police and several citizens had a lively time with three footpads. Word was brought to the city that a man had been held up and relieved of $10 and a railroad ticket at a point three miles east of town. Chief of Police Sullivan and several citizens left at once for the scene in carriages, the greater of his best taken along, as it was reported that the footpads were heavily armed. The posse came upon the men in the act of holding up another man and gave chase. The footpads fired several shots at the posse which was returned with the result that two of the robbers were hit with rifle bullets, one in the arm and one in the leg. All three of the brigands were arrested and none of the town people hurt.

Wild West Indians Satisfied.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Some time ago reports were made that a party of Sioux Indians, under contract with a wild west show, had been stranded in Antwerp and returned destitute to this country. The news was contradicted in a communication received by Indian Commissioner Browning from the consul at London, England, who says that the twenty-five Indians, belonging to the Pawnee Bill show, left Antwerp fully satisfied and of their own free will. The remainder of the contract Indians were expected to be sent back to Dakota about five weeks after the departure of the twenty-five.

Japanese Navy Acquisitions.

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 10.—Officers of the steamship Sikkim reported that the steamer Mogu, whose place on the Northern Pacific line was taken by the Sikkim, has been purchased by the Japanese government and is being refitted by Japanese officers and crew. The price is reported at $35,000. The Mogu will be used as a transport or refitted for a cruiser. The Sikkim officers were told that the Japanese government had given a Japanese steamship company $2,000,000 with which to purchase steamships.

Branch Line Receivers Retired.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 10.—The twenty-five receivers of Northern Pacific branch lines appointed simultaneously by Judge Jenkins and the judges of courts in Minnesota have been retired under an arrangement between the receivers, the re-organized committee and the Farmers Loan and Trust company, of New York, by which the trust company will operate the lines for a limited sum per annum. By the arrangement over $50,000 per annum will be saved.

An Ohio Village Scorched.

MASON, Ohio, Sept. 10.—Twenty acres in the heart of the village of Dalton, Ohio, were devastated by fire between 2 o'clock and daylight this morning. The houses and barns were destroyed and the loss is beyond computation. The insurance is almost nothing. Assistance was sent by special train from the nearest city, Canton. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

Prominent Citizens Asphyxiated.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—George Rollins, a life, old and prominent resident of Ravenswood, were found dead in bed today, having been asphyxiated. It is thought that the aged couple turned on the gas by mistake as one of the jets was found wide open.

IT IS NOT FLAT.

Body Found Yesterday is That of Some Other Individual.

Joseph L. Howe, of Brainerd, who was in the city until this afternoon, called at the morgue yesterday and viewed the remains of the man found on the lake shore at Lester Park. He positively identifies him as a man whom he saw in Minneapolis a short time ago, selling pills, key rings and things of that sort. He cannot remember his name. Mr. Butchart says that Lack, the clerk, is mistaken about the man being W. Flatt, of Hamilton, Ont. Mr. Flatt is a lumberman and an entirely different looking man. Mr. Butchart says, however, that the dead man did stop at the hotel. He remembers him distinctly, but cannot place him.

DAY OF TERROR.

Sunday's Forest Fires Were Very Threatening and Caused Pileable Alarm at Many Small Places.

General Manager Plough's Special Train Driven Back by Flames and Besieged by Refugees.

Hinckley Sufferers at Pine City Driven Frantic by the Approach of Flames from the Northward.

Every Train Tied Up for Several Hours and Those Now Running Preceded by Pilots.

PINE CITY, Minn., Sept. 10.—An atmosphere filled with smoke and cinders; a heavy bank of black clouds to the north, with now and then a tongue of flame shooting above the murky wall, lighting up the heavens with a lurid glow, terrified the inhabitants of Pine City yesterday and caused a stampede of several hundred people to the railway station where they begged piteously to be taken to St. Paul and out of reach of the death dealing flames.

About 1:30 o'clock a special train on the St. Paul & Duluth road, bearing President Hayes, General Manager Plough, Assistant General Manager Miller and a few other officials of the company, left Pine City for Hinckley, where they were going to see what more could be done in the way of relief for the sufferers from the recent fires. As they proceeded north the smoke which had been hanging like a pall over Pine City all day commenced to get thicker and more black, and when the train arrived at Brown's Hill, a siding about half way between Pine City and Hinckley, those on board began to have very serious doubts as to the safety of proceeding further. While they were considering the question of going on, they were treated to a grand and awful spectacle which settled all doubt as to the advisability of proceeding to Hinckley. In the northwest was a heavy black bank of smoke hanging over the forests like a thunder cloud. Everywhere the air was filled with smoke, which made it difficult to see objects but a few yards away. Above the main part of the smoke pall was a thinner atmosphere of smoke, the crimson glow of which told of the devastating flames beneath. Ever and anon a tongue of flame would shoot out of the opaque mass, a cloud of thick smoke would be thrown hundreds of feet into the air. It was at once decided to run back to Pine City and a freight which was standing on the side track was warned to do the same.

When the train reached Pine City it found the refugees from the Hinckley fire in a state of terror. Their fears were laughed at by many of the inhabitants, but the awful baseness of fire and death, through which they had once passed had brought the refugees into a frame of mind in which they would listen to no argument. They, too, had seen the fire cloud to the north, and first by twos and threes, and then like a flock of sheep, they deserted their tents and temporary homes and crowded around the special train. The railroad officials attempted to reassure them, but in vain, and they packed the cars to suffocation, and threw on the platforms, in an indiscriminate mass, what few goods and chattels they had left.

Upon learning the facts, the tied up trains were released and traffic is proceeding as usual, pilots being sent out ahead of the limited trains.

But the refugees at Pine City, while reassured, did not feel perfectly safe, and it was with the greatest difficulty they were induced to leave the train of which they had taken possession. Manager Plough ordered a special train of empty freight cars made up with an engine headed for St. Paul and all the loaded cars were placed on the side tracks, while the empty train was left here over night to take the Pine City people to St. Paul in case there is any further danger from fires. The town was quiet last night, and the frightened refugees rested in peace thanks to the action of the Duluth officials. At another time the incident would have been almost ludicrous, but the awful agony of those who passed through the Hinckley fire had left their minds in a state of alarm which could only be relieved by these preparations for absolute safety.

THE WIND CHANGED.

A Close Call for Barnum, Moran and Some Other Places.

HINCKLEY, Sept. 10.—Dispatches received at Hinckley from Mora yesterday stated that fire drove the people from the town onto the island in Lake Mora, where they were forced to remain for two hours. Ground House people who had gone to Mora for safety were also sheltered on the island which was burned over by citizens the day after the great Hinckley fire to afford protection in case of fire. The operator left his key and communication was cut off. A change in the wind saved the town. Sparks from the fire were flying on the principal business streets when the people left their homes.

At Barnum the fire was occasioned by a great forest fire being driven on to St. S. Johnson's lumber yard and the main portion of the town, but fortune favored it by a change in the direction of the wind. A desperate fight was made in both places to save the property. Every precaution was taken to prevent a loss of life. The south bound limited was held at Carlton and Barnum. It was dangerous to proceed until after two hours' delay. A change in the direction of the wind saved not only Mora, but Rutledge, Willow River and Barnum and possibly many lives.

MEMORIAL CEREMONIES.

Solemn Services at Pine City for the Victims of the Big Fire.

PINE CITY, Sept. 10.—The memorial services for the Hinckley dead were under the immediate supervision of Joseph T. Mannix, of Minneapolis. Owing to the afternoon excitement and the delay of the trains, the meeting, which had been arranged to take place in Robinson park at 7 o'clock was postponed and held at the opera house at 7:30 p. m. where the following program was rendered: Opening prayer by Rev. George W. Sharp, of Kirkville, Mo., representing the Christian Herald, of New York; reading Scriptures by Rev. Lewis Knutson, solo by Mrs. Dr. Barnum; remarks by Rev. Mr. Knutson, the Hinckley pastor who passed through the fire; commemorative poem by John Tallman, of St. Paul, read by S. G. L. Roberts; solo, "To Scenes of Peace Reflected," by Albert Berg, Center City, Minn., who is possessed of a remarkable voice; remarks by Rev. Father B. A. Jack, of Rush City; quartet, Professor Hay and wife, Dr. E. E. Barnum and wife; remarks by J. D. Markham, of Rush City, and by Rev. T. H. Fleetham, of Pine City.

Anoka Aids the Sufferers.

ANOKA, Minn., Sept. 10.—At a mass meeting of the citizens of Anoka held at city hall yesterday afternoon, called by Mayor Goodrich for the relief of fire sufferers at Hinckley and other places $400 in cash was collected, $150 was subscribed by the city council and the same amount by the county commissioners, in all amounting to $1000, besides large amounts of clothing, building material and provisions.

OVER 40 DEAD.

The Express Train Horror on the Paris & Cologne Railway Yesterday Increases on Examination.

Between Forty and Sixty Are Dead and Twelve Bodies Have Been Recovered from the Wreck.

Accident Was Caused by a Freight Train Blocking the Main Line While Switching at Apilly.

Train Was Loaded With Tourists, but no Americans Were Among the Injured Passengers List.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The disaster to the Paris and Cologne express train at Apilly, between Noyon and Chauny, yesterday was more serious than at first supposed. The first estimates placed the number of killed at ten, with twenty injured. It is now stated from forty to sixty were killed or injured. Twelve dead bodies have been taken from the wreck. The minister of public works, M. Barthou, and a number of railway officials have gone to the scene of the accident. It is definitely stated that the accident was due to the slow shunting of a freight train at Apilly. The engineer of the express saw the freight train on the line and reversed his engine. The shock of the collision was borne by three front cars which sustained the brunt of the damage, as soon as the accident became known a number of priests and physicians hurried to the railroad station and did everything possible to assist the dying and injured.

The report that the stationmaster at Apilly had committed suicide by jumping in front of the express train, which saw that a collision was inevitable, turns out to be incorrect. The stationmaster ran along the track while trying to signal the express train and to the freight train, which was in its way, and he was caught between the two trains and killed. It seems to be certain that there were no Americans among the killed or injured.

SAVED THEM A DRIVE.

Fire Refugees Taken for an Outing Yesterday Afternoon.

The fire refugees were taken out yesterday for a drive along London road to Lester river. The wagons stopped at Thirty-sixth avenue east and the children were given an opportunity to romp and play as much as they chose. It was a good outing for the older people as well as the young and the fresh air raised their spirits materially. In the evening nearly all of the refugees attended service at the Bethel. Dr. Butler preached a beautiful sermon full of hope and inspiration. An appropriate song service was also given.

FUNDS ARE IN DISPUTE.

Disposition of Relief Monies Agitated the General Relief Committee in St. Paul This Morning.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 10.—The general relief committee met this morning at the chamber of commerce. E. W. Peet presided in the absence of Mayor Smith.

The executive committee reported through Chairman Lightner, covering its daily work in a general resume and showing the true character of its efforts. The committee had labored for temporary relief, thinking that measures for permanent relief on the scene of the disaster would be more satisfactorily handled through a state commission. Later Mr. Snyderman, chairman of the committee, expressed intention of turning over the residual money and supplies to the state commission after temporary needs have been satisfied. He thought it would be wise to devote them to local relief, but Mr. Lightner objected and Bishop Gilbert took the position that money and supplies had been donated to the fire sufferers, and the committee had no right to divert them to any other purpose. If there was a residuum it would be better to call a meeting of the subscribers and get their views. Kenneth Clark, of the state commission, was questioned as to the general amount needed. "Counting everything in prospect," said Mr. Clark, including $40,000 from St. Paul and $20,000 from Minneapolis, we have about $50,000 in sight. "How do you make that out?" demanded Mr. Cochran. "Because we have received $10,000 from St. Paul and $20,000 from Minneapolis," retorted Mr. Clark. It transpired, however, that the state commission had not included President Hill's $5000. "That is very queer arithmetic," said Mr. Cochran, "but Mr. Clark insisted that the state commission would not feel aggrieved if St. Paul were to treble her amount. Chairman Peet and Bishop Gilbert spoke of the situation as they had investigated it, claiming that the number of sufferers entitled to aid would be materially larger than at first supposed. The idea was to return all people to the sights of their former homes and re-establish, in so far as possible, the villages wiped out by the devoured blast. Mr. Cochran then registered another kick against the state commission's arithmetic, but Gen. Bend, as treasurer of the committee, reported subscriptions to the amount of $14,000, which with President Hill's subscription of $5000, brings the general St. Paul fund up to nearly $20,000, so in the benevolent rivalry the twins stand about even. It was shown later that St. Paul, through R. Finch, was the first in the field in the matter of relief at Cumberland Shell lake.

Will Prepare the Proposition.

The stockholders of the gas and water company met today and authorized the directors to draw up and submit a proposition to the city for the sale of all its possessions in Duluth. The board will meet tomorrow morning. Three of the directors are here, George C. Squires, R. L. Belknap and William Craig, and the other two, J. Hunter and O. H. Hammond, will be here tomorrow.

On Tuesday morning the fall term of the Hardy school begins.

School call leaves the Spaulding at 8:20. Pupils will be received for classification from 9 until 1 o'clock.

New Elevator at Red Wing.

RED WING, Minn., Sept. 10.—The La-grange mills will erect an elevator with a capacity of 80,000 bushels. During the year ending Sept. 1, ten mills ground 1,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Turkish Rugs!

The demand for Rugs is constantly increasing for many reasons. One is that they are cleaner than a carpet because they can easily be taken up and frequently shaken. We have just opened a new line of

Antique Daghestans, Shirvans, and Prayer Rugs,

These Rugs are superior to all others and much more durable.

Draperies, Curtains, and Curtain Nets

Are now in and we are showing a great variety of the very newest goods at a lower range of prices than the same qualities have ever been offered at before.

Money to loan—$500, $1000, $1500. Cooley & Underhill, Palladio. Judge Morris, L. C. Harris and others will address the Republican meeting at the Republican headquarters in The Herald building on Wednesday of this week.

John Kossiter had a postal card from Dr. Goffis this morning. Duluth's health officer writes from Kenosha, Wis. He thinks he may get home by Saturday. He was in the smallpox districts at Milwaukee the other day. That city has about 100 cases on hand all along this summer.

In police court this morning half a dozen vagrants and plain drunks were disposed of and that was all.

The regular meeting of the city council will be held tonight.

F. F. Morgan, of Cumberland, Wis., has written Mayor Lewis acknowledging the receipt of groceries and supplies. About 500 people suffered losses by fire down there.

Mayor Lewis is in receipt of a letter in which three trained nurses at Omaha offer their services to care for hospital cases among the fire sufferers.

By an oversight, the name of Silberstein & Bondy was left out of the list of firms that donated prizes for the labor day athletic contests.

Mrs. A. N. James, of Lakeside, died yesterday morning at her home 5413 London road.

The fire commissioners on Saturday accepted Emil Applehagen's resignation as fire warden. The bid of the Northwestern Fuel company for furnishing coal for the department was accepted.

The 11-month-old daughter of Alex. and Roberts died yesterday afternoon.

NAMED A CANDIDATE.

Peoples Party of the Eleventh Judicial District Met in Convention at the City Hall Today.

J. W. Bull Was Nominated for Judge by Acclamation, no Other Name Being Presented.

He Agreed to Withdraw if the Bar of the District Would Name a Single Candidate.

The Populist judicial convention assembled at the city hall at 1 p. m. today to place in nomination a man for the bench in the Eleventh judicial district.

L. U. C. Titus was chosen chairman and Wallace Warner secretary. A committee of two was appointed on credentials and found that twelve delegates entitled to seats were present. The temporary organization was then made permanent.

Judge A. N. McGindley then nominated J. W. Bull and a motion to name him by acclamation carried unanimously. Fred Culver being appointed to wait on Mr. Bull and notify him of the nomination, returned with the nominee.

Mr. Bull thanked the convention for the honor extended him so unanimously and said, had the convention not been composed chiefly of lawyers and had the nomination come simply from the party, he might have hesitated to enter the fight. Under the circumstances, however, he considered that the endorsement by so many of the bar had more than a political significance.

With a dignity that would be the fortune of some judges, Mr. Bull stroked his pepperian whiskers and expressed the opinion that judges should be chosen in a better way than by political parties in political conventions for political purposes, but, since the Republicans have continued that practice, and the Democrats are likely to do so, he thought it was the best that could be done under the circumstances.

"If, at any time," continued Mr. Bull, "Judge Lewis and the Democratic nominee will withdraw from their respective tickets and leave the selection of the candidate to the bar of this judicial district, I will agree to do the same."

"I have carefully analyzed all opposition to me and am self-conscious that in thirty years at the bar, I have made a record of which I am not ashamed and that I have sources of strength and support outside my party. I know of no grounds of opposition of a personal nature that stand in the way of my nomination and canvass and with one exception, I have had connection with no case in which I was interested outside of the professional fees due me."

Mr. Bull then mentioned and briefly explained some accusations made against him by people having a personal grudge. He gave the names of some eminent statesmen and jurists all over the country and asked that they be questioned as to his standing if anyone was not satisfied.

S. L. Smith arose and spoke most feelingly and in a complimentary manner of what he knew of Mr. Bull as a lawyer and a man during an intimate acquaintance of twenty years. Judge McGindley and others spoke in the same strain.

The chairman was authorized to appoint a judicial committee of five members, after which the convention adjourned.

Receiver Silvey's Report of the Condition of the Spalding Hotel.

W. B. Silvey, receiver of the E. P. Emerson estate, has filed a statement of the estate for Aug. The profits of the hotel for the month were $4,553. From Sept. 9, 1893, to Aug. 3, 1894, the hotel took in $83,102. The assets at present are $45,793 and the liabilities $40,736.

The assignee of the Iron Range Brewing company, of Tower, at Saturday's special term reported the sale of the brewery to S. Levin, of Duluth, for $2,000. It was sold some time ago to Frank Pabst, of Superior, but some of the creditors objected to the price paid and a new sale was ordered.

A demurrer has been filed in the case of F. W. Parsons as administrator of the estate of B. G. Yocom against Paul Shavry et al on the ground of a defect in the parties plaintiffs.

A motion for a new trial has been filed by the defendants in the case of W. E. Iselin et al against Sigmund Simons et al on the ground that the decision was contrary to law in that in the findings the court said that the case was begun before any cause of action had been obtained.

SEVERAL ALARMS YESTERDAY.

McGowan Building on Superior Street on Fire Last Evening.

The McGowan block, on Superior street between Lake and First avenue west, caught fire last evening about 8 o'clock and brought out the whole fire department. The fire looked nasty for a time, for although no blaze could be seen, the smoke was quite thick. It was finally extinguished. The damage was about $250. The lower floor is unoccupied and the upper floors are tenanted by roomers.

The department was given a run to Seventh avenue west and Railroad street about 4:30 o'clock because of a little blaze near the Omaha trestle. It amounted to nothing.

An engine and hose wagon were sent up to Duluth Heights about 7 p. m., but the brush fires were getting too close for comfort.

ABSOLUTELY REFUSES.

Democracy Must Select Some One Other Than Charles Little for Representative.

Charles Little, the West Duluth lumberman, who was nominated for state representative by the Democratic convention, declines to accept the proffered honor and absolutely refuses to become a candidate. In conversation with The Herald reporter yesterday he said:

"I wish you would make the announcement that it is utterly impossible for me to accept such a nomination. Some of my friends came to me and requested the use of my name in this connection but I told them that I could not entertain such an idea for a moment. In the first place I never had any political aspirations and secondly, had I the inclination to enter politics my business would not permit me to spare the necessary time. I fully appreciate the fact that such an office should seek the man and that business acumen and honest intentions should be the basis upon which a choice is made but that my business will not permit me to serve the people in such a capacity is beyond the possibility of a doubt."

Mr. Little is well known and highly respected and would make a popular candidate for the Democracy if he could be persuaded to make the race.

RECEIPTS ARE LIGHT.

Wheat Not Coming in at a Very Rapid Rate Just Now.

The wheat receipts continue light, Sunday's being 200 cars against 280 for the same date last year, and the liners are taking care of nearly all that comes in. So the situation as far as it concerns the carrying of wheat is not very good just at present, and if receipts do not take a jump it may result in laying up a few boats.

The Great Northern is not sending much wheat over the St. Paul & Duluth, so the most of it goes to Minneapolis. It will probably be at least a week before the Kettle river bridge is completed, and in the meantime the wheat situation on the lakes will be nearly nil so far as Duluth is concerned. Other rates are good, however. Ore is strong at 80 cents and the coal rate of 50 cents may be considered as practically established.

The lumber rate of $1.75 to Buffalo is also nearly solid enough to be considered permanent. The rate to Chicago was quoted by one firm of vessel brokers this morning at $1.87½, but a prominent broker of another line said that he had refused that rate and had got $2 for a cargo.

OLD STORY RETOLD.

Three Young Women Blew Out the Gas and Narrowly Escaped Death.

Three young women at the Esmond hotel came near bidding this world an unexpected farewell via the gas route last night. Agnes Cole, Tillie Bolen and Lena Anderson returned about 12 o'clock last evening and blew out the gas. This morning the clerk detected the smell of gas, and quickly found out where it came from. An entrance was forced, and the three girls were found unconscious and apparently lifeless. Dr. Bakke was quickly summoned, restoratives and artificial respiration were applied, and the three were brought to. Today they are recovering, but are pretty sick.

Football Meeting. There will probably be a representative gathering of football men this evening in the Correy building, a meeting having been called to discuss plans for the coming season. It is expected that all those interested in the game will be present and take a hand in the discussion looking to the organization of a team which shall fittingly represent Duluth in any of the contests planned for this fall. The officers of the Duluth Athletic club are invited to be present, and some plan will be adopted making it possible for the team to play under club auspices. Carl M. Johanson, the Cornell russer, will probably be selected captain.

Is With Four Roads. Since the appointment of William Orr as general passenger and freight agent of the Duluth & Winnipeg road it has been announced by some papers that he is to leave the South Shore road. This is incorrect. He is now connected with four roads being general freight agent of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, Mineral Range and Hancock & Calumet roads and general freight and passenger agent of the Duluth & Winnipeg.

Hundreds of Chinese Soldiers in Corea Said to be Starving From Lack of Supplies.

Great Naval Battle Between the Opposing Forces is Looked For in the Near Future.

Japanese Blockade of the Korean Coast is Strict and Very Effective at Every Port.

Winter is Coming on and the Chinese May be Forced to Evacuate Korean Territory.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—A dispatch from Wei-Hai-Wei today says that a commission composed of foreigners, after examining the incidents of the naval fight of July 26, declares that the Japanese were the aggressors. The Chinese, the commission adds, were careful to avoid the appearance of provocation, but the Japanese waylaid the Chinese, selecting a good position. The Chinese senior ship escaped, making a running fight while greatly damaging her pursuer. The second Chinese ship fought until her ammunition was exhausted and two of her guns were destroyed. The same morning it appears, the Japanese arrived from Seoul and attacked the Chinese at Asan. These operations were evidently well conceived. The Chinese fleet is now collected at Wei Hai Wei and is in perfect fighting order. The Chin Yuen has been repaired and is recruiting seamen freely. Both the Chinese and Japanese armies in Corea are seemingly inactive. The Japanese have ordered the Koreans to cut their hair as a token of submission. The Koreans refuse to do so, preferring to fight for their liberty.

The Japanese are said to be maintaining such a strict blockade of the Korean coast that not even the smallest vessel can get through. Hundreds of Chinese soldiers are reported to have died of want and exposure, and much sickness is said to exist in their ranks. On the other hand the Japanese are said to be much better prepared for active operations. They have succeeded in keeping their lines of communication open and have pushed their forces forward until they are now threatening the Chinese flank. The position of the latter, with winter rapidly advancing, threatens to become untenable. Regarding the naval operations of the Chinese, the Shanghai dispatch says that orders were sent from Peking over two weeks ago for all the Chinese squadrons to concentrate in the Gulf of Pechili, but it appears that the Japanese were never carried out and it is now announced that the Chinese naval plans have again been modified, pre-emptory orders having been sent for the most powerful vessels of the Southern squadron to join Admiral Ting's fleet in the North Sea without delay. When the reinforcements arrive, it is also asserted, the Chinese fleet will commence operations in real earnest against the Japanese. No confidence, however, is felt in Admiral Ting's ability to hold even the Gulf of Pechili against the Japanese fleet and consequently many of the Chinese firms are being transferred to the British flag.

Condition of Iowa Crops. DES MOINES, Sept. 11.—The drought has been effectively broken in all parts of the state, with the exception of the northwestern counties. Pastures and meadows have been greatly improved, and a fair crop of late potatoes is assured, with the exception from killing frosts the balance of this month. The average condition of corn is 36 per cent. This indicates an average yield of 11.33 bushels per acre. The present acreage yield is 6,738,000 acres, and if this estimate is borne out by final returns, the aggregate for the state will be about 80,000,000 bushels. In the southern and central districts a large portion of the crop has been cut, and that is almost beyond the danger from frost. In the northern districts cutting is rapidly going on, but a portion of the crop is still immature, and would be materially damaged by a killing frost. The amount of corn that will this year be put into farmers' cribs will be very light—probably less than 40,000,000 bushels. But under the stress of necessity, the larger part of the fodder will be utilized, and this, added to grain, will give in feeding value to the corn yield of about 60 per cent of an average if it is cut and cured in good condition. Other crops are rated as follows: Flax, 65; potatoes, 35; pastures, 33; apples, 60; grapes, 55 per cent.

Canadian Lumber is Free. WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Secretary Carlisle decided today in a letter addressed to the collector of customs at New York that the "reciprocity" treaty condition attached by the new tariff bill to the provision for the free admission of lumber, did not apply to the Dominion of Canada. The letter says: Referring to paragraph 583 of the act of Aug. 28, 1894, which provides that when articles of wood mentioned in the free list of said act or imported from any country which lays an export duty or imposes discriminating stumpage duties on any of them, they shall be subject to the duties existing prior to the passage of said act, I have to inform you that this department is officially advised that there are no export duties on articles in question when brought from Canada, and that no discriminating stumpage duties are imposed by the Dominion government. Such importations will therefore be entitled to free entry.

A Big Ratification Meeting to be Held at St. Cloud This Evening—Prominent Speakers.

ST. CLOUD, Sept. 11.—A St. Cloud special to the Dispatch says: The Sixth district Democratic congressional convention was called to order at 10:45 this morning. Nearly all the delegates were present. Chairman T. T. Hudson, of St. Louis county, called the convention to order, making a short speech congratulating the delegates that they represented a Democratic district.

D. T. Calhoun of St. Cloud was elected temporary chairman. He said that Grover Cleveland and the representatives represented the principles of Democracy and roared the traitors in the senate. Editor Haines, of the Little Falls Herald, was elected temporary secretary after several delegates had declined.

Keynote State Democrats. HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 11.—The Democratic state convention met again here today to fill the vacancies on the state ticket caused by the death of Hannibal K. Sloan, of Indiana county, and the withdrawal of ex-Judge Bucher, of Union, the nominees for congressmen. Large Thomas Collins of Bellefonte, and Henry Meyers, of Allegheny, were unanimously chosen to fill the vacancies. Resolutions endorsing President Cleveland, Governor Pattison and reaffirming the platform and principles of the Democratic party were adopted and the convention adjourned.

Noted Railway Crook Arrested. ST. PAUL, Sept. 11.—A St. Cloud special to the Dispatch says: Chief of Police Quigley, of East Grand Forks, Minn., brought to this city a man who sails under the name of "Deady" Tretson and lodged him in jail on the charge of robbery on trains. Tretson is the most persistent short change man, sneak thief and all round crook known to the officers of the state. He operates principally on railway trains using the verbiage of his prey.

Killed by an N. P. Train. MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 11.—Eddie Moffit, a 16-year-old boy living at 1601 Seventh street southeast, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock by being struck by the Northern Pacific overland train near the junction of the Great Northern freight and short line tracks in Southeast Minneapolis.

Casey Will Recover. ST. PAUL, Sept. 11.—Patrick Casey, who was considerably cut up in a four handed row with his companions the night before last in a box car at the Omaha yards, will recover. Mr. Casey's assistants were brought into court yesterday morning and charged with assault in the first degree, but the hearing was postponed one week in order to await the result of Casey's injuries.

Early Iowa Frost. MAKSHALLTOWN, Iowa, Sept. 11.—The first frost of the season fell in this section last night, but was not severe enough to cause material damage.

Re-Union of Minnesota Veterans. ST. PAUL, Sept. 11.—The Second Minnesota veterans held their re-union in this city today.

TREASURY PEOPLE HERE. They Are Investigating the Smuggling of Opium and Other Matters. C. S. Hamlin, assistant secretary of the treasury, and J. W. McGrath, his private secretary, are in the city today, accompanied by Special Agent E. P. Johnson and H. H. Moore, B. B. Smalley, collector at Burlington, Vt., and J. R. Tracy, Chinese inspector.

Mr. Hamlin is on his way back from an inspecting tour of the seal islands and Pacific coast ports, and is concluding work by making a personal inspection of the principal ports along the northern boundary of the country, with a special view to learning all that he can about the smuggling of opium and Chinese over that border. He was in St. Paul yesterday, and is in Duluth today. Wednesday he will be in Sault Ste. Marie and Friday will reach Montreal.

Upon Mr. Hamlin's report on the seal fisheries will probably depend very largely the course to be pursued by the government in the future in the way of limiting the number of seals to be killed annually on the islands.

Some important recommendations will also probably be made on the Chinese and opium questions. The department officials are anxious to see what the new tariff law will work in regard to opium. Under the McKinley law, with the duty at $12 per pound, they claim practically all the drugs brought into the United States was smuggled and now that the duty has been decreased to $6 per pound the treasury officials are anxious to see whether there will be any decrease in the smuggling.

The other officials will probably remain in Duluth for several days.

Pugilist Jackson Will Not Sign. CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—The efforts of the Sioux City Athletic club to bring off a fight between Corbett and Jackson resulted today in complete failure, Jackson absolutely refusing to put his name to the articles of agreement as signed by Corbett.

Pennsylvania Colliery Explosion. ASHLAND, Pa., Sept. 11.—An explosion of gas has just occurred at Central colliery near here. Several workmen are entombed. Three have already been taken out badly burned, one of whom has since died.

A Big Ratification Meeting to be Held at St. Cloud This Evening—Prominent Speakers.

ST. CLOUD, Sept. 11.—A St. Cloud special to the Dispatch says: The Sixth district Democratic congressional convention was called to order at 10:45 this morning. Nearly all the delegates were present. Chairman T. T. Hudson, of St. Louis county, called the convention to order, making a short speech congratulating the delegates that they represented a Democratic district.

D. T. Calhoun of St. Cloud was elected temporary chairman. He said that Grover Cleveland and the representatives represented the principles of Democracy and roared the traitors in the senate. Editor Haines, of the Little Falls Herald, was elected temporary secretary after several delegates had declined.

Keynote State Democrats. HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 11.—The Democratic state convention met again here today to fill the vacancies on the state ticket caused by the death of Hannibal K. Sloan, of Indiana county, and the withdrawal of ex-Judge Bucher, of Union, the nominees for congressmen. Large Thomas Collins of Bellefonte, and Henry Meyers, of Allegheny, were unanimously chosen to fill the vacancies. Resolutions endorsing President Cleveland, Governor Pattison and reaffirming the platform and principles of the Democratic party were adopted and the convention adjourned.

Noted Railway Crook Arrested. ST. PAUL, Sept. 11.—A St. Cloud special to the Dispatch says: Chief of Police Quigley, of East Grand Forks, Minn., brought to this city a man who sails under the name of "Deady" Tretson and lodged him in jail on the charge of robbery on trains. Tretson is the most persistent short change man, sneak thief and all round crook known to the officers of the state. He operates principally on railway trains using the verbiage of his prey.

Killed by an N. P. Train. MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 11.—Eddie Moffit, a 16-year-old boy living at 1601 Seventh street southeast, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock by being struck by the Northern Pacific overland train near the junction of the Great Northern freight and short line tracks in Southeast Minneapolis.

Casey Will Recover. ST. PAUL, Sept. 11.—Patrick Casey, who was considerably cut up in a four handed row with his companions the night before last in a box car at the Omaha yards, will recover. Mr. Casey's assistants were brought into court yesterday morning and charged with assault in the first degree, but the hearing was postponed one week in order to await the result of Casey's injuries.

Early Iowa Frost. MAKSHALLTOWN, Iowa, Sept. 11.—The first frost of the season fell in this section last night, but was not severe enough to cause material damage.

Re-Union of Minnesota Veterans. ST. PAUL, Sept. 11.—The Second Minnesota veterans held their re-union in this city today.

TREASURY PEOPLE HERE. They Are Investigating the Smuggling of Opium and Other Matters. C. S. Hamlin, assistant secretary of the treasury, and J. W. McGrath, his private secretary, are in the city today, accompanied by Special Agent E. P. Johnson and H. H. Moore, B. B. Smalley, collector at Burlington, Vt., and J. R. Tracy, Chinese inspector.

Mr. Hamlin is on his way back from an inspecting tour of the seal islands and Pacific coast ports, and is concluding work by making a personal inspection of the principal ports along the northern boundary of the country, with a special view to learning all that he can about the smuggling of opium and Chinese over that border. He was in St. Paul yesterday, and is in Duluth today. Wednesday he will be in Sault Ste. Marie and Friday will reach Montreal.

Upon Mr. Hamlin's report on the seal fisheries will probably depend very largely the course to be pursued by the government in the future in the way of limiting the number of seals to be killed annually on the islands.

Some important recommendations will also probably be made on the Chinese and opium questions. The department officials are anxious to see what the new tariff law will work in regard to opium. Under the McKinley law, with the duty at $12 per pound, they claim practically all the drugs brought into the United States was smuggled and now that the duty has been decreased to $6 per pound the treasury officials are anxious to see whether there will be any decrease in the smuggling.

The other officials will probably remain in Duluth for several days.

Pugilist Jackson Will Not Sign. CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—The efforts of the Sioux City Athletic club to bring off a fight between Corbett and Jackson resulted today in complete failure, Jackson absolutely refusing to put his name to the articles of agreement as signed by Corbett.

Pennsylvania Colliery Explosion. ASHLAND, Pa., Sept. 11.—An explosion of gas has just occurred at Central colliery near here. Several workmen are entombed. Three have already been taken out badly burned, one of whom has since died.

BALDWIN AGAIN

St. Louis County's Candidate Was Nominated by Acclamation at St. Cloud Early This Afternoon.

No Other Name Was Suggested and Convention Adjourned Almost Immediately After the Nomination.

The Adopted Platform Denounces the A. P. A. and Upholds President Cleveland's Official Course Throughout.

St. Paul, Sept. 11.—The decision of the state railroad and warehouse commission in the Steenerson grains rate case was followed today by another important ruling in the case of the city of Moorhead against the Northern Pacific and Great Northern Railroad companies, reducing the rate per ton on hard and soft coal, over the former line, from Duluth to Moorhead, from $3 to $2.25. The commission finds that the Northern Pacific rate of $3 a ton is unreasonable, considering the distance on that line between Duluth and Moorhead. No change is directed in the wood rate. The petition against the Great Northern Railway company is dismissed.

Steam Navigators in Session. CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Over 100 delegates are attending the annual meeting here of the national board of steam navigators, which lasts three days. The lakes are more largely represented than the rivers, but the latter will be fully represented tonight. The annual reports of the president, secretary and treasurer were presented, showing the organization in fine condition, with a balance of $20,000 on hand. The report of the committee on legislation relative to the recently passed river and harbor bill was discussed and will be under consideration tomorrow. Some radical action is contemplated at the meeting.

A Drunken Red Soldier. ST. PAUL, Sept. 11.—Mounted Officer James Finn got mixed up with a drunken Indian soldier just this side of the Fort Snelling bridge yesterday. The officer snatched the Indian soldier to behave himself, whereat the noble red man took three shots at Finn with his Winchester. Finn retorted with his revolver. Neither man was injured. Thereupon the son of the forest staggered across the bridge to the fort. On the way he passed a white soldier, whom in the confused condition of his optics, he mistook for a policeman. Accordingly he let speed a bullet after him. But the fireman within Mr. Indian had destroyed his aim. When he arrived at the post he was thrown into the guard house.

THEIR LAST PARADE

Forty Thousand Veterans Marched Through Pittsburgh and Allegheny Streets Shortly Before Noon Today.

Marching Order of the Various State Departments, Minnesota Being the Twenty-fourth in the Line.

Probably the Last Parade of the Grand Army Men in Any of the National Encampments.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 11.—Forty thousand men, who fought to save the union, marched through the cities of Pittsburgh and Allegheny today. The old familiar war tunes to which they and their comrades rushed to victory or to death filled the air, and echoed back from the surrounding hills. The music made their hearts beat as in the stirring times of thirty years ago, and brought the flush of patriotism and courage to their cheeks. But while they stepped out boldly and bravely, they could not straighten their bent forms nor conceal their gray hairs and furrowed cheeks. They carried no heavy rifle with its glittering bayonet, but aided their aged limbs with walking canes, while here and there in the line blue came a comrade on crutches. They marched no more beneath the yawning muzzles of frowning cannon, but past battery after battery of bright eyes, while the fair enemy waved white handkerchiefs and applauded with shrill, sweet voices. On every street corner and vacant lot rose tier after tier of human faces, and as the veterans passed cheer after cheer greeted them. Every window along the route, the fire escapes and roof-tops were crowded, while the sidewalks were packed solidly from the building line to the wire ropes stretched along the curb to prevent interference with the free movement of the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic.

At 10:30 the parade started from the historic Monongahela house on the banks of the river from which it takes its name. First came Company A, Second battalion naval reserves, N.G.P., guards of honor to Commander-in-Chief Adams. Then followed the departments of the G.A.R. in the following order: Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Maine, California, Rhode Island and New Hampshire; Vermont, Potomac, Virginia and North Carolina; Maryland, Nebraska, Michigan, Iowa, Colorado and Wyoming; Kansas, Delaware, Minnesota, Missouri, Oregon, Kentucky, West Virginia, South Dakota, Washington and Alaska; Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi; Florida, Montana, Texas, Idaho, Utah, Georgia, Alabama, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Indian Territory, Indiana and Pennsylvania.

The decorations of the two cities were most lavish. It was stated by men who attended many previous encampments, that while individual displays may have been excellent in other cities, they had never seen decorations on such a general and general scale. Hardly a dwelling, no matter how poor, nor how far from the route of the parade, but a least had a flag, and usually a display of bunting as well, while the business houses in every part of the cities made gorgeous showings. This was probably the last time the veterans will turn out in such force, as it is seriously contemplated by the G. A. R. officials that in view of the advancing age and infirmities of the members, to abandon this most attractive feature of the national encampment. Therefore they proposed to make the last parade a success, and tramped over the 2 miles of route with the same determination that characterized them when they marched against the Southern armies.

Governor Pattison, of Pennsylvania, with his staff and a number of notable men and women from all parts of the country, occupied the reviewing stand in the Allegheny park, and saluted each division as it swung around and passed in review. The arrangements for the comfort of the marchers were excellent. At short distances apart along the line were stationed emergency hospitals, with the red cross fluttering before the door, while all along the route were men

THE GROUND IS BURNING.
SHERIDAN, Mich., Sept. 11.—[Special to The Herald.]—Farmers in the Carp River valley are losing both their crops and the soil. The ground is mostly of peat and is so dry it burns readily. The only method of stopping the flames is to dig trenches all around and under the peat. Homesteaders and lumbermen north of the city report a great destruction of timber and improvements, and many escaped with their lives with difficulty. The fires were worse yesterday and today than for a week past.

WAITER JONES' ESCAPE.
He Abducts a Pretty Heiress and Has Two Wives Already.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—William H. Jones, a waiter in under arrest here charged with abducting pretty Angeline Mason, sole heiress to the Sunnyside estate, which includes the North Side resort known as Sunnyside. Jones was employed at the Sunnyside hotel and last August disappeared with the heiress. The pair was located in Montreal and later the girl and Jones, who had been married, returned to Chicago and Jones has two wives living in this city.

Tillman's Tiptoe Troubles.
BALTIMORE, Sept. 11.—Governor Tillman's dispatch riders were yesterday attacked by the enraged citizens of Baltimore, resulting in the death and wounding of a number of the constables. The governor declared he would punish to the fullest extent of the law his rebellious people, against ordered several companies of militia to proceed to the scene of the uprising and the gubernatorial authority. The Washington Light Infantry, of Charleston, flatly refused to obey the order. The governor then appealed to the order commanding the company to surrender its arms and accoutrements to the inspector general. The order was also disobeyed and an appeal to the courts was made for an injunction to prevent the governor or any state officers from taking possession of the arms.

Lumber Vessel's Aground.
SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Sept. 11.—[Special to The Herald.]—The steamer Hebard and consorts, lumber laden, are aground at Inouette point. The Merrick and Breakaway released the schooners. The Hebard will have to lighter a part of her cargo. The lighter Clinton has gone to her assistance.

It Is Peaceful Today.
NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—A special from Reno says that the city of Reno, Nevada, is peaceful. The city is still a few miles from the state line, but the state is rapidly becoming quiet and orderly.

Dynamite Guns Succeedful.
SANDY HOOK, N. J., Sept. 11.—The final test of the new dynamite guns was made yesterday afternoon. All the loaded shells struck and exploded in the places designated. It is thought the report will be favorable.

THE GROUND IS BURNING.
SHERIDAN, Mich., Sept. 11.—[Special to The Herald.]—Farmers in the Carp River valley are losing both their crops and the soil. The ground is mostly of peat and is so dry it burns readily. The only method of stopping the flames is to dig trenches all around and under the peat. Homesteaders and lumbermen north of the city report a great destruction of timber and improvements, and many escaped with their lives with difficulty. The fires were worse yesterday and today than for a week past.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—William H. Jones, a waiter in under arrest here charged with abducting pretty Angeline Mason, sole heiress to the Sunnyside estate, which includes the North Side resort known as Sunnyside. Jones was employed at the Sunnyside hotel and last August disappeared with the heiress. The pair was located in Montreal and later the girl and Jones, who had been married, returned to Chicago and Jones has two wives living in this city.

Tillman's Tiptoe Troubles.
BALTIMORE, Sept. 11.—Governor Tillman's dispatch riders were yesterday attacked by the enraged citizens of Baltimore, resulting in the death and wounding of a number of the constables. The governor declared he would punish to the fullest extent of the law his rebellious people, against ordered several companies of militia to proceed to the scene of the uprising and the gubernatorial authority. The Washington Light Infantry, of Charleston, flatly refused to obey the order. The governor then appealed to the order commanding the company to surrender its arms and accoutrements to the inspector general. The order was also disobeyed and an appeal to the courts was made for an injunction to prevent the governor or any state officers from taking possession of the arms.

LAND UNDER WATER.

Steps Being Taken by the National Government to Add Much Land to the Public Domain.

Small Lakes in Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Dakota to be Drained and Rendered Tillable.

A Relinquishment of Riparian Rights is Necessary by Owners Before the Attempt is Made.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—[Special to The Herald.]—Within the past few months almost innumerable inquiries have been received by members and senators representing the states of Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Dakotas concerning the methods to be adopted to secure title to the land underlying the many small lakes which are found in all sections of these states. When the lands of the Northwest were originally surveyed these small lakes were considered and segregated from the public domain and the lands surrounding them were disposed of under the various laws affecting the disposition of the public lands. Now that the greater portion of the territory formerly known as Uncle Sam's farm has been divided between his nephews it has been discovered that at a very little expense many of these small sloughs, or lakes as they are called, can be drained and the land rendered tillable. The land is generally more fertile than the lands in the Dakotas, and the Iowa and Minnesota senators particularly have been requested by their constituents to secure title to these bodies of water can be secured. A very long letter was written to Senator Allison, recently returned from the east, concerning a certain body of water known as Rush lake in Northern Iowa which will answer all similar inquiries. Rush lake, it appears, but a few feet above the level of the surrounding land of water at the best of times, and frequently is nothing more than its name would indicate, a vast field of rushes.

It is found that for $200 or $300 dollars these tracts could be drained and that some 500 or 600 acres of valuable land would be added to the drainage, but as soon as the lake has been drained it ceases to be the property of the United States, and all right which may accrue through the drainage of the water is demanded to the benefit of the owners of the riparian privileges, so that there is absolutely no way in which the land office can dispose of the innumerable lakes in the states named, and for that matter in the other states which were once embraced within the public domain and are now in private hands.

COUNTER AFFIDAVITS

Detectives Hayden and Benson File Their Denials to the Charges of Extortion and Corruption.

They Claim to Have Effected a Settlement For $125. All They Received From Belle Stanley.

Belle Stanley and Others Swear That Sum is All That Was Paid Two Detectives.

Yesterday the affidavits of Detectives Hayden and Benson were filed in reply to those filed last Saturday in the Stanley-Rivers case, in which the detectives were charged with obtaining a release of all claims for damages by duress and extortion.

Thomas Hayden, in his affidavit, says that he investigated the case and was told by Belle Stanley that in order to avoid notoriety, she wished to settle the case. Jerush Rivers also said that she was willing to have the matter patched up without a trial. Then, in the presence of Robert Benson, the settlement was effected, and for $125 Jerush Rivers agreed to drop the charge suit. He also says that he received no money from Belle Stanley for making this settlement.

Detective Benson's affidavit is corroborative of this. He further deposes that Rivers' attorney, O. W. Baldwin, asked him to sign a counter affidavit, which he refused to do. He also says that he was refused to do this and said that he would investigate the matter as a police officer.

Belle Stanley's affidavit says that she paid Hayden $125 for the settlement. Miss Palmer swears that she was present when the $125 was paid by Belle Stanley to Hayden. Judge Moer has the matter under advisement.

There is one other matter which the affidavits of both officers leaves unexplained. The release signed by Jerush Rivers before a notary public and presented to the court at the hearing last Saturday, acknowledges the receipt of $500 for the settlement. The officers claim that they paid Rivers but $125.

Detective Hayden was asked as to this today and said it was overlooked in the affidavits and he will make another covering that point at the hearing next Saturday, acknowledging the receipt of $500 for the settlement. The officers claim that they paid Rivers but $125.

AMUSEMENTS.

"A Pair of Kids."

Ezra Kendall and his comedy "A Pair of Kids" have been responsible for as much fun and laughter as any entertainment ever given. Nearly every theater-goer in the United States has roared over the adventures of the old "boy" Jiles Butten. Both star and play are known from one end of the land to the other and have convulsed theatergoers everywhere, in fact "A Pair of Kids" bears the palm as a laughter compelling performance, and is in reality so funny that a description of it fails to do it justice. It is full of songs, dances and novelties. Mr. Kendall and his company will be seen in this play at the Lyceum theater next Saturday night, and it is needless to say that the occasion will furnish more genuine fun and laughter than the average comedy attraction could furnish in a week.

A Household Treasure.

D. W. Fuller, of Cambridge, N. Y., says that he always knew Dr. King's New Discovery in the house and his family has always found the very best results follow its use; that he would not be without it if he were a king. He says that he has used it in his family for eight years, and it has cured him of all that is claimed for it. Why not try a remedy so long tried and tested? Get a bottle from a local drug store. Regular size 50c and $1.00.

While in Chicago, Charles L. Kahler, a prominent shoe merchant, of Des Moines, Iowa, had caught a serious case of it. He took such a severe cold that he could hardly talk or negotiate, but the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured him of his cold so quickly that others at the hotel who had colds followed his example and half a dozen persons were cured in that near-east drug store. They were profuse in their thanks to Mr. Kahler for telling them how to cure a bad cold so quickly. For sale by all druggists.

STATE FAIR A BIG SUCCESS.

Some of the Many Attractions Which Remain to Be Seen There.

The state fair, on the grounds of the State Agricultural society, midway between St. Paul and Minneapolis, opened on Monday and there is a universal expression of opinion that the exhibition is the best ever given under the auspices of the State Agricultural society. The detailed program appears in our advertisement column today. Two of the best days of the fair still remain. The program on Thursday includes the racing race for 2-year-olds for the stake of the Minnesota Horse Breeders' association, racing in the 2:17 class and a trotting race for horses in the 2:35 class. There is a good list of entries in all three of these races. Besides this there will occur the exciting double balloon ascension and an exhibition of Jeakle's pony hippodrome. One of the most unique programs has been arranged for Friday by the Press club of St. Paul and Minneapolis, who have been able to command attractions which the fair management probably could not hire for any money. This includes an exhibition of arms by eight companies of the Minnesota National Guards and a sham battle, a parade of 300 uniformed bicyclists and two bicycle races to be participated in by two teams of amateur riders in the state, a race between the mounted police in St. Paul and Minneapolis, an exhibition drill in the manual of arms by the Sons of Veterans, a parade of the mounted police in St. Paul and Minneapolis, an exhibition drill in the manual of arms by the Sons of Veterans, a parade of the mounted police in St. Paul and Minneapolis, an exhibition drill in the manual of arms by the Sons of Veterans.

The fair is particularly strong in its stock and machinery department, and the dairy exhibit is also an excellent one. The railroads are carrying passengers at half rates, or one fare for the round trip, during all of the week. It is a long time since an opportunity of this kind has been afforded to visit the Twin Cities, and many of our citizens will undoubtedly take advantage of the opportunity to enjoy a little recreation and to see some of the many attractions of what is said to be the best fair ever seen in the state of Minnesota.

SHOWS A BIG INCREASE.

Fifty Per Cent More Cars Hauled in August, 1894, than in 1893.

August was a big month among the railroads at Duluth. The total number of cars hauled was 18,123 against 11,340 last year. The percentage of demurrage was only 1.13. The traffic by roads, as follows: St. Paul & Duluth, 3415 cars; Omaha road, 2442; Eastern Minnesota, 5995; Northern Pacific, 5558; Iron Range road, 351; South Shore & Atlantic, 300; Lake Superior Terminal & Transfer railway, 62.

Of the cars hauled, 7300 carried coal or coke, 4673 wheat, 354 hay, 1023 lumber and forest products, 354 hay and straw and 351 iron and machinery. Temporary increase in the number of cars hauled in the fact that while 177 cars were handled in 1893, the number decreased this year to 90.

Had it not been for a superabundance of oratory last evening from Aldermen Cox and Harwood, the council meeting would have been confined to an hour's time. As it was, an hour and a half was consumed. Two of the city fathers, Aldermen Patterson and French were absent. City Clerk Richardson was at his post after a week's vacation and at the opening of the session, everything seemed likely to run on an even keel.

IS LIFE WORTH LIVING?

Solomon Once Said It Was Not, But Afterward Changed His Mind—Cheer for the Despondent.

The Rev. Dr. Talmage, who is now touring in Australia, considered this question of despondent hopelessness, to make it the subject of a recent sermon. Happiness is not a question of bank account or material prosperity, but rather of health, and this can only be enjoyed where the digestive organs are performing their proper functions.

Where the question addressed to a chronic dyspeptic, a negative answer would probably be returned.

Dr. J. Miller Fothergill, of London, whose name is a household word in England, said of this dread prevalent disease, "Most distressing than any other pain is the sense of misery experienced by many, the mental discomfort, the sense of wretchedness, of utter unfitness for work, the mental attitude of gloom, distress and incapacity, the physical discomfort, tends to cause the sufferer to have misgivings that the malady is something more than mere indigestion. A haunting fear that the brain is the seat of the disease, where there is headache, nervousness, depression, and irregular action tortures the unhappy sufferer. The remembrance of this impression hangs like a dark cloud over the interval of comparative health. But only does the brain seem exhausted, but the whole system appears languid and weak, instead of the man being able for a twenty or thirty mile walk, or two miles produce fatigue, and sometimes an intense languor is felt without any exertion at all. When he goes to his medical attendant to describe his case, he says, 'I take all sorts of strengthening things, and yet I feel so weak.' If instead of using these words he were to say, 'because I take all sorts of things I feel so weak,' he would express a part at least of the truth.

And when the digestive organs are positive depressants. Strong food does not necessarily involve strength, rather the opposite when the digestion is impaired. A little well digested food, the blood, and from it again the tissues, better than a large meal of which none, or very little indeed, is properly digested. In this condition, more and more, the worse he thrives, because he digests little or none, and unless he is restricted to proper meals, he virtually eats himself to death, and he dies of starvation, in the midst of unlimited food and everlasting eating. To eat and digest, then, is not one and the same thing.

Dr. Fothergill speaks of artificially digested starch in the following unmistakable terms:

"As the cooking of starchy foods involves their partial digestion, we see that intuitively and without the light of science, the civilized man has learned the digestion of starch when only a savage and long before the dawn of history, we, at the present, are emerging out of the darkness of ignorance and superstition by morning light on the path to the artificial digestion of starch, by so doing, we are saving ourselves from the evils of actual starvation, in the midst of unlimited food and everlasting eating. To eat and digest, then, is not one and the same thing.

Clarence G. Nixon, of West Duluth, Can Only Put Fifteen Dollars in His Inside Pocket.

Jury Estimates His Damages for Arrest by Capt. Reeves as Worth Only That Sum.

Squabble Over the Ownership of a Piano—Banka Can Get Nothing for His Son's Injury.

The morning paper did considerably better for Clarence G. Nixon in his suit against Capt. G. H. Reeves than did the jury. The News Tribune was first in the field with a verdict of $1000 for Nixon, the full amount sued for. The jury followed several hours later giving him the modest amount of $15. The jury was out all night. The case is interesting aside from the amount of money involved, as it establishes a precedent in this city for cases of the kind.

The parties to the suit are members of G. company, West Duluth. One night when a special drill had been called Nixon was present for the purpose of cleaning his gun preparatory to the annual inspection, which was to take place the next day. He was ordered to fall in and drill, but as he had an engagement elsewhere he declined. For disobeying his superior's orders he was arrested and held for several hours. The captain claimed that the arrest was made in accordance with certain provisions of the company's constitution.

In his reply to this Nixon said that as he was in civilian's clothes he was not amenable to military rules, which is according to a clause in the bylaws of the company. Apparently the court agreed with this allegation, for last night the jury was directed to find for Nixon. This morning the jury brought in a verdict of $15.

Who Owns the Piano?

The case of G. T. Porter & Son against Jackson & Co., which is on trial before Judge Lewis today, gives a remarkable story of the peregrinations of a piano which reminds one of the old game of whist, button, who's got the button. Some time ago G. T. Porter & Son, who are Duluth music dealers, sold a piano to W. B. Mitchell, of Virginia. The instrument was duly sent away and was delivered on the sidewalk in front of Mr. Mitchell's place. Before Mr. Mitchell could bring it in, however, some unknown person or persons juggled it away.

The law was invoked and Deputy Sheriff Bates was put on the track of the piano. He found it in a barn belonging to W. L. Jackson & Co., over near the Franklin mine. The suit is to recover the piano. Jackson & Co. deny having seen the instrument or having anything to do with it.

In the case of Emil Stoltz against A. J. Harker et al the jury this morning returned a verdict of $45.27 for Stoltz. The jury in the case of A. E. McManus against Antoine LeDuc went out at 10 o'clock this morning and was still out at noon.

Dr. C. E. French was arraigned yesterday afternoon and pleaded not guilty to three charges of practicing without a license.

The case of Joseph Banka against the Omaha road came up for trial yesterday afternoon. Banka's 3-year-old son had a leg cut off by a train in Superior. Last term suit was brought, and the jury decided that the plaintiff was not entitled to recover for the injury. Another suit was brought in which Banka sued for the loss of his son's services. Judge Moore sustained an objection to the introduction of any evidence and the case was dismissed.

The ground was that as the jury had decided against the son's interest, which was primary, it would preclude any ground of action for the father, whose interest is merely collateral.

Populists Have No Thought of Endorsing Maj. Baldwin Tomorrow.

The great bulk of the delegates to the Populist congressional convention, which meets at St. Cloud tomorrow, left at 1:55 this afternoon for St. Paul. There they will take the Northern Pacific, reaching St. Cloud tonight at 10 o'clock. St. Louis county is entitled to twenty-seven delegates. The great majority of the delegates are enthusiastic for Capt. Smallwood's nomination. Three or four are red hot for Judge McGindley and one or two are inclined to favor a man from the western part of the district. The report that the Democrats will attempt to induce the Populists to endorse Baldwin is laughed at by all of this delegation. It is pretty safe to say that not a man on the St. Louis county delegation favors that and no Populists in the city have been heard to either mention or favor the scheme. It seems most certain that Duluth Populists will "keep in the middle of the road" on the matter of a congressional nominee. John J. Janssen heads the Duluth delegates, and Capt. Smallwood goes as a delegate.

TO BUILD HOMES.
John G. Howard went to Hinckley today with five carpenters.
John G. Howard left this morning for Hinckley with five carpenters where he goes, representing the state commission, to superintend the erection of houses and distribution of supplies. N. J. Miller will alternate with him in this work. The houses erected will be of a substantial and lasting character and according to designs adopted by the state commission. The total receipts of the relief fund amount to $12,888. Among today's contributions are: H. M. Peyton, $100; St. James church, West Duluth, $35; Swedish Lutheran church, 24 1/2; Swedish Lutheran Bethany church, $20; Johnson & Moe, 3 per cent of sales, amounting to $22.00 cash and $13.52 groceries. About thirty people were sent out today by the relief committee. One went to New Brunswick and one to Ontario. Secretary Hart of the state relief commission was in Duluth for a few moments last evening. He speaks highly of the generosity of the Pine City and Duluth people. The committee at the former place is closing up its work and will turn it over to the state commission. Mr. Hart says the state commission has sixty days work at the least.

Two Answers Filed.
Two answers have been filed in the damage case for $10,000 of James Mulvey vs. Paul Sharvy et al. One is by Thomas J. Hayden. It denies almost all the allegations except as to Mulvey's arrest, conviction and sentence and a few immaterial facts. The other is filed by Sarah Bliss. Her denials are about the same. She also denies ever having paid the police anything for not interfering with her business and with being a party to any conspiracy to convict Mulvey.

Killed the Horse.
Shortly after noon today while one of Simon Clark's delivery teams was coming down Vine street west the Fourth street west car going east collided with the team just as it was crossing the track. It struck one of the horses with great force and he died in a few minutes. There were two boys in the wagon and they escaped with slight injuries, one of them being thrown almost under the street car, but the motorist stopped the car in time.

COMTE'S BURIAL

Interment of the Comte de Paris at Weybridge Carried Out This Morning With Great Ceremony.

Notables From Royal Houses of Europe Gather at Stowe House to View the Remains.

Handsome Floral Mementoes Received From Baron Rothschild and Mrs. Gen. George B. McClellan.

Probability That the Body of the Comte May Eventually Be Permitted to Rest in France.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Crowds of people from daybreak this morning commenced wending their way to Stowe house, the English residence of the late comte de Paris, in order to make an attempt to view the casket containing the remains. The latter reposed in state in the handsome marble hall of the castle head of the royal house of Orleans and Bourbon and a large number of people passed silently and uncovered before the bier.

The arrangements for the funeral were completed, when shortly after sunrise, a hearse drawn by six superb Flemish horses arrived from London and was slowly driven to a secluded portion of the grounds. The notabilities who went to Stowe house this morning included official or unofficial representatives of nearly all the world, and gathered there, during the day, were princes and princesses representing nearly every reigning family in Europe. From London several handsome funeral trains arrived, solemnly draped, inside and out, darkly impressive. Winter came a detachment of troops to line the route from Stowe house, and at 5:15 a small army of sightseers had assembled in the neighborhood. These crowds were constantly augmented until 7 o'clock when the hearse and ten mourning coaches were drawn up in front of the right wing of the residence of the comte de Paris. An almost countless number of floral wreaths arrived at Stowe house. Among the number was a magnificent wreath, 8 feet in diameter and composed of lilacs, roses and orchids, attached to which was a tri-color bow, sent by Baron Alphonse de Rothschild. Another very handsome tribute of flowers was sent by Mrs. George B. McClellan, the widow of Gen. McClellan, upon whose staff the comte de Paris served for a time during the civil war in the United States.

The family of the comte de Paris assembled around the bier about 6:30 a. m., and at 7 a. m. the bell of the chapel was tolled, calling the relatives of the dead man to attend mass, which was celebrated by Father Cuffey, a personal friend of the deceased. At 7:45 a. m. the casket, covered with a pall of violet velvet, over which was the tri-color flag of France, was removed from the marble hall to the hearse. Then the princes, all in evening dress, took places according to their rank, behind the casket. The duke of Orleans, son of the dead man who acted as chief mourner. Behind the princes followed a mourning carriage containing the comte de Paris, the queen of Portugal (the eldest daughter), Princess Helen of Orleans, and the duchess de Montpensier. After this carriage followed others in which were other ladies of the royal family of France. Behind the vehicles were the carriages of many notable families of England and after them marched a procession of villagers and dependents. The funeral train, which was placed in the funeral train amid profound silence. The funeral train reached Weybridge at noon and the procession marched from the railway station to the old church where the remains of the duchess de Nemours, aunt of the comte de Paris are interred.

The body was met at the church by the bishop of South Work, in violet canonicals, attended by the minor clergy. The religious ceremonies were very solemn and impressive and, after they had been concluded, the casket was borne round to the rear of the building where it was deposited in a vault. It is still believed that, after a proper time has elapsed, the remains of the comte, by permission of the French government will be transferred to Dreux, where rest the bodies of Louis Philippe and his wife.

Panama Canal Work to Resume.
LONDON, Sept. 12.—The correspondent of the Standard at Paris says: The issue of the new Panama canal securities has been postponed from Sept. 18 to Sept. 22. The names of the president and directors of the new company are not published, but I am assured that they are men of the highest standing, whose presence on the board will inspire the confidence of the public. The engineer is a man of the highest standing in his profession and his capacity for good work is generally recognized. Thirty million francs will be expended to the first instance at the Culebra cutting. It is estimated that the present issue will suffice to carry on the works for eighteen months and perhaps longer. Several thousand workmen are already assembled at Panama awaiting the resumption of work on the canal.

Waller's Wounds Fatal.
CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Attorney Claude L. Waller who was shot by a bullet by Lawyer Leo Roeder, died at the Poly-clinic hospital today. Waller's friends insist that Roeder, who was intentionally during an altercation, while Roeder's friends deny it, claiming the shooting was purely accidental.

Old Body Servant Dead.
INDIANOLA, Miss., Sept. 12.—William Gault, the colored body servant of Gen. Albert Sidney Johnson in the Mexican and civil wars died here last night.

Chicago Blazes.
CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The Arch fair building, 435-438 Sixty-third street burned today. Loss $80,000. The incendiary losses are: Harvey & Smith, furniture; L. H. Fluke, dry goods; W. H. Brown, shoes; L. Forward, millinery and notions; L. Simpson, crockery; G. H. Cronenberger, carpets; Mrs. G. H. Cronenberger, owner of building.

AURORA, Ill., Sept. 12.—Lewis Start, of the Eight district Democrats for congress, killed yesterday afternoon by the caving in of a sand bank on Golf street.

His Jacket in Danger.
LI HUNG CHANG'S Vice Regal Power is Diminishing Every Day.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—A dispatch from Shanghai states that the power of Vice-roy Li Hung Chang has steadily decreased. His friends are doing their best for him at Peking but it is not likely that they will be able to avert his downfall. Every day's delay in providing the promised victory over the Japanese now is to Li Hung Chang's danger. The dispatch adds that the block in moving the Chinese troops into Corea continues. Everything has been thrown into confusion. The reinforcements from the more remote provinces en route to Tien Tsin are at a stand still, and are terrorizing the cities in which they are halted. The reinforcements are mostly untrained borderers who are not under the control of their nominal leaders. Almost a reign of terror prevails even in Tien Tsin. The savage military and malcontenting and the wretched populace and native merchants are fleeing to Tien Tsin in order to save their lives. Trade is at a complete stand still and misery is general.

Messenger Boys Know Debs.
CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The Western Union messenger boy had his inning at the Debs trial today. Several of the boys were called as witnesses and all of them testified that the attorneys in their attempts at confusion in cross-examination. James Connors was the first witness called. He testified that he had delivered messages to various A. R. U. officials, among them President Debs. He swore positively to having delivered at least three to Debs, personally, and identified the president's signature on the delivery sheets. Gus Wohlers, also a messenger, gave similar testimony and said he had given several telegrams into Debs' hands. Fred Miller, who was stationed at the Revere house, Debs' headquarters during the strike, declared that he had delivered telegrams to each of the defendants, and on cross-examination he pointed out the defendants in the court room.

Professional Thieves Run to Cover.
CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The police in the capture of the "Mother" Martin, who was recently having unearched one of the most thoroughly organized bands of robbers which ever infested the city. The gang, the police claim, was as thoroughly organized as a police force, covering the entire city by districts, and working in night and day "shifts." The ringleaders possessed a mysterious influence and frequently arrested, they were often released or dismissed with light fines. A part of the "force," it is claimed, consisted of boys and several of the youngsters are under arrest.

Illinois Republican Campaign.
ROBINSON, Ill., Sept. 12.—The Republican campaign in Illinois was formally opened here today with the big rally held under the auspices of the Republican state central committee. At the request of the Republicans of this county, John B. Cullum, assigned by the committee as the speaker of the day, and delivered his first political speech since his return from Washington. The Republicans from Southern Illinois are exceedingly enthusiastic, and they turned out in such large numbers to render the rally one of the most successful ever held in this section of the state.

Poisonous Corn Beef.
NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 12.—Edward Joseph and Frank, aged 9, 5 and 3 years respectively; Corneil, 3, domestic in the Sabier household; Hiram Penn, the washerwoman, and Hiram Crawford, 30 years of age, were today poisoned by eating corn beef. The Sabier family has been boarding with the Crawford family and they were given the corned beef for dinner Sunday. All these parties will die. The meat was purchased in the Washington market, New York city.

Railroad Sold.
SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 12.—The Middle Georgia & Atlantic railroad was sold at public auction today, under foreclosure, by the order of the Savings and Trust company, trustee under the mortgage executed to secure an indebtedness of about $100,000, lowered by a systematic composed mostly of stockholders of the property. The road was bought for the syndicate of Herman Meyers, who bid $105,000. The total issue of bonds is $792,000 and these with the stock of the road which was owned by the Seaboard company and all other assets were sold under the mortgage. For the present the road will be operated as heretofore.

A Welcome End.
CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The $10,000 check which Peter Jackson had posted with Will J. Davis for a fight with Corbett was taken down today. Jackson and his manager, Parson Davies, called on Manager Davis at the Columbia theater shortly before noon. Mr. Davis promptly produced the check, turned it over, and the last round in the windy battle had been finished.

Throttle Wins the St. Leger Stakes.
LONDON, Sept. 12.—At Doncaster today the race for the St. Leger stakes of 25 sovereigns each, for 3-year-old colts carrying nine stone, filled eight stone, eleven pounds, was won by Throttle, filly by Petrarch out of Thistle, owned by Sir F. Johnstone. Ladies, bay colt by slumpton port of Ullimate, owned by Lord Rosebery was second and Matchbox, bay colt by St. Simon out of F. Johnstone, but now owned by Baron Hirsch, was third.

All Quiet at Bluefields.
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12.—The Associated Press correspondent at Bluefields, under date of Sept. 4, says that pending the general elections to be held in the three divisions of the Mosquito territory, Sept. 8, everything is quiet and in a fair way to a resumption of the general prosperity existing before the trouble.

Killed in St. Paul Sand Bank.
ST. PAUL, Sept. 12.—George Bergeson, the 5-year-old son of Andrew Bergeson, a tailor, who resides at the corner of Gorman and Lewis streets, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon by the caving in of a sand bank on Golf street.

POP CONVENTION.

Third Party Delegates Meet in Congressional Nominating Array at St. Cloud This Morning.

Temporary Organization Was Effected and the Convention Adjourned Until 2 O'Clock This Afternoon.

Delegates of St. Louis County Caucus and Resolve to Unanimously Give Their Support to Smallwood.

Barring the Trotting Out of a Dark Horse He Will Probably Be the Congressional Nominee.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Populist convention assembled here this morning. Some of the delegates have been here two days. There is a full attendance.

The convention was called to order at 10 o'clock and a temporary organization was effected and committees appointed, after which the convention adjourned until 2 o'clock.

At the preliminary caucus of the St. Louis county delegates held at 1:30 this afternoon an informal ballot gave Capt. W. H. Smallwood 14 votes as the choice of the St. Louis county Populists for the congressional nomination. Judge McGintley only received 3 votes.

It was then definitely decided that the unanimous support of the St. Louis county delegation and barring a uniting on some dark horse he will receive the nomination.

FREITSCH'S FAMOUS FEAT.
He Crosses the Atlantic Ocean in His Forty-Six Foot Boat.

QUEENSTOWN, Sept. 12.—The little schooner Nina, Capt. Freitsch, arrived here today from New York. Freitsch was the only man on board. The Nina sailed from New York on Sunday, Aug. 5. She thus makes the trip across the Atlantic in thirty-eight days, remarkable time for such a craft, and only nine days behind the time made by the yacht Valkyrie, when she returned to England from New York. The Nina is a schooner rigged sloop, 47 feet over all. She was brought to New York by Capt. Freitsch from Milwaukee in June last. In shipping circles considerable doubt was expressed as to the ability of the Nina to cross the ocean safely.

Increasing Chicago's Assessed Valuation.
CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—W. K. Ackerman, city controller of Chicago, made an argument before the state board of equalization today asking that $50,000,000 be added to the Cook county assessment so as to give Chicago $1,000,000,000. He said the saloons kept Chicago alive and no honest assessor could be elected. The Lake Street Elevated Railroad company of Chicago, refusing to send in a statement, the board ordered the chairman to proceed against it under the statutes.

Fatal Cyclone at Memphis.
MEMPHIS, Sept. 12.—At 11:30 a. m. a cyclone passed from east to west, struck North Memphis near the Louisville & Nashville railroad shops and swept away everything in its path. Trees were uprooted, a bridge of 600 feet bayou taken up and carried a distance of 100 yards and a number of houses were wrecked. Robert Culp, colored, was fatally and Wilkes Vane, white, seriously injured. Other casualties are reported, but the names are not yet ascertained.

Fatal Scaffold Accident.
MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 12.—Yesterday afternoon at about 5 o'clock there was a terrible accident at the old Tribune building. E. Linder and F. Bodwardson were two workmen on a piece of scaffolding at the fifth story. The scaffolding was too heavily weighted and broke, precipitating them both headlong to the street below. Linder sustained terrible scalp wounds and besides, both arms and one instep were broken. Bodwardson suffered internal injuries and will probably die.

Altkin Prisoner Attempts to Escape.
ATKIN, Minn., Sept. 12.—William Davis, confined in the county jail here awaiting trial for burglary, made an attempt to kill Jailer Hanson last evening when Hanson was serving supper to the prisoners. Davis procured a piece of board with which he hit Hanson several blows over the head, cutting severe gashes from two to four inches long. One of the other prisoners interfered or Davis would have killed Hanson.

Condition of the National Treasury.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The statement of the gold coin and bullion in the treasury and the gold certificates outstanding issued by the United States treasurer yesterday shows that on Sept. 10 the total gold in the treasury was $21,597,123, against $20,285,869 on Aug. 31, of this $14,620 represented gold certificates in the treasury $15,692,079 gold certificates in circulation and $56,104,683 net gold in treasury gold reserve.

All Quiet at Bluefields.
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12.—The Associated Press correspondent at Bluefields, under date of Sept. 4, says that pending the general elections to be held in the three divisions of the Mosquito territory, Sept. 8, everything is quiet and in a fair way to a resumption of the general prosperity existing before the trouble.

Killed in St. Paul Sand Bank.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN.
Sept. 12.—An extensive area of high pressure is centered over Lake Huron, while a depression of considerable extent has moved south from Montana, causing brisk southerly winds and much warmer weather over the Dakotas. There has been a slight rise in temperature in the upper part of the lake region.

Frost is reported at Saint Ste. Marie. Heavy showers have occurred in Arkansas, and light showers in Tennessee and the rest of north of Montana.

The following telegram has been received from the weather bureau office in charge at Chicago, Ill.:
CHICAGO, Sept. 12, 10:20 a.m.—To observe:
Duluth, Minn.: Hazy, light breeze, brisk southerly winds during the next twenty-four hours.

Stages of water at St. Mary's Falls also at 8 a.m. today, 14 ft. 10 in.; forecast for next thirty-six hours, rising.
Duluth temperature at 7 a.m. today, 52 degrees; maximum yesterday, 65 degrees; minimum yesterday, 44 degrees.

DULUTH, Sept. 12.—Local forecast till 5 p.m.
tomorrow: For Duluth and the immediate vicinity of Western Lake Superior, light northerly winds, becoming fresh and brisk. For the interior of Northwest Minnesota and Northwest Wisconsin: Fair; warmer today; warmer Thursday in Northwest Wisconsin; fresh to brisk southerly winds.

JAMES KEELEY,
Local Forecast Official.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Forecast till 5 p.m.
tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Generally fair, showing rising temperature; southerly winds
from Minnesota; fair; warmer today; warmer Thursday morning; southerly winds.

Baldwin's Nomination.

The Democratic congressional convention at St. Cloud yesterday accomplished officially what had been mapped out unofficially as its line of duty, and M. R. Baldwin has again been put forward as the nominee of the Democratic party for the Sixth congressional district of Minnesota. There was no opposition, not even a suggestion of such a thing and the slate went through without a crack. It is the best the party could have done under the circumstances for certain defeat awaits the congressional race opponents of Charles A.
Towne, the Republican nominee. Democrats, not only as party adherents, but as individuals, as citizens of the Sixth district, recognize the unsatisfactory showing their congressional representative has made at Washington. His official career there has been almost totally confined to a fight for the government positions which were within his district and which, according to understanding custom, the proper spoils of his party. But his constituency expected something else, beside a continual struggle for spoils of office. There were vital interests in the Sixth district which needed a statesman, rather than an appointment juggler, to properly represent them before congress.

Under the favorable circumstances which attended the first presentation of his name to the people of the district he drew the united support of his party and a very large following of Republicans, he was only 151 votes short of carrying this county. He will do very well in this present campaign if he receives 2000 votes where in 1892 he got away with 1178. People didn't know the major then—they do now, and the difference will fall like a wet blanket on any aspirations he may have to fill out another term in congress.

Congressman Baldwin made a large number of pledges to different parties before he left Duluth for the arena where his principal posing was as the opponent of Mike Dunn, and the heat of the conflict with that dogmatic Democratic chieftain was so great that his pledges fused into an indiscriminate mass, and he never took the trouble to dig them out and fulfill them. In every place where a competent man—one who could rise above his party in the hour of distress—could have done his district a vast amount of good the Sixth district man was found lacking. His stand on the iron ore question will never be forgotten, and in that respect alone he made a fatal error. Maj. Baldwin goes into his second campaign handicapped in two ways. Certainly no Republican can or will again vote for the major, and a large element in his own party do not propose to humiliate themselves by sending him to Washington from this district for a second term;
that he cannot carry anything like his party's voting strength in any county with the possible exception of Stearns;
and with an opponent in the Republican ranks whose popularity is much greater than any possessed by any candidate ever before the people of the Sixth district.

Candidate Baldwin will find matters have changed materially since he was a candidate before, and when the polls are closed he will be aware that "hungry bellies" do count by a large majority.

The New Surgical Fad.

A Chicago paper recently had a symposium on the amputation of the vermi-form appendix, and a great diversity of opinions was exhibited by the learned contributors. Some thought that amputation should be promptly performed in bad cases of appendicitis; others asserted that the advisability of an operation

is problematical and one writer declared with much bluntness that cutting of ver-miform appendix has become a fad among surgeons, so that a surgeon is hardly satisfied until he has performed
the amputation, it being a "beautiful operation." In fact, it is asserted that since the discovery that it is such a "beautiful operation," the number of such operations has been increasing with great rapidity.

There is good reason to fear that the blunt statement of the last quoted writer is correct, and that many needless operations of this kind are performed simply because it is a "beautiful operation," which causes the average surgeon who delights in cutting up people to smile with pleasure. The fact that many people die under the knife while the operation is being performed, or are unable to rally from the shock which it gives to their systems; appears to cut little figure. It is a singular fact that of late the public has heard of a very large number of cases where people have undergone amputation, having been assured that their life depended upon it, whereas a few years ago such operations were extremely rare and cases of people dying from this disease were few and far apart. All the evidence goes to show that it is a surgical fad, to gratify which suffering humanity is being made a victim in many instances.

At the recent journalists' congress in Antwerp, Oscar Wolff, a Berlin pres-sman, proposed that managers of newspapers should engage only journalists who could give proof that they had received a sufficient "journalistic" education. As the Pall Mall Gazette remarks, as the only way to become a journalist is to be a journalist, the proposition is about as reasonable as to forbid a boy to enter the water until he could prove that he had had a sufficient education in swimming.

An exchange which says that Emma Goldman urged the New York anarchists to divide the real estate of others, "beginning with the saloons," has no acquaintance with anarchist nature. An anarchist never wants to divide a saloon with anybody; he prefers to keep it all to himself.

Just because Sioux City has raised

dently there is no sporting blood in the Kennebec Journal.

St. Louis claims to have nearly 600, 000 inhabitants. The St. Louis Republic says the percentage of its gain since the last federal census has been greater than that of Chicago or Baltimore. But that has not added as much territory as has Chicago.

As Superintendent Byrnes interprets
the law, there can be no more discharging of firearms by one actor at another in the New York theaters. But this should not prevent the managers firing some of the individuals who pose as actors.

A Connecticut farmer has committed suicide because of the loss of several acres of tobacco. His action is not to be wondered at, as many a man will admit who has been temporarily deprived of only his little pipeful of the weed.

The Japanese army is divided into the active army (Jogibun) and its reserves, the territorial army (Kobugun) and the national army (Kokumingun), and all fight like sons of guns.

Unless the Chinese and Japanese do some real lively fighting soon the people of this country will lose all interest in their war. The present rate of progress is insufferably slow.

WILL NOT BE PUSHED

Cases Against James E. Connelley, the Two Harbors Ex-Priest, Will Be Dismissed Next Wednesday.

County Attorney Dwan, of Lake County, Notified Attorney Baldwin to This Effect This Afternoon.

G. T. Porter & Co. Get One Cent Damages for the Detention of Their Piano—
Other Matters.

James E. Connelley, the Two Harbors
ex-priest, who was sentenced last winter to twenty years in the penitentiary for an alleged rape committed upon Julia Sutherland, one of his parishioners, and in whose case the supreme court overruled the district court's denial of a remotion for a new trial, will not be tried again, and when the four cases against him come up they will be dismissed and Connelley's bondsmen released.

Last Wednesday Judge Lewis ordered the cases set for Wednesday, Sept. 19, and ordered County Attorney Dwan, of Two Harbors, who conducted the prosecution, to report to C. O. Baldwin within one week what disposition was to be made of the cases.

This afternoon C. O. Baldwin received a letter from Mr. Dwan saying that the cases will not be tried and that he will be present next Wednesday when the cases come up. They will then be dismissed.

The case attracted a good deal of attention at the time of the trial on account of the position of the defendant, C. O.
Baldwin, who defended Father Connelley, conducted the case throughout in a skillful manner and deserves all the credit for securing Connelley's release.
Connelley is now out on $1000 bail for each indictment against him and is in St. Paul at present.

Get One Cent.

Yesterday the case of G. T. Porter & Son against Jackson & Co. to determine the ownership of a piano, was given to the jury. A few minutes later the jury entered the court room with a verdict to the effect that the plaintiffs are entitled to the possession of the piano. The jury considered that the music dealers had been damaged by the detention of the piano, so they awarded them 1 cent.

This morning Judge Ensign heard the case of William H. Dougal against Morris Thomas. Mr. Dougal is the owner of a lot in Endion division, and Mr. Thomas is the owner of a house which through a mistake was built 6 feet over on Dougal's lot. Dougal sued for the possession of his lot, $200 damages for its detention and $55 for four years' rent of the 6 foot strip.

Judge Ensign gave the case to the jury just before the noon adjournment, instructing it to find for the plaintiff. The damages were to be merely nominal and the jury was to determine the amount of rent due. Mr. Thomas must give Mr.
Dougal his lot.

The jury in the case of A. E. McManus against Antoine LeDuc came in at 10:30
this morning after having been out for twenty-five hours and reported that it was unable to agree. The jury was discharged.

County Attorney C. C. Tear will begin the prosecution of the criminals indicted by the grand jury tomorrow morning before Judge Lewis. The first case to be taken up will be the case against W. C.
Dougal, charged with committing a rape on an 8-year-old girl at the Woodland Bank.
The jury in the case of the Bank of Commerce of West Superior against W. C.
Sherwood, to recover $4000 on a promissory note, went out this morning and was still deliberating at noon.

WILL HIRE CLERKS.

Relief Committeemen Find That Their Time Is Becoming Valuable.

The relief committee met this morning and decided to engage clerical help to assist in the work hereafter. The men who have been contributing their services are beginning to feel the pressure of private business. Each committeeman will probably spend two or three hours a day at the headquarters overseeing the work of the clerks.

The question of repetition in giving relief was discussed and vigorous measures will be taken to prevent this. It has happened in several cases that people have secured aid here, in Hinkley and in Pine City.

The total cash collections amounted at noon today to $13,660. Some of the subscriptions are as follows: Ironton Structural Steel company, $100; employees of same, $84.10; W. W. Scarborough, $100;
J. M. Geist, $25; employees of A. Fitzer &
Co., $44.25; collected from guests at Belvidere resort in Charlevoix, Mich., $31.26.
The Swedish Lutheran Bethany church and societies contributed $40.

Col. C. H. Graves, of the state committee, has received $102 from the citizens of Tower and Soudan, besides a load of furniture and supplies; also $108.11 from Atkin, all of which he has forwarded to the state commission.

Will Improve Four Squares.

The board of park commissioners has authorized the improvement of four squares in London addition, Washington, Manchester, Russell and Grosvenor.
They are to be cleared of brush, dead trees and will be sowed with timothy and clover. The work can be done very cheaply now and the board finds it advantageous and has therefore ordered it.

Football Teams.
The ex-collegiate are practicing football this afternoon preparatory to playing on Saturday next.

The high school teams almost selected.
Rufus Draper is captain. Among those who will play are: Sutherland, Twomey, Peyton, Murphy, Gilkey, W. J. Gilkey,
Bailey, Mcning and Draper. Others will be selected later.

THE COURT FILINGS.

An Offer Has Been Made the Assignee for the Duggan Saloon.

Charles Schiller, assignee for Mary A.
Duggan, has applied for permission from the court to accept an offer of $600 from one Sullivan for the saloon stock and fixtures of the estate, which are valued at $1216.70. The time for filing claims against the estate has been limited to Sept. 10.

R. S. Powell's demurrer to the suit of Edmund Sherwood will be argued at Saturday's special term. This is the second suit, a demurrer to the first suit
having been sustained.

The Duluth Street Railway company has filed its answer to the damage suit of H. F. McLeod who wants $5000 for having had his hand cut off by a buzz saw. It is alleged that the accident was due to McLeod's carelessness.

In the case of Giles Gilbert against Mary F. Emerson et al, the plaintiff has filed notice of appeal.

CLAIMS TO KNOW HIM.

Vail, the Ely Undertaker, Says the Dead Man is a Book Peddler.

M. Vail, the Ely, undertaker, who thought he could identify Sunday's floater as the body of a Swedish book peddler who boarded in a Swedish boarding house adjoining his residence, today sent the following telegram: "His name is Christ Frederickson. Express clothes for identification."

As there is strong doubt that the clothes belong to the murdered man it was not decided at 3 o'clock this afternoon whether they would be sent or not.
There seems also a doubt as to whether the body is that of a Swede. Many of those who have seen the corpse are inclined to doubt it.

Amended Reply Filed.

Mack & Nye, of Cleveland, the ore dealers, have filed an amended reply in their suit against H. M. Bradley et al, stockholders of the Zenith Iron company.
They deny that they ever secured more than 12,853 tons of ore from the company. They also allege that the ore they received was below the grade provided for in the contract, being too high in phosphorus and not within the Bessemer limit. They claim to have made a conditional sale of 10,000 tons to the Salem Iron company but to have lost it because of the high grade of the ore in quality. They also allege that the Zenith Iron company on July 15, 1893, notified plaintiffs that it wished to shut down the mine being unable to carry out the conditions of the contract.

Thrilling Experience of the Crew of the Chicago Fire Boat Yosemite in Yesterday's Gale.

Battling for Existence Against the Angry Waters for Five Hours in a Heavy Storm.

Soaked Their Clothing in Kerosene and Made Beacons of Their Garments to Attract Attention.

Many of the Crew Were Painfully Burned by the Blazing Oil Which Dropped on Them.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—The fireboat Yosemite, which was wrecked on the Hyde Park reef last night while on its way to a South Side fire, sunk today. The Yosemite's crew was taken off by the life saving crew, but all efforts to save the boat failed.

The rescue of the fireboat's crew was a thrilling one. The boat was facing a heavy gale when it struck the reef and at once began filling with water, which soon put out the fires. For five hours the crew of ten men battled with pumps and buckets, while the Jackson park life saving crew, under command of Capt. St. Peters attempted to reach the gradually sinking craft. A heavy sea was running and three times the lifeboat capsized throwing the crew into the lake. But each time the boat was righted and with a very few minutes of the time the Yosemite plunged to the bottom of the lake, the water drenched life savers took off the ten fatigued men of the fireboat. The wrecked Yosemite was a valuable fire fighter and was on duty in one of the lagoons at the World's fair.

The crew of the Yosemite were forced to a novel expedient to attract the attention of the life saving station. Torches were used, made of their clothing, saturated with kerosene, and attached to long poles. These improvised signals were waved by the firemen and the kerosene trickled down, painfully burning hands and arms, but even this desperate effort did not make them the least efforts for as the weird distress signals flared up a view of the turbulent waters was disclosed that set them to work with renewed vigor.

SICILIAN EARTHQUAKE.

Seemingly an Unoccupied Field for American Ships.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—United States Consul Brühl has sent to the state department an extended account of the results of the earthquake shocks in Catania on Aug. 8, and which came under his personal observation. He reports that sufficient funds have been contributed by Italian cities to make good the losses of those whose homes were destroyed, but writes that building operations are retarded by the great scarcity of lumber. In this connection Mr. Brühl expresses surprise that the United States does not secure a share of the lumber trade that country, remarking that he has never seen the American flag on one of the vessels there. American ships, he suggests, should bring lumber and other return laden with asphalt, sulphur and salt, thereby carrying on a profitable business both ways.

Probing into the Atchison.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The interstate commerce commission has an inquiry on foot regarding the disclosures of rebates by the Atchison railroad. It is in connection with Mr. Little, the expert accountant, who went over the books of the company for the stockholders. It has not yet been determined whether this is a case that calls for the interposition of the courts. If it is decided that whatever evidence can be collected will be transmitted to the attorney general. Proceedings for violation of the law have been left to district attorneys. The work of the commission upon its annual report has not yet been commenced, but it will be upon Commissioner Morrison's return.

Getting Ready for a New Tenant?

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The White House is now disfigured with scaffolding and heaps of materials of repair. The historic white of the exterior is being brightened and renewed. The walks of the grounds are all torn up and dug to a depth of a foot preparatory to the laying of new pavement. The piece of coping over the entrance that fell a few weeks ago where statesmen and office seekers were constantly passing unconscious of peril, is being renewed and fortified. Within the mansion the woodwork is all being freshly laid and many of the decorations changed or renewed.

Won't Change Freight Rates.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 13.—The Camara central de agricultura, or Mexican produce exchange, has petitioned the federal government to prevail on the railroad lines entering the republic to reduce their freight rates on grain. The action is evidently the outgrowth of the threatened famine some time ago in various parts of the country, but as Mexican states it is doubtful if the government will interfere with the freight rates fixed by the railroad concessionaires.

Severe Mediterranean Storms.

MADRID, Sept. 13.—The southwest and Mediterranean towns of Spain have been visited by severe storms. The towns of Gata and Javes have been flooded, many lives have been lost, a number of houses have been destroyed and several vessels in the bay of Gata have been wrecked.

Porter John Blair, of the Burned Passenger Train, to Have a Public Testimonial Meeting.

Why Osmun Temple of the Mystic Shrine Dispensed With Its Customary and Famous Banquet.

Valuable Insurance Policies Recovered With Other Effects in Perfect Condition From a Hinkley Safe.

Scraps of Northwestern News of Greater or Less Interest Gathered for Herald Readers.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 13.—A public meeting will be held at Market hall this evening by the Afro-Americans of St. Paul and all others interested as a testimonial to John W. Blair, colored porter of the St. Paul & Duluth limited train burned at Skunk lake, who was one of the heroes of the awful holocaust. Hon. C. D. O'Brien will be the principal speaker. Addresses will also be made by J. Frank Wenton, Esq., of Minneapolis; F. D. McGhee, Esq., Reverend G. W. Gaines and R. C. Quarles, Messrs. T. H. Lyles, F. D. Parker, T. R. S. Taylor, J. Q. Adams and others. A fitting testimonial will also be presented.

NO CAMEL'S MILK.

Why the Pomegranate and Fig Were Missing From Osmun Temple.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 13.—Osmun Temple of the Mystic Shrine has been famed from the beginning for its entertainments. Since the first it has dispensed true Moslem hospitality with a lavish hand and in a manner that has won its fame abroad in the land. Last night, although the nobles of the Mystic Shrine had gathered from far and near and Masonic temple was filled to repletion, there was no camel's milk, the dervishes did not dance, the figs and the pomegranates were absent. For the first time in the history of Osmun the Arabs observed a fast at the time of a feast, when in accordance with the book of the law, they should have been taking full enjoyment. By unanimous vote it was decided to forego the usual traditional banquet and to dispense with the feast of the entire evening, amounting to hundreds of dollars, to the relief of two members of the temple, Nobles Young and Glaw who were stripped of everything at Hinkley.

Forest Fires to the Southeast.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 13.—A Bessener, Mich., special to the Journal says: The Gogebic Powder company's mill is still in process of being repaired as the mill has been fighting fire steadily for the last twenty-four hours and is almost exhausted. The fire is fierce and the wind strong. Trout Creek, Mich., on the south shore, is in imminent danger. Several small railroad bridges are being burned. The Wisconsin Central, Jelt, Wis., on the Wisconsin Central, several buildings are burned. At Wakefield, Mich., a mine, name unknown, was killed by the intense heat. Four hundred million feet of pine is burned in Gogebic and Ontonagon counties.

Land Men Anxious.

ASHLAND, Wis., Sept. 13.—J. F. O'Brien, of Georgia, has spent several months in Ashland this winter as the personal representative of Hoke Smith, secretary of the interior. He has been paying attention to land matters here and keeps the department closely informed of all occurrences. He has been ferreting out some big land scandals for the past few weeks and it is said the recent visit of United States Marshal Oakley and United States District Attorney Briggs was the result of his work. Land men are on the qui vive to know the outcome.

Value of a Good Safe.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 13.—The value of a fire proof safe is again attested by the recovery of the Brennan Lumber company's insurance policies after they had passed through the Hinkley disaster. John Rogers Jr. & Bro., of this city, had placed insurance on the lumber to the amount of $194,750, and on the sawmill to the amount of $17,500, and it was feared that the policies would be destroyed, but when the safe was opened in that city a day or two ago the policies were found intact. The loss will be adjusted without further delay.

Financier and Fighter in St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 13.—Senator John Sherman, of Ohio, and Gen. Nelson A. Miles and party, arrived from South Dakota today and leave for Chicago tonight, spending their few hours in the city visiting friends. Senator Sherman called during the afternoon on ex-Governor Ramsey, who was with him in President Hayes' cabinet, and Gen. Miles visited Fort Snelling.

Defendants' Demurrer Overruled.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 13.—Judge Otis has filed a decision and memorandum in the case of W. G. Hollis and the Lumbermen's association against the John Manufacturing company et al, in which he overrules the demurrers to the complaint with leave to the defendants to make answer.

Forest Fires Near Staples.

STAPLES, Minn., Sept. 13.—A heavy wind from the south has driven forest fires within a mile of town. The citizens have turned out to fight the fire. There is no great danger unless the wind changes more to the west.

Deep Water Way Delegates.

Reed and McKinley Coming.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 13.—Chairman Tams Bixby, of the Republican state central committee, today received a letter from Governor McKinley, of Ohio, in which the protection leader promises to deliver two or three speeches in this state during the campaign this fall. As yet he is not able to fix the dates when he can be here, but this will be settled before long. Arrangements have already been made for Tom Reed to make a number of speeches here.

Fifty Bushels to the Acre.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Sept. 13.—Farmer J. C. McMaster, living south of Dakota in Nelson county, harvested and threshed from eight acres 400 bushels of fine No. 1 hard wheat as was ever seen.

A Finnish Trio.

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 13.—Three negroes, two men and a woman, called at the house of Salomon George Wohlheuter, in the very heart of the city, this morning and demanded breakfast. Mrs. Wohlheuter was alone. Badly frightened, she prepared the meal. Later the street door and going to Mrs. Wohlheuter's room beat her senseless and assaulted her. She was bound and gagged and thrown into the cellar. Carpets and bed clothing were saturated with oil and the house fired. Except for the timely discovery of the flames all trace of the crime would have been obliterated. Mrs. Wohlheuter's condition is critical. Police and citizens are searching for the villains.

Decreasing Baring Liabilities.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The governors of the Bank of England at their half yearly meeting today declared a dividend of 1 per cent. The reason for this reduction is a decrease in profits said to be due to the unprecedented increase in the reserve and the low value of money. Since Feb. 28 the net result of the Baring liquidation has been a reduction of £1,075,000, making the liability £2,481,015, and the debt due the bank £2,409,000. The outlook for further progress in the liquidation is so favorable that it is believed that no loss will fall upon the guarantors.

Depew Won't Run for Governor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Ex-Senator Platt made the statement yesterday that Chancey Depew will not be a candidate for governor. Mr. Platt said that a few months ago a number of well known Republicans solemnly urged Mr. Depew to accept the nomination. The answer was "No." Mr. Platt said that Depew had told a press correspondent in London just before sailing that he was not a candidate, and that as soon as the New York Central railway president reaches New York he will clearly declare himself in favor of Mr. Morton, and Morton will be nominated on the first ballot.

Bookmakers Oppose Breckinridge.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 13.—The bookmakers at the two race tracks on the East side of the river from this city, who claim Kentucky as their native state, and the Ashland district as their home, have arranged to take part in the congressional campaign now on there in opposition to W. C. F. Breckinridge. A party of fifteen will leave here tomorrow to attend the primaries next Monday and to use the time at their disposal as well as their influence against Breckinridge.

They Purchased Slave Girls.

CAIRO, Sept. 13.—Alf. Griffith, president of the legislative council, and Hassan Wacziy, a retired general of the Egyptian army, who were arrested Aug. 28 charged with purchasing slave girls recently brought here from Wadai, have been convicted after a thorough judicial investigation into the case. As already cabled, Sharawi Pasha, who was charged with the same offense, absconded.

Germany's Naval Review.

SWINEMUNDE, Sept. 13.—Emperor William arrived here this morning from Schlobitten. His majesty was accorded an enthusiastic reception. He boarded the imperial yacht Hohenzollern and inspected the fleet. The warships were in double line and their crews cheered at the Hohenzollern steamed slowly between the lines. Later the Hohenzollern took up a position and all the warships steamed past the imperial yacht at a single line.

Endorsed Labor Legislation.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 13.—A resolution was adopted by the convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen today endorsing the labor measures now being considered by the constitutional convention at Albany and urging the labor leaders to unite with those having the measure in charge to secure their speedy passage. The convention then adjourned to give committee chance to dispose of business referred to them.

Heavy Fire Loss in London.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The fire of last night near the leather market Bernadzeby, by which the stores of Margotson & Co., John Dixon & Sons, and Boucher & Taylor, leather dealers, were destroyed was not extinguished until the flames had consumed £250,000 worth of property.

Marine Cargo Insurance Raised.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—The Chicago board of marine underwriters this afternoon advanced insurance rates on grain to cents per $100 to all points, taking effect Sept. 15.

Kittie Halvorsen.

The Populists nominated Kittie Halvorsen for her candidature for congressional honors at St. Cloud yesterday. Mr.
Halvorsen didn't do any harm when he was in congress before, and he didn't do any good. He was simply a congressional nonentity, and in this respect, perhaps, he was even better than some other Minnesota congressmen who have attended more. The substitution of Halvorsen's name for that of Smallwood, of Duluth, is not a fatal error, because there was no life in any of the chances for success of any Populist candidate, but the judgment of the party was at stake and the choice has been made.
Between men of Capt. Smallwood's caliber and the congressman from Belgrade there should be no comparison.
Capt. Smallwood had a long official career in a high state capacity and filled
it with honor to himself and his party, which, at that time was the Republican,
while Kittie Halvorsen failed of grasping the situation.The nomination, however, is a good one—for the Republicans—and will simply swell the Towne majority here as elsewhere, and it begins to look already as if the result would be that Baldwin will come out third on election day.
Halvorsen will get very few votes in St.
Louis county while Smallwood would have made a good showing. Maj. Baldwin will get a comparatively small vote in his home county, while Halvorsen will pull from the Baldwin ranks in Stearns and adjoining counties.The election of the Republican nominee—youthful, brilliant, honest and energetic Charles A. Towne, will be gloriously and overwhelmingly accomplished in any event, and the Populist nomination of yesterday simply makes it a sure thing.

Times Are Brightening.

Duluth people have no right to complain of hard times, and there is really no stringency in the money world in this vicinity. Bank clearances here show an increase over former years. The figures for August during the last four years are as follows: 1891, $8,325,177; 1892, $5,791,122; 1893, $6,415,207, and this year they mount up to $10,835,340. The total clearances for the eight months of the present year are $68,538,581, about round million greater than ever before known here for a like period.But not in bank clearances alone is the prospect a pleasant one for the care-observer, for every branch of business in Duluth shows signs of a cheerful revival. The wholesale houses are placing their full quota of traveling men on the road, the lumber field is full of competitive buyers for the product of the sawmills of the district, iron ore is moving freely to the consuming ports and the flour shipments are large. There is quite a little wheat being worked off eastward and under the stimulus of advanced rates the receipts of coal are getting heavy again, and a big coal supply means low rates to consumers and work for laborers, so that this is a doubled weapon of good portent.In the retail field merchants say their sales are larger than at a corresponding time last year and that there is a falling off in applications for credit.
The real estate market is regaining its former activity and nearly all the city
transfers or deals are made to parties who intend to immediately improve their purchases. The building season is marked by great activity and there are many handsome homes as well as business blocks reaching out skyward.
The labor world has a good prospect before it. The unemployed list is not large and the trades are full. The coming winter need have no terrors for thelaboring class as the lumber woods, the manufacturers and some proposed railroad construction will give employment to all who will ask for it. Take it all in all the outlook at Duluth is anything but gloomy.

A School Park.

Jacob A. Riss, the well known writer on the poor, has an article in the September number of the Century on "Playgrounds for City Schools," in which he says: "If I had my way, I would surround every school in the city up-town or down-town, with a park that would make it always
the most attractive spot in all the neighborhood. To my mind that is one of the chief advantages to be derived from the school park. Instead of being repelled children would be attracted to a school that was identified with their playground.
Truancy would cease. I would adopt the plan that has proved successful in London, of lending the schools to the boys for club rooms in the evening hours
—under some system of effective but not intrusive surveillance, and not the kind that would aim at 'keeping them down'
—those evening hours when the manufacture of the tough gangs on most actively in the street. The gangs would soon find their education gone, when the schools became boys' clubs. Why is it so hard for our city authorities to learn a lesson which any man's unofficial common sense grasps at once? However, the club is not necessarily a part of the school park. It is one of the 'frills' to be considered afterward. The first consideration would be to make the park attractive as well as useful. I would have a few trees in it for shade, a shelter at one end or along the side for rainy days, and some simple gymnastic apparatus for the children. For the rest, there should be a combination of asphalt and grass, with the asphalt predominating, and never a sign of keep off the grass, if the lawns had to be sowed every year anew. My school park should be a people's park in which the children might play at recess, and where the mothers might take their babies during school hours. It should be always open and there should be plenty of seats in it."This is an excellent suggestion that must grow in favor the more that it is considered. Fine school buildings and first-class equipment no doubt have great influence in making school life more attractive to the children than it was in the older days when, in smeling, tumble-down buildings, hard seats and rickety tables for desks were the features of school accommodations. A great advance has been made since those days, and the results are beneficial both as regards the educational training of the children and their health. But there is always room for progress, and the suggestion of Mr. Riss opens a way in that direction. The park would be a very attractive spot for the children, and the idea of giving the boys the use of the school buildings for club rooms, under proper supervision of course, is deserving of commendation. Progressive school boards will no doubt give careful consideration to Mr. Riss' suggestion.Mark Twain said a few weeks ago just as he was going about the last time:
"I am going over to see my wife and family at Eureka, where they are supporting a couple of doctors. You see, over there, when the doctors get hold of a patient they keep him. They generally take you to a small place and keep you there; then they pass you along to a friend in another place, and then they keep you moving like a Wandering Jew.
My wife has been doing this for three years. I don't date to have even a headache after I land on the other side."
The humorist was not joking, either.Lillian Cody, the niece of the far famed Buffalo Bill, is traveling through Iowa with a wild west show, which causes the Sioux City Tribune to inquire: Is this wild west business to be continued in the Cody family to the second and third generations? An anxious and fearful public pauses for a reply.Joshua Marvel, the Republican nominee for governor of Delaware, is about facture of peach baskets for years and has a large force of employees. It is said that within the last thirty years he has amassed a fortune of $250,000, with nothing to begin with. This is the first time he has ever aspired for political honors. He will probably have less money when he gets through the campaign.In a card which appears in this issue of The Herald, the present county auditor, George N. LaVaque, announces his acceptance of a numerous signed petition asking him to enter the fall campaign as an independent candidate for the county auditorship. The list of signers contains the names of many of the heaviest taxpayers and those who have considerable and heavy business transactions with the auditor's office.

Without any reference to the candidacy of others for the same position Auditor LaVaque's incumbency of his responsible office has been marked by a high degree of executive ability and general dispatch of public business. Mr. La-Vaque's entry into the field complicates matters on the county ticket, as his friends are many and powerful.It has been computed that the death rate of the school is sixty-eight per cent, or 77,770 per day, or 35,777,770 per year. The birth rate is seventy per cent, or 100,000 per day, or 36,817,200 per year, reckoning the year to be 365 days in length. With the decrease in the number of desecrative wars, there is every prospect that the increase of the birth rate over the death rate will continue to grow larger, and consequently there is no danger of the world being depopulated.The Scotch peers either are very indifferent to the honors of their rank, or are waiting for a compulsory voting act to be passed. At their recent meeting sent their order in the house of lords

only nine were personally present, seventeen sent proxies, and eight took no notice of the summons to attend.The New York Evening World prints a Belknap's Figures.

To the Editor of The Herald:
Mr. Belknap, on the part of the gas and water companies, has been making his plan, a price that competent authority makes twice the cost of a future wants of our city, a price of $15,000 in excess of their former proposition which the voters of Duluth overwhelmingly rejected. Mr. Belknap claims an expenditure of $150,000 since that proposition was made. It might be well to inquire where the line is drawn between improvements and operating expenses, and would not a like expenditure for so called improvements be necessary to keep up our present supply. It seems reasonable that the gas and water companies should be allowed to go to the expense of an election to vote on such a proposition. The stockholders in that plant have nothing to lose. It is bounded for more than its value by $800,000, and what is the use of trying to buy an equity with such odds against it.
A proposition on the part of the city to give $1,200,000 thirty years at 4 per cent bonds would be a magnanimous offer and let Mr. Belknap get in the bonds and give us the title for that amount and on the rejection of such an offer, our course would be plain and immediate action is the clamor on every side.

PEIXOTO'S BRUTALITY.

Brazilian Rebels Executed by His Order Without a Trial.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—A dispatch from Montevideo asserts that fifty-eight Brazilians were executed by order of President Peixoto on Aug. 20 last. The executions took place in the fortress of Santa Cruz. The condemned men had no trial. Among them were military and naval officers, whose names are given in the dispatch commencing with that of Antonio Amalio da Gama. In addition to these the dispatch further says, a number of persons were shot at Curitiba without warrant save the order of President Peixoto. It is also reported that many prisoners were killed by being thrown from precipices along the Paraguay railway, among them being Senor Luis Thurst, a federal deputy, who was a distinguished writer, who returned to Brazil from Buenos Ayres under a guarantee that his life would be spared.

that Monsignor Sattoli will then leave
the United States.

MERRITT CASE IS ON

Jury Obtained This Morning, Many Talem- men Being Rejected Because of Sympathy for the Merritts.

Lon Merritt Gave Testimony as to the Road's Incorporation and His Mission in New York.

Judge Moor Reopens the Jerush Rivers vs. Belle Stanley Case and It Will be Tried.

Leonidas Merritt's suit against the Duluth, Missabe & Northern, to recover $10,000 for services as vice president and financial agent, and $5000 for expenses incurred while acting in the latter capacity, came up before Judge Ensign at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It will probably continue all the remainder of the week at least, as some interesting testimony will probably be brought out.

A. A. Harris and H. E. Harris are conducting the case for Mr. Merritt, and they are opposed by J. B. Cotton, assisted by G. Wellwood Murray, of New York, general counsel of the road and John D. Rockefeller's private attorney. There are two similar cases against the Missabe Mountain and Biwabik Mountain iron companies for smaller amounts which have been continued.

A jury was not obtained until 10 o'clock this morning, as many of the talesmen called either sympathized too much with the Merritts as against J. D. Rockefeller or had heard too much about the case.

When the case was presented to the jury for Mr. Merritt by H. E. Harris this morning the little court room was crowded to the doors. In presenting the case Mr. Harris went into the history of the road from the time of its inception, which he said was largely due to the Merritts, up to the time when its financial condition made necessary the negotiation of a loan of $1,500,000 from C. W. Wetmore, for which purpose Leonidas was sent to New York.

Leonidas Merritt was the first witness for the plaintiff. He testified to the incorporation of the road and to having been deputed by directors to make several deals for the road, such as traffic contracts with the Duluth & Winnipeg and the Mountain Iron and Biwabik Mountain iron companies.

He also testified that he had been sent by President Chase and the board of directors to New York to consummate the loan of $1,500,000 from C. W. Wetmore in consideration of $2,000,000 in the roads bonds and $666,666.65 of the capital stock of the roads. He was also sent to assist him in raising this money when the panic came.

At the point where Mr. Merritt said that he had been authorized to go to New York by the board of directors, the defense moved to strike out the answer on the ground that the minutes of the board would be the best evidence of the fact.

The plaintiff's counsel argued that a formal resolution or record was not necessary for such a transaction. The jury was dismissed until afternoon, when the question was argued. Judge Ensign overruled the motion.

The defense will be that Mr. Merritt's services were rendered to the gratification and that while in New York he worked for his own interests. Some affidavits have been taken from which it appears that the defense will also try to prove that Mr. Merritt was unfaithful to his trust. C. W. Wetmore will figure in the case largely, and the witness in his transactions with the Merritts will probably come out during the trial.

The judgment rendered. Judge Moor has decided to sustain the motion to open judgment in the Rivers-Stanley case and it will be placed at the foot of the jury calendar for trial. The execution which has been taken to make stand as a lien against Belle Stanley's place until the case is decided.

Judge Lewis this morning was hearing the case of Oscar H. Anderson against the Biwabik Ore company to recover $7000 on a contract for stripping the Biwabik mine.

The criminal cases were crowded over by the Biwabik case, but James Rowe's trial will probably be begun some time this afternoon.

THE NEW MANAGER.

E. N. Bradley, of St. Joseph, Mo., will Superintend the Duluth Elevator Company.

E. N. Bradley has arrived in Duluth to make this place his residence. He has been selected by the board of directors of the Duluth Elevator company to be the general manager of that company. Application was made by Mr. Bradley this morning for a seat on the Duluth board of trade. He comes from St. Joseph, where he has been manager for an elevator system in which F. H. Peary, the Minneapolis grain man, is interested. Mr. Bradley says crops are a total failure around St. Joseph owing to the intense heat.

Ponderosa Tomatoes.

D. A. Petre brought to The Herald office yesterday a couple of tomatoes picked at random from his Glen Avon kitchen garden. The specimens which are the finest ever seen in Duluth are of the Ponderosa variety and weigh jointly one pound and fourteen ounces. They are each thirteen and a half inches in circumference and full of a cigar box, uncomparably full. Others of the same variety, and possibly larger will be exhibited at the county fair. The fruit was fully ripe and without a flaw or blemish.

Lamb-McCormick Marriage.

Miss Ida Mae Lamb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Lamb, and Frank H. McCormick, of Sioux City, Ia., were married last evening at Pilgrim Congregational church at 8 o'clock. A reception was given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Davis, 1601 London road. Mr. and Mrs. McCormick will make their home in Sioux City.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN.

Interesting Reminiscence From R. L. Belknap—Tammany Man Talks.

Robert L. Belknap, of New York, who has been here this week preparing and presenting the water company's proposition, related a reminiscence a few evenings ago which shows how unexpectedly a single circumstance will sometimes change the course of events.

Twenty years ago when the great fight against the Tweed ring was on in New York," said Mr. Belknap, "I was closely connected with the citizens' committee which was conducting the fight against the ring. We were fighting them at every turn and they were getting desperate. When I stop to think now how narrowly we escaped defeat, I wonder at it.

"On the last night before election word came to the committee from a positive source that the Tweed crowd, which of course was in control, would on the following morning produce the old ballot boxes which had been used in the election of 1870 and were wooden and had previously been discarded for glass boxes which could be seen through. The plan was to use these wooden ones and for a couple of weeks Mr. Belknap looks for the polls were opened.

"When the polls opened next morning the citizens committee had a man in every precinct in New York city who saw to it that there was no fraud of that sort. It was almost as much as a man's life was worth to do it and it was prevented and when night came and the ballots were counted, the Tweed ring was buried in defeat. But it was a close call I tell you."

The question has been asked today as to whether the spontaneous combustion in Smith, Farwell & Steele's mattresses in evening could be laid to the overflowing fire and enthusiasm at the Republican meeting being held in the same block at that time.

J. W. Atkins, one of the largest wholesale clothiers of New York city, and a large stockholder in the Woodward Clothing company, of this city, arrived in Duluth this morning and will remain for a couple of weeks. Mr. Atkins looks for a prosperous trade in this section this fall and winter and feels sure that Duluth having weathered the financial storm so well that Eastern investors will soon be looking for snaps in Duluth really.

Mr. Atkins is a prominent Tammany man and is proud of it. He says Mayor Gilroy is the best mayor the metropolis has ever had and will be overwhelmingly elected if he consents to run again. New York, he says, is the best governed city in the United States. Its taxes are lowest, its police force the best and in every department economy and efficiency are found.

Corean Embassy at Washington the Recipient of Marked and Unusual Courtesy from Other Embassies.

Chinese and Japanese Ministers Playing Catch-as-Catch-Can With King Li Hung's People.

Wives of the Orientals Startling Social Circles by Their Departure from Former Family Rules.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—[Special to The Herald].—The attitude of the Chinese, Japanese and Korean legations one to another is exciting some interest in diplomatic circles here. It is needless to say that the relations between the Chinese and Japanese are considerably strained and they each vie with one another to gain the favor of the Korean minister and his retinue.

If the members of the Korean legation are seen at the theater with the Chinese one night it is reasonably certain that they will be found at another theater with the Japanese on the following evening. Unlike the attitude of his poor country Mr. Pak Chung Yang, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from Korea is the recipient of marked social attentions from representatives of both the other countries and all owing to the war which is now being waged in his country at home. While China and Japan are fighting for Korea in the far East the Chinese and Japanese ministers are playing a game of social strategy for the good will of all poor Korea's representatives. In other words they are waging a miniature warfare over Pak Chung Yang's wounded feelings. These three legations, always a matter of considerable interest here, have become doubly attractive since jealousy led to war in the East. One of the first things a stranger wants to do on coming to Washington now is to see the headquarters of these three countries in the United States.

The Chinese legation is the largest and, of course, the most important of the three. Until the present minister, Mr. Yang Yu, arrived, the legation was located in the most fashionable portion of the city and occupied what is known as Stewart's castle, on Dupont circle, paying $70,000 a year rent for it. On the arrival of the new minister with his suite within the last year the headquarters were removed from Dupont circle to 2001-35 Fourteenth street, very near where Barber, the asphalt king, lives. These buildings are situated on a hill and command an excellent view of the entire city. The embassy consists of three four-story brownstone buildings which had never been occupied before the Chinese moved in. The buildings are in the style of the furniture and furnishings being the same as used by the Celestials at home. Mr. Yang Yu, however, preferred American surroundings and his entire embassy is fitted up in American style. They sit in high chairs, are fed by an English caterer and receive callers very much in the same manner that Americans do. These changes are very largely due to Mrs. Yang Yu who has departed from the faith of Confucius and is now a Buddhist. This religion entitles her to very many more privileges than most women of her nation have, one of which is to go into society and entertain herself. The former minister, Mr. Tsui Kwo Yin, was very strict in his observance of Chinese etiquette and once when his wife was ill he forced her to suffer unattended because the etiquette at home did not permit a foreigner to see the face of a Chinese lady with the rank of his wife. Though etiquette requires that the Chinese legation should entertain once a year in elaborate style there was the face of a Chinese lady to be seen at the reception.

Just prior to the departure of Mr. Tsui Kwo Yin a magnificent ball was given at the Stewart mansion and the wife of Representative Blanchard of New Orleans together with Madame Romero assumed complete charge of the entertainment, acting for the minister.

ter's wife. Therefore it caused a sensation at the first diplomatic dinner given by the president when Madame Yang Yu entered the East room leaning on the arm of her husband. No surprise, of course, was outwardly expressed but before the evening was over Madame Yang Yu satisfied the curiosity of her fellow foreigners by announcing that she was a Buddhist and would not be kept in privacy as her predecessor had been. Almost any afternoon the minister and wife with other ladies of the legation can be seen driving through the parks or the White House grounds. The minister is an elderly, well-to-do, and somewhat portly man. He is highly educated and while his feet are very small they do not show the deformity of many of his race. In the legation there are eighteen officers in all. Besides the minister, there are three secretaries, two naval attaches, eight military attaches, three translators and attaches and two sub-secretaries, and they are a busy lot just now. Between the war of China and Japan, which necessitates great deal of correspondence and work, the Chinese exclusion act furnishes a vast amount of work for the Celestials.

The same revolution has taken place in the Korean legation with regard to social etiquette in Korea does not permit Mrs. Pak Chung Yang, wife of the minister, to enter into the social gayeties of the capital or to associate with foreigners, be they men or women. Mrs. Pak Chung Yang, however, refused to be guided by the traditions of her own country and broke through the social barriers which had kept Mrs. Tsui Kwo Yin in solitude and confinement for so many years.

Mrs. Goro Tateno, the wife of the former Japanese minister, ranked as one of the social leaders in diplomatic circles of the capital and it is said that it was her influence which forced the Korean ladies into the gay world of Washington society. The Japanese are never looked upon as social freaks for one of their requirements is that they spend English and their gowns are not different from those worn by American or European women at the various social functions. The Japanese legation is a small affair, the Japanese minister, Mr. Kato, is a man of about half a mile above Whitford station, Chester county, last Saturday, died this morning in the University hospital without having regained consciousness. He was discovered by a section hand on the Pennsylvania railroad who tumbled over the gaily colored lying in a clump of bushes. He was struck by a passing train and was covered with blood from head to foot. The flesh of the right leg from the hip down was torn and bruised as though the perpetrator of the brutal crime had dragged their victim some distance before throwing him into the gully.

It is believed the parties who committed the assault labored under the impression that the railroad ran through the case. One is that he was injured man was taken to Whitford station and thence to the University hospital, where he died. The names of the men who were investigating the case, Michael Skorz, there are two theories entertained by those who are investigating the case. One is that he was assaulted by two companions who were seen in his company on the day previous to the crime, and the other is that he was attacked and beaten by a gang of Italian who work in the quarries near Whitford station.

Interesting Mining Litigation. DENVER, Sept. 14.—Charles Burns has begun suit against D. H. Moffat and others to recover the value of his share in the Roaring Fork mining district, which was advertised to place, today, and to obtain the cancellation of a trust deed given by Moffat as president of the company to secure a loan for $50,000. The plaintiff, who is a minority stockholder, alleges that the trust deed was fraudulently given and that the officers of the company, instead of developing the Homestead mine, which is owned by the company, have been developing the Homestead to adjacent mines owned by the company, and have been developing the expense of the Deep Mining and Drainage company.

Kealey's Female Contingent. COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Sept. 14.—The Ladies auxiliary of the national convention of Kealey leagues elected the following officers: President, Mrs. Elizabeth Lyle Saxton, of New Orleans; vice president, Mrs. I. N. Ives, of Burlington, Ill.; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. A. Cornelius, of Topeka, Kas.; executive committee, Mrs. Belle Welch, of New Haven; Mrs. M. Kate Reed, of Chicago; Mrs. O. F. Borle, of Durango; Mrs. O. T. Van Horn, of Kansas City and Mrs. E. J. M. Newcomb, of Minneapolis.

Sheep Killers Will Be Arrested. RIFLE, Colo., Sept. 14.—The Ware of Garfield county, has thoroughly investigated the recent sheep killing. Officers claim to have a chain of evidence that will result in the arrest of the killers of the sheep at the time of the killing claim to be able to identify three or four of the implicated. Paraphrase sheep men declare their intention to quit business, and buyers are none on the ground.

G. A. R. Encampment Ended. PITTSBURGH, Sept. 14.—The twenty-eighth annual encampment of the G. A. R. and all attendant ceremonies and festivities are over. The Woman's Relief corps installed its officers this morning, but the work of the other organizations was completed last night. The last number on the official program was completed today, when the officers and delegates with their ladies were given a boat excursion, which took in the armor plate mills at Homestead.

Cut his Mother's Throat. CLEVELAND, Sept. 14.—While partially under the influence of liquor this morning Eugene McCarthy, living at No. 177, Oregon street, quarreled with his mother and cut her throat almost from ear to ear. The old lady is dying. Mrs. McCarthy is an old woman and could make but slight resistance against her unnatural son's savage attack. In the struggle one of her ears was completely severed from her head. The son is in jail.

An Insult Averged. EAGLE PASS, Texas, Sept. 14.—It is learned that Jess Garcia Menchaca has been shot dead in Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, by Jose Ramirez in a quarrel over a suit. Menchaca was notorious as having shot the most prominent man of Coahuila in an alleged duel and having murdered at Diaz and his two daughters last year. At that time Menchaca was an officer under the notorious Garza Galan, governor of Coahuila.

NEW RAILROAD FOR LOS ANGELES.

President Mills Will Probably Extend His Line to Altamir.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 14.—From information received here from a highly reliable source it is learned that D. O. Mills, the chief owner of the Carson & Colorado railway, which now runs south to Independence, intends to extend that line to Mojave, probably within twelve months. This will give him two entrances into Los Angeles, one over the Southern Pacific and the other over the Atlantic & Pacific and Southern California roads. He has just passed the survey completed and but one thing is keeping him back. The gap is only 125 miles between the two places, and his construction would provide an outlet for much of the low grade ores which do not pay a profit if shipped to San Francisco. Mr. Mills is only waiting to see how the English syndicate progresses with its big 110-mile irrigation canal, and if they make a showing that indicates good faith he will rush the construction of his road. This canal commences 12 miles above Independence and is intended to convey water to the Indian wells, where it will be turned upon some 6,000 acres of rich land. It is being built by the California Water Works and Irrigation company, of London, and 18 miles are partially constructed. It will be 3 feet wide at the bottom and will carry 6 feet of water. Mr. Mills desires first to see a good prospect of this undertaking being carried out before he commences his extension. As soon as the 18-mile section is completed he will commence his work. This road when built to Mojave, will divert from San Francisco to Los Angeles a large trade besides developing a remarkably rich country.

SPRECHEN SIE DEUTSCH.

And in Order to Do It a Pythian Lodge Withdraws.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Goethe lodge, one of the oldest German lodges of the Knights of Pythias in the United States, has decided, with but four dissenting votes, to withdraw from the order and will organize the Goethe Relief society using funds now in their possession for the new organization. The officers have notified the grand lodge that it had surrendered its charter and all property belonging to the grand lodge.

Illinois Miners Unhappy.

PANA, Ill., Sept. 14.—There is considerable quiet talk on the streets here about another strike of miners. It is alleged that the date for the strike has been set for Sept. 16. Last evening the talk resulted in a serious fight between union and non-union miners on the most prominent business street in the city in which two union miners were dangerously wounded. The names of the injured men are Thomas Kent and Michael Murphy. They will likely die.

Presidential Promotions.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The president has made the following recess nominations: Milton J. Rosenan, past assistant surgeon in the marine hospital service of the United States. Navy—Richard L. Adams, rear admiral, Robert L. Pythian, commodore; James Adams, lieutenant commander.

Chinese Overtures to British Soldiers.

HONG KONG, Sept. 14.—Chinese agents are offering bribes to the soldiers of the British garrison, in order to induce them to desert and enter the Chinese service. The commander of the British forces at Hong Kong has issued an order that the troops against listening to the advances of the Chinese.

Volcanic Eruption Threatened.

GUADALAJARA, Mex., Sept. 14.—An eruption of Colima volcano situated on the Pacific coast south of this city is threatened and the inhabitants of the district at the base of the mountains and adjoining valley are in a state of excitement. An eruption at this time would result in heavy loss to crops and great damage to other property.

Fast Eastbound Ocean Passage.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The Lucania reached Queenstown at 3:47 o'clock this morning, making the passage from New York in 5 days, 8 h, 38 m.

A Voice From the Dead.

In a Glasgow theater, at the close of the first act, the curtain did not drop the whole length, but remained suspended half way. Stretched out on the stage lay a solitary dead man. As all endeavors to lower the curtain failed, the corpse at length got up and said in sepulchral tones, "No rest in the grave," and went and dragged the curtain to the floor.—Tit-Bits.

MANY INSIDE FACTS.

"I believe he was, but I did not know it." "Did not the Southern National bank have a claim of $73,000 against Wetmore, against which it held collateral?"

"Did he not take this collateral, which consisted of Missable road bonds, and replace it with some notes belonging to the railroad company?"

"Yes." "You, as vice president of the road, knew of this and consented to it, did you not?"

The answer was in the affirmative, but as Mr. Merritt wished to explain the matter he was allowed to do so. The bonds spoken of amounted to $100,000 and had been given to Wetmore, who was then vice president of the road, for the purpose of raising money on them. Wetmore had put the bonds up for his personal liabilities. Then John D. Rockefeller offered to purchase the bonds for 80 cents on the dollar, and Wetmore had Mr. Merritt send for the notes. He represented that he wanted to raise money for the road. The notes were sent to Mr. Merritt and he placed in the hands of the consolidated mining interests, and that the Adams mine was purchased." "Yes."

A number of letters from Leonidas Merritt to other parties were identified, to be introduced in evidence later. They were followed by a number of questions asked by Mr. Merritt, which were answered by Mr. Merritt.

Some questions about Mr. Merritt's connection with the road at the time that he made his first demand for compensation and about his expense bills were asked. They brought out little besides a statement that he had sold his interests to the Consolidated in February 1894.

Had Collateral With Rockefeller.

"Do you remember that your family had collateral with Mr. Rockefeller for money loaned which consisted of Missable collateral?"

"Yes, it amounted to several millions, par value."

The redirect examination conducted by H. E. Harris, occupied the remainder of the forenoon and part of the afternoon. "Mr. Merritt, you spoke of spending a good deal of time at 46 and 46 Broadway. Where offices are those?"

"You retained no profit from that transaction?"

"None whatever."

The examination closed at this point.

James Rowe on Trial.

The trial of James Rowe, the wretch who is accused of raping 8-year-old Effie Woods at Woodland Park, was commenced yesterday afternoon before Judge Lewis. The usual crowd of the kind of birds that such cases attract was present. No testimony was introduced by the defense, and after the little girl had told her story, supplemented by the testimony of several physicians, the case went to the jury just before the noon adjournment.

HER AMBITION.

One of Chicago's Fair Daughters States Her Mission.

It was evening in one of the most princely mansions of Chicago, and the wealthy hostess sat in her study in the contemplation of something which for a long time had taken up his most earnest thought. At length he touched a button, and a maid entered. "Dash my daughter Linda to come here," he said back in his chair with the air of one who had completed in his mind what he had to say.

"Be seated, Linda," he said as a slight, girlish figure entered the room. "What I have to say to you is of the utmost importance, and I beg your undivided attention. The time has come when it is necessary for you to settle upon the choice of an occupation, for, as you well know, the spirit of the nineteenth century has decreed that woman shall no longer remain idle, and I am anxious that my only child shall uphold the name for industry and perseverance that her father has earned. Have you thought any on this subject?"

With the calm light of an unalterable determination in her eyes, the young girl looked up into her father's face. It was easy to see that she had but one aim, one resolve. Her noble forehead, the classic lines of her face and that intensity of expression which deep study alone brings out all indicated that her purpose was an exalted one and well worthy of the name she had inherited. She said simply, "Yes, sir."

"Then," replied her father, "It is possible that you have settled upon what you will do?"

"I have," she said.

"I occurred to me," he went on, "that you might have decided upon the law, knowing the bent of your studies when in college. Am I right?"

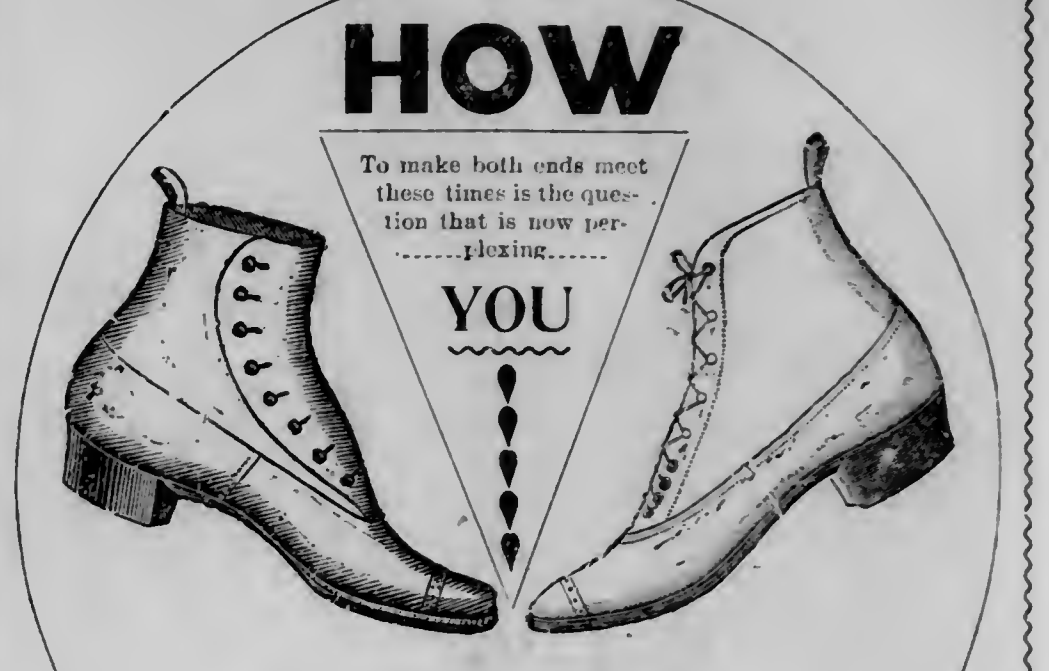

A hurt look came into the young girl's face, and her eyes filled with tears. "No, father," she replied, "you are not. I had hoped you might have guessed it. The professions have for me no special attractions. I have been urged to take up the ministry and medicine, and, as for law, I have studied that as a part of my future, but there is in my mind a purer, far nobler ambition."

"And what may that be, my child?" said the proud father as he drew his chair nearer to hers and looked into her wise, resolute face.

"Father," she replied, clasping her hands together and looking up to him with all the passionate earnestness of a nature long ago committed to one idea, "the one thing I desire above all others is to succeed in your business."—New York World.

ORE TRAIN DERAILED

Duluth, Missabe & Northern Train Struck an Ox This Side of Virginia Early This Morning.

Two Ore Cars Smashed But No One Hurt, Although Fireman Murphy Was Shaken Up.

Clothes Found on the Lake Shore Identified by Laundry Marks as Christ Frederickson's.

One of the ore trains on the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad struck an ox at a point some miles this side of Virginia this morning about 4 o'clock. The engine and several cars of ore were derailed. Two of the cars were pretty well smashed up and the engine was somewhat damaged.

Fortunately no one was hurt. Fireman John Murphy was shaken up somewhat but received no serious injuries. He did not even see a physician but the road compels its men, no matter how slightly hurt, to consult a doctor. The road will clean up and ready for traffic by 10 o'clock this morning.

CLOTHES ARE HIS.

Those Found Near the Lake Belonged to Christ Frederickson.

The body of the man found on the shore of the lake was unquestionably that of Christ Frederickson. The clothes have been identified as belonging to him. In the pocket of the coat was found a price list of the John Anderson Publishing company for which he was a traveling agent. The stockings and underwear were also identified as those of Christ Frederickson through the laundry mark found upon them.

His friends are not willing to accept the theory of suicide but the police do not believe that anything else was responsible for his death.

FOOT BALL GAMES.

Carlton and Macalester Colleges Will Send Eleven up This Fall.

What promises to be a most exciting game of football has been arranged for tomorrow afternoon on the Woodland field between two teams made up of local kickers. The field has been leveled and will be sprinkled and marked the first thing tomorrow morning. Captain Johnson has taken this means of bringing together the available material for the purpose of getting up the strongest possible team to meet teams from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Carlton and Macalester later in the season.

The game will be free to the public and a large crowd of spectators will probably be present to cheer for their respective favorites. The referee will call time about 4 o'clock although Captain Johnson asks the players to report for practice at 3:30 sharp.

The two teams will be made up of the following men: Dr. Lynn Mahoney, Abbott, Dickerman, Johnson, Watrous, Seixas, Trumble, Grocham, Gibson, Carlsson, Murphy, Thompson, Thurman, Sellwood, Calhoun, McKeon, Keon, Edson, McCormack, Carey and Capt. Johnson.

THE SAGE OF VILLAGE FARM.

Cleora J. Hamlin, the Owner of Robert J. Fantasy and Other Past Horses.

One of the most enthusiastic and successful breeders of trotters and pacers in the state is Cleora J. Hamlin of Duluth, Minn. She is now, who has now found herself after years of patient endeavor, the owner of Robert J. Fantasy, the world's champion pacer and the fastest harness horse the turf has ever seen. He is also the owner of the fastest trotter, the fast 4-year-old trotter who has stepped a mile in 2:07 and is generally regarded as the greatest rival of Alva, 2:04 1/2, who is training to overthrow Nancy Hanks, 2:04, the queen of all trotters.

Robert J. Fantasy, the pacer king, made a new world's mark of 2:02 1/2 on the Indianapolis track on Sept. 6, and what is more important, paced his great mile in a race, the first time in the history of the sport, by far the best average ever before made by a trotter or pacer. Robert J. has not finished his campaign, and many horse men believe he will pace in an even two minutes before the snow flies.

Robert J. was foaled in 1888 and was bred by Robert J. C. Walker of Williamsport, Pa., who gave him to "Champ" Brown. He was by Hartford, a son of Harold, the sire of Maid S, and out of Judith, by Mambrino Chief. He is consequently a strictly trotting bred pacer. In 1892, after he had beaten Mr. Hamlin's Glendene, the shrewd Buffalo horseman, prompted by Trainer Ed Geers, bought the black pacer and has since won a small fortune with him, besides securing the world's pacer record. Mr. Hamlin is also owner of Nightingale, the two and three mile champion trotter, Belle Hamlin and Globe, the champion trotting team, and Belle Hamlin, Justina and Globe, the fastest team of trotters hitherto three abreast.

Mr. Hamlin is not only a great breeder of horses, but a great manufacturer and a shrewd dealer in real estate. He is the king of glucose manufacturers, a sort of a trust in the business all by himself. He probably owns more valuable real estate in Buffalo than any other man.

Leslie, the Conqueror of Champion Sweeney

Norman T. Leslie of the University of Pennsylvania and the Philadelphia Bank Clerk's Athletic association has for some time been considered a fair running light jumper, but he created something of a surprise in athletic circles recently when he suddenly developed into a champion hurdler and defeated M. P. Sweeney, who holds the world's record for the event. The jumpers met Sept. 1 in Philadelphia, and Sweeney was in such poor form that he was an easy victim for the University of Pennsylvania athlete. Sweeney has recently cleared a bar 6 feet 4 inches tall, and his world's record jump, at Oct. 8, 1892, was 6 feet 4 1/2 inches, but on Labor day he could only do an even 6 feet. Leslie, however, succeeded in getting over the bar at the height of 6 feet 1 inch and won the contest. Sweeney has a novel explanation for his defeat. "I was quite sure I could do 6 feet 6 inches if necessary," he says, "but just as I went to make a jump the blooming bar struck up 'Sweet Marie'! What could I do?"

Leslie's work earlier in the season was of a disappointing character. Pennsylvania relied upon him to win the high

NORMAN T. LESLIE.

Jump at the annual championships of the Intercollegiate Athletic association, but the test he could do was to the for third place at 5 feet 9 inches with Bloss of Harvard, Burke of Columbia and Macomber of Brown. C. J. Payne, Jr., of Harvard won the event. On May 1, at the Princeton games, Leslie did better, clearing 6 feet 11 1/2 inches, and on another occasion he got over the bar at 5 feet 10 inches. Sweeney is a member of the Xavier Athletic club of New York and is without a peer as a high jumper when he is in form. He won the championship of America in 1892 and 1893 and will probably be after the event again this fall. At three indoor games he has cleared 6 feet 3 inches, and he was the first man to break the vaulting record of 6 feet 4 inches, made by W. Byrd Pace of Philadelphia in 1887—a record that has stood unequalled for seven years. The English record still stands to Leslie's credit as well as the intercollegiate record, and in view of Leslie's improving form the question naturally arises, Has Philadelphia a new Page in the person of the Pennsylvania jumper?

IN THE WHEELING WORLD.

The Canadian Wheelmen's association intends to apply to hold the international races in Canada in 1905.

Shorland, the English rider, is the indisputable long distance champion. He is now the winner of three road and three track 24 hour races.

Nine rented wheels were stolen from a Brooklyn dealer during last season.

A new rider of remarkable speed is Fred Allen of the Springfield Bicycle club, who recently won a flying mile in 1:38 1/2.

J. P. Bliss has regained the honors H. C. Tyler recently robbed him of. Bliss again holds the world's flying mile record of 1:39 1/2.

Zimmerman recently rode a mile in 1:57 2/5, the fastest ever wheeled on European soil.

It has been estimated that the 10 leading class 13 cyclists have each won prizes valued at $7,500.

Zeigler, the young Californian who captured three national championships in Denver and broken several records, has a name that begins with the correct letter for cycling glory—Z, for Zimmerman and Z for Zeigler.

MANY INSIDE FACTS

Public Gains a History of the Celebrated Merritt-Rockefeller Dealings Through the Pending Case.

Lon Merritt Under Cross-Examination by Attorney Murray, of New York, All of This Forenoon.

Interesting Points in Connection with His Financial Negotiations with the Insolvent Wetmore Brought Out.

Yesterday afternoon the direct examination of Leonidas Merritt in the case against the Missabe road and others was continued. The only point of interest further than that given in yesterday's Herald was a sustained objection against the introduction of testimony regarding Mr. Merritt's hotel bills while in New York for the company. The objection was sustained on the ground that the plaintiff had failed to obey an order requiring a bill of particulars as to his expenses.

This will probably result in knocking out about $500 of Mr. Merritt's claim for expenses, but it has no effect on the suit as to the other claims. Mr. Murray conducted the cross-examination, which continued up to the adjournment. The only point of interest brought out in the cross-examination was an admission from Mr. Merritt that he was president of the two mining companies with which traffic contracts were made, and that he represented them in the transaction.

Cross Examination Today. The cross examination was continued all the forenoon up to within twenty minutes of the noon adjournment.

"When you were in New York," asked Mr. Murray, "you made a contract for a loan, did you?"

"Yes, with C. W. Wetmore and his associates. He was to purchase $2,000,000 in bonds and $600,000 in stock."

"Did you and your brother Alfred sign that contract individually?"

"Yes."

"Were the signatures not quite apart from the road?"

"I did not so consider it."

"You understood the contract to be for the benefit of the railroad?"

"I did."

"Was there not another contract about the same time between yourself and Alfred Merritt on one hand and C. W. Wetmore on the other regarding loans to be made to you by Wetmore?"

"I think so."

"Now was not this contract one of the considerations which moved you to sign the contract between Wetmore and the road?"

"No. I understood it to be what induced Wetmore to sign it."

"Did you inform Messrs. Chase and Grant of this contract between yourself and Mr. Wetmore?"

"I don't know that I did."

"When you got back from New York did you not find extreme opposition among the stockholders to the confirmation of the contract?"

"Yes."

"Could you have carried a confirmation of the contract at a meeting of the directors?"

"I think I could."

"The Merritts were a majority in the board about that time, were they not?"

"Yes."

Issuance of New Stock. "What was done in the way of the issuance of new stock at that time?"

"Four thousand shares were issued."

"For what were they issued?"

"For $400,000."

"I mean for what purpose?"

"Because we needed the money."

"It had nothing to do with getting control of the stock?"

"Not necessarily."

"To whom was it issued?"

"To A. D. Thomson."

"You knew him to be friendly to your interests, did you not?"

"Yes, or we shouldn't have issued the stock."

"With this stock out the Merritts were in the majority, were they not?"

"I don't know."

"Just after this issuance the Grant-Chase interests were bought up, were they not?"

"Yes, by a syndicate."

"Who composed it?"

"All the stockholders."

"Merritt stockholders?"

"Everyone who was."

"On your side?"

"Not necessarily."

"Going back to December, 1892, to the arrangements between you and Wetmore, by which he was to make a loan, and Alfred Merritt a loan, Mr. Wetmore agreed in a general way to raise quite a good deal of money for you, didn't he?"

"Was he back then up?"

"There was some loose talk about backing us up to any amount. I believed him or I shouldn't have made the contract."

"He promised to raise money for you, didn't he?"

"He said he and his associates would."

"You believed him, didn't you?"

"I believed him, but I didn't bank a great deal on his statements."

"I am very glad you did not. Did Wetmore not ask you to go to New York?"

"No, but when I met him there he said he was just about to send for me."

"Why did he wish to see you?"

"Because, as he said, I was acquainted with the situation and he wanted me to help him fulfill his contract with the road and to raise money."

"What did you do while there?"

"A good many things. My time was fully occupied, principally with the railroad contracts."

"You also worked for yourself, your brothers and the Iron Exchange bank, of which you were president?"

"Yes."

"Where did you spend most of your time?"

"At 46 and 36 Broadway."

"Didn't you spend some time assisting Mr. Wetmore's financial needs?"

"Loaned Wetmore Money."

"Yes, I loaned him $20,000. I think I never got that back."

"Was Wetmore not insolvent at that time?"

BADLY DILAPIDATED

Canal Piers Are in Poor Condition and Liable to Fall in Any Time.

Maj. Sears Will Recommend Improvement But It May Be Beyond the Harbor Commission's Jurisdiction.

Vesselmen Contrary to Maj. Sears Seem to Think There Is Need for Widening the Canal.

There has been a good deal of talk among vesselmen and other interested parties about the necessity for new piers for the canal. The old ones are rotten and unstable, and there is really danger that a heavy northeaster with a good sea will send part of the north pier into the canal. Whether the harbor commission meets with Maj. Sears Sept. 24 can recommend new piers seems to be a question.

In answer to an inquiry Maj. Sears said yesterday: "I do not know whether it will come within the scope of the commission or not. The call says merely that the engineers shall meet and receive estimates for deepening the harbor to 20 feet. Incidentally it may be shown that a 20-foot channel would endanger the piers by undermining them, and in that case now piers would certainly be recommended. As there is already more than 20 feet in all but one spot in the canal, where there is 10 feet, there is not much danger from undermining."

"Does the canal need new piers? Yes, or the old ones will fall down under my plans and estimates which I shall present to the commission. I shall recommend at least a new superstructure, but whether the commission will consider that it comes within its province is another question. As there are no plans in existence, so far as I can learn, it is impossible to say whether the old foundation is good or not, but if it is as I think it would be a comparatively cheap matter to build a good superstructure. It would probably be necessary to extend the piers considerably also."

As to widening the canal, "I do not believe that it will be necessary to widen the canal for a long time. Besides, the title to the land has not been transferred to the government, without which transfer it is impossible to proceed. I understand that a number of interested parties will appear before the commission in behalf of superimposed improvements. I do not think they will find that there is anything within reason which I have not recommended in my reports."

On the matter of widening the canal vesselmen seem to differ with Maj. Sears. All of them seem to consider it as much more than a mere matter. As to the transfer of the land, that is understood to be so near consummation that it would require but a short time to complete it. It also seems to be the opinion that the old foundation of the piers is as unsatisfactory as the superstructure. "The foundations never were good," said a vesselman yesterday. "We need new piers throughout, and we need a wider canal."

A committee has been appointed from both sides of the bay, which will appear before the commission at its meeting and argue the necessity of the improvements.

A Doctor Disagrees.
To the Editor of The Herald:
"When doctors disagree we shall decide." The editor of the penny press of course. Who but he has the brazen assurance, the astounding egotism and unlimited opportunity to decide questions? He has long been, in his mind, the leader of public thought, the guardian of public morals, and now has become, alas, the dictator of surgical practice."

I am aware, my very dear sir, that silence is golden, but there are times when the barking of a puppy or the baying of an ass becomes unendurable, and perhaps your readers will pardon me for taking exception to your attempt to lighten the public on a subject of which you show a most profound ignorance. You display that ignorance in your statement that a few years ago "such operations were extremely rare and cases of death from this disease seldom heard of."

The facts are that the mortality from peritonitis has always been great. It has always been known as one of the most fatal maladies and by no means rare occurrence, but it was not known until recent years that nearly all cases of peritonitis occurring in males (females being subject to peritonitis from other causes) originate in the appendix vermiformis. I presume, my dear sir, you have heard of people dying from peritonitis and inflammation of the bowels, have you not? In my limited experience of twenty years, which is not presumed to be as great as yours, I can recall quite a number of cases occurring in my practice, which proved fatal because I did not, at the time, know the origin of the disease.

After years of patient investigation by the surgeons of the world, the cause has been discovered and the remedy found. And yet I admit there are men in the profession who do not accept the modern treatment, though they have others to offer, probably based on a natural timidity or dread of employing surgical means for the treatment of disease. Only recently I saw a case of this kind where a patient had been permitted by his physician to suffer for eight days from an appendicitis which had gone on through the regular stages of inflammation, gangrene and perforation, resulting in peritonitis. The abdominal cavity contained a large amount of fecal matter which had leaked through the opening in the gut. I opened the abdomen, washed out the gut as clean as possible, closed the opening in the gut and removed the remains of the peritonitis. The patient and the patient died, not from the operation but from the delay. Had the operation been made within the first seven days following the attack, his chances of recovery would have been 90 per cent, and it made on the first day of his sickness, would have been 97 per cent. Cases like the above occur in the practice of every physician and whether or not he can be satisfied without performing the operation which offers his patient the best chance of recovery, depends upon the character of the physician. It is not always the physician to blame for the delay. People have a dread of the surgeon's knife from a misunderstanding of its usefulness and refuse or decline surgical aid until all other means have failed to give relief and it has become too late for even that. And right here comes in the perniciousness of your teaching. The man, be he physician or editor, who delays or advises delay, is responsible for the patient's death.

The careful, conscientious physician, knowing this, takes the responsibility with reluctance, but "fools rush in where angels fear to tread," and the average editor of today does not hesitate to give advice gratuitously and without solicitation. My dear sir, it must strike the intelligent reader of your article as slightly ridiculous to see you sit in judgment upon the opinions and actions of men who spend their entire lives in studying this subject, and who have the experience and observation of the medical profession for a thousand years to guide them, and to have you declare that "all the evidence goes to show that it is a surgical fad to satisfy which a suffering humanity is being made a victim in many instances."

Who are you, sir, that you dare to make such an accusation? Since some editors are so free to criticize all classes and professions, presuming to dictate what the pulpit shall preach and the medical profession practice, I will make free to offer you a suggestion. Don't assume too much. The people prefer to look to the pulpit for their morals and the medical profession for their physical. Confine your efforts at teaching to those things of which you have some knowledge. By so doing I am aware that your field will be limited, but your usefulness will be increased.

M. D.

Are the Workmen's Friends.

To the Editor of The Herald:
If your correspondent "Needy" as he signs himself had not been too lazy to sign his name, I would have been able to tell you that he is a man who is not only a trouble to walk one block, he would then have secured the information he wanted free of charge, but he, like a good many more in this city, prefer to look round and beg instead of going to work. The Eastern Minnesota Railroad company after advertising in the News-Tribune and soliciting around this city and West Superior for two days last week, for men to work on their road, but without success, sent word to us for men. We worked hard for three days to fill their orders, agreeing to furnish free transportation and a back and charge no office fee. Out of over 200 men that applied we only secured twenty-five who promised to go to work. Mr. Farrington held a special train over two hours after these men agreed to be there, and then only four showed up. They are still in want of laboring men, not bums or loafers who were born too tired to walk a block to secure work.

It is such men as "Needy" who have some friend in newspaper offices to write against employment agencies for them, who are always trying to make trouble. We have been in the business fourteen years and there are hundreds of working men who will bear us out in saying that employment agents, that is, responsible men who are their best friends, have never been turned away from our office without work, because he had not $1, but as our books will show, we have given hundreds of employment without receiving a cent, even going so far as to advance railroad fare for them, which has not been repaid.

"Needy" also thinks the city ought to open a free employment bureau. If he or the party who wrote his communication had taken the trouble to inquire, they would have found that, without exception, all cities which started free offices gave them up in disgust after running for a short time, learning from experience that they were continually duped and fooled by such men as "Needy." THOMAS G. WHITE & CO.

ONLY DISCUSSED IT.
Jobbers' Union Took No Action on the Water Company's Proposition.
The jobbers' union held its regular monthly meeting yesterday and heard the report of the committee on the water works question. President Belknap's proposition was reported and was discussed quite freely but no action was taken. The talk however, seemed quite favorable to acceptance. A meeting was called for at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon for the purpose of going over the matter thoroughly.

Mankato raised the old question of southwestern rates to Duluth, complaining that in spite of the shorter haul to Duluth the rates are the same as at Chicago. The matter was referred and will be investigated.

DISMISSED THE CASE.
Standard Ore Company's Suit Against M. F. And M. Bates Not Tried.

The suit of the Standard Ore company against Marcus F. Bates and M. W. Bates, to recover $650 for an alleged fraud in misrepresenting land values, came to an abrupt conclusion yesterday. The defendant and his attorney were present ready to defend the suit, but the plaintiff moved to dismiss, thus practically vindicating the Bates.

Chili Wants to Buy a Railroad.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—From information received by the bureau of American republics it is learned that the president of Chili has petitioned congress for authority to purchase the Chilean section of the trans-Andine railway, with the view of completing the unfinished line. There remains only about 50 miles of this continental line to be constructed to complete the all-rail communication between the cities of Buenos Ayres on the Atlantic and Valparaiso on the Pacific. The minister of finance of Chili has submitted his budget for 1895 to congress. It calls for a total of $200,000 pesos in the paper money of the country.

DEVIL WORSHIPPERS.

Ringleaders and Principal Actors in the Recent Fiji Rebellion Receive Their Just Punishment.

Lead by a Boy of Sixteen Who Displayed Considerable Scientific Skill in Fighting Troops.

Two Were Executed and the Balance Serve From Ten to Twenty Years' Imprisonment.

VICTORIA, Sept. 14.—News from Fiji is that the trial of the ringleaders and principal actors in the recent devil worship rebellion of mountain tribes of Fiji was concluded. Sixteen prisoners captured by the king's troops being arraigned for murder and, after a most sensational trial, sentenced to death. One of the condemned was a boy of about 16, who is to be responsible for the entire tragedy, he having proclaimed himself devil priest and urged his fellow-tribesmen to return to ancient customs of life and supernatural worship.

When the troops took the field against the mountaineers it was this boy who declared that the fortifications on the hill-top were strong places and prepared with scientific skill to resist the charge and meet the volleys of the sharpshooters. In consideration of his youth the executive council consequently commuted his sentence to ten years' imprisonment, at the same time reducing the capital penalty in the cases of the others who will serve in chains for twenty years.

The two oldest and fiercest of the rebels were told the law must take its course and they were executed on Aug. 10. There is still a certain amount of discontent throughout the islands among the followers of the boy priest who are only partially satisfied by the commutation of his sentence and still threaten to make trouble.

American Flax in Ireland.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Some interesting comments on the Irish flax crop, with suggestions regarding the importation of the American product into that country, has been furnished to the state department by Consul James B. Taney at Belfast.

"The Irish flax crop of 1893," he writes, "proved the most favorable for the growers that have had for many years; the proprietors of the leading Scotch mills declaring that it was almost unexcelled. Regarding American flax he writes: 'Some samples of American flax have been sent to this country but generally they have not been so rough and heavy as the Irish flax which they could only be classed as low.'"

He sees no reason why the cultivation of flax for the fiber should not be extended in the United States as there is no secret about the growing, scrubbing or retting. It only requires careful handling and can be grown in a really moist soil on this side of the water so long as this kingdom continues to admit the foreign article within her borders free of duty. At a price that would pay the grower better than any other crop he could raise.

Boston Tailors May Strike.
BOSTON, Sept. 14.—At a meeting of the district council of United Garment Workers last night, delegates from the shop in the city reported in favor of a general strike. If such action is taken 4500 men will be involved. Their most important grievance is that they are not working under what they call the piece and task system and this they claim is unfair. They demand that the contractors employ them by the hour and that their weekly wages shall be not less than $2 for a 9-hour day. The trouble in the trade in New York has been a great deal of work to Boston and offers what the men believe to be an unusual opportunity to gain their point. A committee was appointed to draw up a speech to be read upon the contractors and Monday night the question will be submitted to a mass meeting of the workers. Should the meeting endorse the action, a general council strike will be at once declared.

A Fiendish Burglar.
PORT MORTON, N. S. W., Sept. 14.—A masked burglar entered the house of Mrs. Caroline Whitman, an aged white woman living near Dorchester and tortured her with fire in a fruitless effort to make her reveal the whereabouts of some money. The burglar first struck her over the head with a pistol and then twisted strips of paper and lighting which he held under her feet, until she writhed in agony. The old lady was found by her son, alive, but in such condition of agony and terror that her life is despaired of.

Compliments Synthe But Prefers Goff.
NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst expresses himself in favor of the nomination of John W. Goff, of counsel for the Lexow committee, as a candidate for the office of recorder at the coming election. In a carefully dictated statement, after praising Mr. Goff's character and recent work, Dr. Parkhurst paid a high compliment to Recorder Smythe.

McGintley Got in Line.
Speaking of the late Populist convention at St. Cloud and the St. Cloud county caucus, the Journal-Press says: St. Louis had two candidates, Smallwood and "Judge" A. N. McGintley. The latter was laid out by the decisive vote of 14 to 3, and then the vote was made unanimous. McGintley, who is an old man in his last days, is a man of great defect and indulged in some rather wild talk, but finally got in line and while the convention was awaiting the reports of the delegates he was a speaker before the convention. It was chiefly a roast of the Republican party, but he said that he bowed his head in shame when he considered that he had voted three times for "that Judas Iscariot, Grover Cleveland."

JACKSON'S JAW.

The Big Australian Is Very Sarcastic Before Leaving Us.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—In an interview last night Peter Jackson said: "I cannot see what there is to say. Corbett may have it all his own way now, for I am off for the West Indies on Saturday. I am glad I broke up Brady's scheme. That will always be a source of satisfaction to me. I leave the whole field to the great champion. I am classed as a 'broken down fighter' and accused of 'ishie' for a 'go' with Slavin, also called another 'broken down fighter.' It is proper, therefore, that broken down fighters should class with themselves. So I leave Corbett in full charge. He can talk. I will not reply. I shall think some when I am away from that island in the Missouri river where the fight was to have been held. They say the tides are wonderful strong out there. What if we had been squaring off at high tide. Both 'Drowned' would have been the newspaper headline. I shall never again answer anything that Corbett may say. He has the field to himself. I certainly do not think his offer to fight in a room, etc., is worth answering." Tom O'Rourke, the Val brothers and several other sporting men entertained the big Australian last night and he will begin a farewell dinner this evening.

ELEVENTH CENSUS.
Clerical Work Nearly Finished—Won't be Printed for Years.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The work of the eleventh census is about completed, the work on population and vital statistics being all that remains to be done. The portion of the work on population remaining uncompleted is on that on occupations. The vital statistics are made up largely from figures on population and have been held back on account of work in the population division. Chief of the division said that the census will be completely closed and the present force of 100 employees reduced to 40 or so at the outside. There will be no more work on the census. The census will be printed by the printing office. An additional supplement to the compendium of the census is yet to be issued. But while the census work proper will thus be finished in a few months it may be several years before the work of printing is all done and the completed work published.

Arrested For Murder.
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 14.—Walter A. Holt, a young man from Macon, Ga., has been arrested here on the charge of murdering G. A. Beard, a prominent attorney of Franklin, Texas, on Sept. 24, 1893, who was found with his head crushed in. Holt claims that he had just arrived in Franklin on the day of the murder and was at the house of his uncle, Thomas Simons, when the murder took place. Holt is willing to go to Texas without a requisition. He will probably be released on a writ of habeas corpus. He is preparing to state his case in Texas, having been arrested, having bought a ticket.

Dispute Leads to Murder.
WACO, Tex., Sept. 14.—In a dispute over a small account Leon Black, 22 years old, shot and killed Alex Fred, a Jewish merchant, while in the latter's store in the suburbs. Father and son are charged with the crime. The crime having gotten into an altercation with Fred, asked his father for a revolver which was given to him and he immediately fired the shot which killed Fred.

Morton's gubernatorial Race.
NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The regular Republican organizations held conventions in each of the thirty assembly districts of the city last night to select delegates for the Republican state convention at Saratoga next Tuesday. Although none of the delegates received positive instructions, it is understood that at least 80 of them are for Morton men, 30 anti-Morton and 17 doubtful.

Proofs Submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission of the Atchison Road's Officers' Misdoings.

Expert Little Finds That Over $7,000,000 Has Been Repaid as Rebates to Shippers.

Heavy Penalties Awaiting the Perpetrators for Every Offense Which Is Proven Against Them.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—The Herald today says: Expert Little has given the interstate commerce commission proof, which that body believes convincing, of rebate payments by Atchison officials. Two, at least, of the commissioners declare they will bring action against all officials implicated and punish them to the full extent of the law. The commission has been quietly investigating the charges ever since Expert Little's report on the Atchison's books in which he claimed $7,000,000 had been paid in rebate to shippers. There is a liability to $7000 fine and two years in the penitentiary for every payment of rebates of which there is direct proof.

GOVERNOR PENNOYER'S PLAN.
Escorted Property Must Be Turned Over to the State.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 14.—An information with interrogatories and an order of court made by Judge Stearns have been served on a number of banks in this city by District Attorney Hume appearing for the state of Oregon. The information purports to be issued by direction of Governor Pennoyer. It alleges that the banks for the past seven years have received divers and sundry deposits, the depositors of which have died intestate in this state, and that such deposits are in the custody of the banks, that the deposits have been taken to the state of Oregon; that in order to recover said escathed property it is necessary to institute actions at law.

Governor Pennoyer said: "The instructions were given by me to the district attorney to file a bill of discovery, requiring bank officers to answer certain interrogatories. I was compelled by law to give answer and no trilling will be allowed regarding the matter. If the courts issue definite orders and bank officers disregard them they must be punished for contempt of court; and if there is no law sufficient to compel the answer, I will ask the legislature to enact one. If, however, the courts trifle with the law by not stipulating a definite and limited time, I will ask the next legislature to remove the recalcitrant judges from office. The law must be enforced. The banks may run the federal government but they cannot run the state of Oregon so long as I am governor."

Koenig the Amateur Champion Oarsman.
Ferdinand Koenig, the amateur single scull champion of America, was the guest of honor at the recent annual championship meet of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen in Saratoga. He is a St. Louis athlete, 25 years of age, and is a member of the Western Rowing club and champion of the Mississippi Valley.

Koenig's list of victories is a long one for so young an oarsman. He won his first race in the pair scull in Detroit in August, 1891. He was also one of the junior pair and senior pairs which were victors at the Mississippi valley, Northwestern and A. R. A. regattas in Detroit in August, 1891. He also pulled an oar in the winning barge crew at the same regatta.

On July 4, 1892, in St. Joseph, Mo., at the Mississippi valley regatta he won his first single scull race—namely, the junior single. At Austin, Tex., in June 1893, he defeated McDowell, champion sculler of Chicago, and also defeated James Henderson of the Cutlin boat club at the annual regatta of the Mississippi Valley association in August, 1893, at Lake Minnetonka. After the Minnetonka regatta Koenig went to Detroit to try for the national scull championship, but could not do better than fourth.

Temper considers him the fastest quarter of a mile sprinter in the country. He has won in all about 30 races and has fully that many medals, besides a handsome silver cup. The cup just won at Saratoga is valued at $1,500 and is emblematic of the senior single scull championship of America.

LOSE A MILLION.

That's About What Some Will Drop in a San Francisco Wheat Deal Shortly.

McLaughlin Engineers a Little Deal and Out Two Hundred Thousand Tons of Wheat.

Somebody Else Backed Him and He Bought the Grain High and Has to Sell Immediately.

A General Suspicion that Ex-Senator James G. Fair is Likely to Be the Victim.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—Somebody stands ready to lose $1,000,000 on wheat, and San Francisco grain men are wondering who the victim is. For months L. F. McLaughlin bought wheat for some unknown speculators until he had accumulated between 175,000 and 200,000 tons of wheat, for which he paid an average of $1.20 per bushel. At present prices he cannot realize within 35 cents of as much as he paid per cent for this immense quantity of wheat. It is said by grain dealers here that ex-Senator James G. Fair is the only man on the coast who has enough ready money to back McLaughlin (not McLaughlin) in such a big deal, and it now looks as if he made an error in his calculations that will involve the loss of $1,000,000. When McLaughlin commenced to buy last winter wheat was never before so low. Under the stimulus of big purchases the price went up, but it soon fell, and wheat is now lower than ever. It is calculated

HE IS WILLIAM PANCOAST.

Identity of Myron R. Kent, the Minneapolis Murderer.

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 15.—By private dispatches it is learned here that Myron R. Kent, under arrest in Minneapolis for embezzlement and as an accomplice in the murder of his wife, is none other than William Pancoast, who in May, 1871, stole $30,000 from the First National bank of Medina, Ohio, of which he was cashier, and decamped. He had but a short time before received a large amount of life insurance his wife had carried, and there was a strong suspicion when she suddenly died that all was not right. The authorities never succeeded in locating him. Pancoast's parents, now old and infirm, live in Medina county. They have always fondly hoped their son would some day return and make all matters right at his old home.

Wants Political Lines Distinctly Drawn. TOM L. JOHNSON was renominated for congress today by acclamation by the Twenty-first district (Cleveland) Democratic convention. In his speech of acceptance he said among other things: "While there are some who still seek to judge the present by the past, while there are some editors and some newspapers who still cling to past traditions and think they can stem the tide and bring the party into line with their opinions, I for one hope the line will be distinctly drawn—those in favor of protection on one side and those opposing it on the other."

Doesn't Think the Transient Laboring Class Who Work by Numbers Without Names Are Desirable.

Other Northwestern News Giving the Principal Happenings of Interest in This Neighborhood.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 15.—Senator C. K. Davis talked freely to a Dispatch reporter today, saying in substance: "The American people cannot help producing. We have 70,000,000 people and for sixteen months 70,000,000 of people have been economizing. Clothing has been made to wear longer, crockery has been treated as sufficient; broken articles have not been replaced but matters have reached a point where people must buy. The nation wears and tear make it necessary, and the demand thus created will amount to hundreds of millions of dollars. This is a way out of our depression to improve business conditions and hasten prosperity. There is as much money in the country as there ever was, in proportion. There is always room in this country for honest, law-abiding, thrifty, industrious foreigners who come over here with their families with the intention of becoming a part of us. An undesirable is all right, while South Dakota will probably fall into line. The Democrats have nothing to point to and I cannot see any hope for them. A house divided against itself cannot stand. We have pretty good authority for the statement—the Scriptures and Abe Lincoln." He does not anticipate much danger to the old parties by A. R. U. defections to the Populists.

STORMY POPULIST MEETING.

State Central Committee Stirred up by Donnelly.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 15.—After a stormy session lasting for several hours yesterday afternoon, the Populist state central committee adjourned without having surrendered to the demands of Donnelly, who wanted to get Judge McDonald fired from the chairmanship of the committee. Donnelly went into the meeting loaded with a lot of resolutions, setting forth that it was plainly the duty of the committee to take immediate action in regard to several important matters, otherwise the party would go to smash and all the candidates with it. Mr. Donnelly claimed to have evidence tending to show that the entire machine was being geared up in the interest of legislative candidates in Ramsey county, and that this is not the purpose for which the committee was appointed. Another matter that provoked a loud discussion was the daily paper scheme. Donnelly offered to make the Representative a daily, but Tom Lucas and others objected.

German Campaign Orator. ST. PAUL, Sept. 15.—The Republican state central committee announced that Hon. Henry Fink, of Milwaukee, the noted German orator, will deliver ten speeches in this state during the campaign. The first date is Sept. 25, when he will speak in German and English at Turner hall, St. Paul. Mr. Fink is considered one of the best orators in the country and will undoubtedly be given a most cordial reception in this state.

A CROSS SUIT.

Uncle Sam's Claim Against the North American Sealing Company Met by a Big Offset.

Company Claims a Loss of Profit Occasioned by Diplomatic Delay Amounting to $283,725.

Contract Was Made in 1890, But Was Prohibited While Negotiations With England Were Pending.

Claim is Also Made that the Natives Were Allowed to Catch Seals All the Time.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—In the United States circuit court the North American Commercial company put in its answer to the claim of the United States government for $130,875.50 on account of alleged breach of contract and handed in a bill to the government for $283,725 for alleged loss of profit arising out of the same contract. The agreement in question was entered into between the commercial company and the United States in March 1890. It gave the company exclusive right to catch seals about the islands of St. George and St. Paul in Alaska for which the United States was to receive an annual rental of $60,000 for twenty years and $7,065 for each seal captured in addition to a revenue of $2 for each seal sent here by the company. The government alleges that the company caught 75,000 seals during the first year for which it demands $57,187 in addition to the $60,000 for rent. The company says that part of these seals were caught by the natives and shipped by the company which never was allowed the exclusive right as guaranteed in the contract. They offer $150,000, the amount of revenue tax and no more. The company alleges that it had a right to seize 60,000 seals the first year and 100,000 each succeeding year, but while the negotiations with Great Britain were pending it was prohibited from catching any seals and thus suffered a loss of $283,725. It wants to be reimbursed.

NORTHWEST NEWS.

Wreck on the Omaha Road. ST. PAUL, Sept. 15.—An E. A. W. freight train going west on the Omaha road jumped the track early this morning just out of Hammond. Two oil cars, a car of coal and the caboose were burned. No one is reported as hurt. The 5 o'clock limited from Chicago to St. Paul was sent to St. Paul by way of Spooner.

Cooper Shop Destroyed. LITTLE FALLS, Minn., Sept. 15.—The cooper shop belonging to the Interstate Milling company was totally destroyed by fire last night. The loss is $1500; no insurance. The Van Burck Bros. machine shop, adjoining, was damaged $300; no insurance.

State Relief Donations. ST. PAUL, Sept. 15.—The donations received by Kenneth Clark, treasurer of the state commission, now amount to $20,833.70.

Murder in the First Degree. ST. PAUL, Sept. 15.—John Ivan, who killed Policeman Jacobson at Hastings, in July, was yesterday convicted of murder in the first degree after the jury had been out four hours.

Charitable Entertainment. ST. PAUL, Sept. 15.—The entertainment at the Auditorium netted $100 for the fire sufferers.

Mikado Goes to Hiroshima. YOKOHAMA, Sept. 15.—The vigorous press censorship which has been in force since the war with China was declared has been relaxed, but local newspapers are still prohibited from publishing any news regarding the progress of the war or about the movements of the army or fleets. The mikado, accompanied by the members of the court, left Tokyo on Sept. 13 for Hiroshima, the point of embarkation of the Japanese troops sent to Korea.

Rounding Up the Lynchers. MEMPHIS, Sept. 15.—Frank H. Berry, of Rosemark, Frank Tucker, William C. Thompson and Jim Walker, of Knoxville, were jailed today under indictment for alleged complicity in the lynching of six negro prisoners near Millington on Aug. 31. The grand jury is still investigating the lynching.

Found With Throat Cut. MEMPHIS, Sept. 15.—A white man was found this morning on the Memphis & Charleston railroad just outside the city limits with his throat cut from ear to ear. He gives his name as Paul Burke and says he was cut by John Fletcher, Fletcher has not yet been arrested. Burke's condition is critical.

Two Hundred Were Drowned. LONDON, Sept. 15.—A Shanghai dispatch announces that six survivors of the persons aboard the Chinese transport Chean, which stranded in the Che Tung pass recently with 1400 troops on board, while on her way to the island of Formosa, have arrived here. It was at first announced that all the troops and crew were saved in the ship's boats, but the six persons who have reached Shanghai say that about 200 soldiers were drowned in the Che Tung pass.

British Cruiser Sailed. SYDNEY, N. S. W., Sept. 15.—The British cruiser Ringarooma, which went ashore Sept. 6 on a reef off Mallicott island, New Hebrides, and which was feared would become a total wreck, has been floated, thanks to the assistance rendered by the British warship Dart, Lizard and Wallaroo, and the French cruisers Scorp and Louane. The Ringarooma is now at Port Sandwich.

that there are at present between $60,000 and $90,000 worth of wheat in the state that a market must be found for. All this wheat must be shipped out of the country, and shipowners are holding back for high charters.

Today's Big Horse Race. NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The race today between Byron McClelland's Henry of Navarre and James R. Keene's Domino at the Gravesend track, will be a mile and a furlong. Domino is a dark brown colt by Himyar-Mamie Grey, and is a 3-year-old. The question of supremacy as between the two is one of abounding interest in turf circles. Domino and Henry of Navarre never met except once, in a mile race at Morris Park, when in a terrific battle Domino's brown head showed in front of the royal chestnut at the finish. The race will take place at 4:30 o'clock.

Sovereign Grand Lodge I. O. O. F. CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 15.—The seventieth annual session of the sovereign grand lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, which will convene in this city next Monday, will be attended by probably 50,000 people. Extensive preparations have been made for the entertainment of the delegates and visitors. The meetings of the sovereign grand lodge will probably occupy ten days.

Chinese Enlistment of Europeans Stopped. LONDON, Sept. 15.—A dispatch to the Times from Hong Kong, today says that the enlistment of Europeans for the Chinese service has been stopped. Seven men belonging to the Southern department of the customs service have returned to their former duties. The whole southern squadron has been ordered north.

front carriage, wrecking it and causing the second team to run off. Both teams dashed into the teams in front, causing the horses to run away, and all four teams plunged down a steep hill completely wrecking the conveyances and throwing the inmates under the horses' feet. A partial list of the injured are: Miss Anna Burnside and a younger sister, faces and heads cut in shocking manner and breasts crushed; both will die.

William Housholder, both legs broken and crushed. Alex. McBane, seriously injured internally; may die. El. Cope, head and face frightfully cut; is unconscious. Last March Mrs. McBane was caught in a runaway and injured, dying after giving birth to the child that was buried yesterday. All the injured were taken to near-by houses and physicians summoned from several towns around.

Sad Blaze in Scranton. NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—A dispatch received here says that the business portion of Scranton, Pa., is on fire and property worth $300,000 has already been destroyed. The fire was under control shortly after 1 o'clock. The fire completely destroyed the Matthews, Morton and Cross and Van Buren blocks. The property of a number of firms was damaged by water.

Mexico's Independence Days. CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 15.—The three days' festivities in honor of the birthday of President Diaz and the declaration of Mexico's independence have opened throughout the republic. The military parade and sham battle on the plains of Peritavillo was one of the grandest military pageants witnessed for many years.

able class, made up of those who do not come here with the intention of remaining, who hope to earn enough money to enable them to return to the old country to live in comparative idleness; those who are imported, live and work by number and not name, or exist under the padrone system. They do us no good and they are not in any degree desirable.

"I think that the business of the country will gradually adjust itself to the provisions of the new tariff. And I think that what the business men of this country really want is peace on the tariff question. They desire to adjust themselves without being harassed by the thought that all this is to be fought over again. That is where President Cleveland made his mistake in writing that letter to Representative Catchings, wherein he said that this was but the beginning of more to come. The law as it stands is a complicated compromise and the people want peace on this question, not continual war, such as Mr. Cleveland suggests.

So far as I am concerned I am opposed to the bill only in the details which affect the wages of the workmen and reduce them to the European standard. It cannot be gainsaid that until two years ago the American toilers, as a class were the most prosperous and happy of any in the world.

"The issue of the next campaign," he continued, "is the conspicuous failure of the Democratic party to administer the affairs of the government of diplomacy, in finance, in everything. The Democratic party will be on the defensive throughout the campaign, endeavoring to justify its acts. The Republican party has its record and will stand upon that. Maine and her sturdy sons have spoken and I look for a general response of the same character from the country generally. I think that we shall get Kansas, and I know that Nebraska for the first time since the terrible experience in the forest fires. He says that his nervous system seemed completely shattered by the shock of the experience he passed through, but that he felt as cool as he ever had in his life until he had walked that three miles to the station, and the excitement was all over. Then he broke down completely. He has now fully recovered and is in his usual good health.

George W. Leavis Nominated. LACROSSE, Wis., Sept. 15.—Seventh district Democrats had a small but lively convention yesterday and nominated George W. Leavis, of Black River Falls, for congress by acclamation. Mr. Leavis promised to make a thorough canvass. He is a native of Jackson county, 32 years old and has been several times defeated for office, but was postmaster during Cleveland's first term, and clerk at the state capitol the last two years.

Convicted of Her Third Murder. BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis., Sept. 15.—The jury in the case of Lena Mattson, for murder, brought in a verdict finding the defendant guilty of murder in the fourth degree. Lena Mattson was tried for infanticide three years ago, the jury finding her not guilty. Last spring she was arrested, charged with the murder of another babe.

Wisconsin's Fire Sufferers. CUMBERLAND, Wis., Sept. 15.—Maj. William Mahoney and Capt. Charles R. Williams, of the quartermaster's department, arrived here in the interest of the governor to inspect the work of the local relief committee for fire sufferers. After making a thorough investigation they expressed themselves highly pleased with the work of the committee and will report to Governor Peck. Rain checked the serious forest fires in this vicinity.

The Populist Factor.
The Populist party is an incalculable quantity in the coming election. There is no denying the fact that the probable size of its vote is giving the politicians of the two old parties considerable anxiety.

It is difficult to gauge the vote that will be polled by the People's party. It is well known that in almost every community there can be found former members of the Democratic and Republican parties—some of them quite prominent members—who have joined the Populist party. There has been a marked movement in that direction. But what is its extent? This is the question that the old party politicians are asking and have not answered. Is the Populist movement drawing more largely from the Democratic than the Republican party? Again the old party politicians pause for a definite answer that is not forthcoming as yet.

In Minnesota the Populist strength has increased considerably this year. Any observer of the political situation, if he be honest and candid, will agree with this statement. It is also undeniable that the Populists have gained in strength in St. Louis county. They will probably poll more votes here in November next than at any previous time in the party's history. But whether they will draw more from the normal strength of the Republicans or the Democrats is the perplexing question. If their additional strength came largely from the Democrats, the Republican candidates would breathe more easily, while if it came largely from the Republican ranks the Democratic candidates would feel more confident and the Populist nominees could feel more assurance in their ability to win out at the polls. It is these unsolved questions that make the political situation complicated and interesting.
As election day draws near it will be easier to size up the situation.

In the country at large, the Populist movement creates an almost equal degree of uncertainty. Of course there are some sections, principally in the East and some Southern states, where the Populist movement cuts practically no
the South and in the West, the indications are in favor of present of an increased Populist vote. It is the uncertainty of this vote that causes the impartial observer to discount the sweeping claims of the Republicans that they will capture the next congress by sweeping victories in states which have hitherto been classed as Democratic and in congressional districts which they lost two and four years ago, largely owing to Populist strength gained at the expense of the Republican party. The Western Democrat, as a rule, is a low-tariff man and is not likely to be drawn towards the Republican camp. The Populist ticket may attract many of the radical, low-tariff Democrats of the West, especially as this is an off-year, in which the presidency is not at stake. The Western and Southern Democrats, who believe in free silver, will hardly be drawn to the Republican standard.

On the other hand there are many Republicans who believe in free silver coinage. They are not satisfied with the attitude of their party on the financial question. They find that on this question the Populist platform meets their views. Many of them, according to present indications, will vote for the Populist ticket on this account. Thus
we see that with the Populists drawing from both sides, there is a probability that the next congress will have a Democratic majority—probably reduced, but a majority sufficient to control the lower branch of that body.

The first showing made by the People's party in congress was in the session of 1891 with two senators and eight representatives. It secured three senators and eight representatives in the present congress. It cast 1,041,023 votes for Weaver for president in 1892 and it held a sort of half interest in several congressmen elected that year by fusion with Republicans and Democrats in different states. The Populist claim is that the party has grown mightily since the last presidential contest, but there is no way of testing the claim until the returns are received in November.

It is a fact, however, that the congressional elections held midway between presidential terms frequently go against the party in power. The congress elected in 1874, in the middle of Gen. Grant's second term, put a Democratic majority of 61 in place of the Republican majority of 101 in the preceding house, elected with Gen. Grant in 1872. Again, in 1882, the house chosen halfway between the election of Garfield and that of Cleveland had a Democratic majority of 64, displacing a small Republican majority elected two years before with Garfield. In 1886, half way in Mr. Cleveland's first term, the Democratic majority of 84 in the house chosen cut down to 15 by the usual backward swing of the popular pendulum. And in 1890
the Republican house majority of 7 elected in company with Mr. Harrison was displaced by a Democratic majority of 148, not counting 8 Populists.

It is also true that third parties tend to touch low water mark in presidential years and high water mark in the off or mid-term years. The Greenbackers, for instance, polled their largest vote in 1878, half way between Hayes and Garfield. In the following presidential contest they lost 6 of the 16 seats they elected in 1878, and then vanished altogether. The Greenback vote, however, never quite reached one-third of that poll in 1878. Its high water mark was 307,000 cast for the same gentleman who two years ago received 1,041,000 votes as the Populist nominee.

What the People Read.
There are printed in this country about 20,000 different papers and magazines, equal to two-fifths of all that are published in the world. Last year the combined periodical issue in the United States was 4,000,000,000 copies, an average of 300 copies of some periodical for each of the 13,000,000 families that make up our population. The annual production of books of all kinds is less than 70, 000,000 copies. It is estimated that books do not constitute above 5 per cent of the general reading of the country,
and that of the total production of periodicals 94 per cent is made of those of daily and weekly issue.

An investigation which has been made into what types of journals obtain the strongest hold upon popular favor shows that there are printed in the United States about 1850 daily papers, whose issue aggregates over 7,500,000 copies per diem. In other words, there is a daily paper printed for every other family in the country. The total number of weeklies reaches 14,000, of which some 26, 000,000 are issued each week, or an average of two papers for every family.
Viewing the total issues for the year, it appears that the daily absorbs nearly 60 per cent of entire periodical production, and the weekly about 35 per cent. The daily paper is, therefore, by reason of its frequency of issue and its wider distribution among all classes, by far the strongest single influence of popular reading.

Probing one degree deeper, it will be found that the dominant type of this dominant force is the sensational daily.
By the term "sensational," is meant those papers which make crimes, scandals and highly colored pictures the principal features of their "news." Taking the circulation of this class of papers
in the seven largest newspaper centers of the country (New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston, San Francisco, and Cincinnati) we find that their combined issue is considerably more than half the total daily issue of the country. It reaches upward of 3,500,000 copies. To make a forcible comparison, there are more of this single class of papers printed every day than all the books published in cloth bindings in a year. It is also found that the United States pays annually for its daily newspapers upward of $50,000,000, and for its weeklies an equal sum, or a total of $100, 000,000 for newspapers. That sum exceeds the present value of its annual output of gold and silver. It pays out some $3,000,000 for the standard month.

DRUGS

will either serve your purpose or they won't. Either way you are safe. They are not; there is no middle ground. One thing is absolutely sure, and that is that they are not to be trifled with. You can afford to take chances with a great many things, but not with drugs. If they are fresh, up to a main strength, up to the highest regulation as to purity, they are all right; if they are not, they are not. In all or any of these particulars you can't go too clear of them. The prescription that I fill, you can rely upon to the last fraction of the last ounce.

On the other hand there are many Republicans who believe in free silver
coinage. They are not satisfied with the attitude of their party on the financial
question. They find that on this question the Populist platform meets their views. Many of them, according to present indications, will vote for the Populist ticket on this account. Thus
we see that with the Populists drawing

It would be difficult to show that it pays more than $1,000,000 or $5,000,000 for all its books.

The island of St. Helena, where Napoleon passed so many years of his life in banishment, is to become a health resort. Since the opening of the Suez canal the inhabitants have suffered severely from a money point of view, as fewer ships touch there than in former years. The people want more other source of income and have adopted this plan. It is worthy of note, however, that Napoleon did not stay there for his health.

Music typewriters have been invented, one of which works directly and another is attachable to a pianoforte so that improvisations can be recorded. But the climax of ingenuity in this line will not be reached until we have a typewriter for Chinese, and it must be able to print Chinese while you are punching the keys for English.

In Hammondsville, Ohio, seven women have left their husbands because the men would not join the church, which causes a Boston paper to remark: "We are not in a position to say whether or not such a course on the part of wives is calculated to increase the membership of our churches."

When a lot of Rhode Islanders are bent on having a clam-bake there is no bar to their ingenuity. Some Rhode Island railroad men, who used steam from a locomotive by passing it through a pipe connection into a barrel of clams, supply the exemplification.

The New York Evening Post considers it is safe to say "that any party or faction which sets out for a general tariff overturn during the next few years will receive a box on the ears of a very decisive character."

Have you noticed how steadily the revival in business is progressing? Soon we will forget that the hard times ever existed. They are rapidly becoming a reminiscence.

The new tariff bill places musical instruments under "explosive substances." This is not so far out of the way, even if it is a blunder in the make-up.

It is said that Marion Crawford has written ten novels in twelve months. Judging from the way some of them read, the report is probably true.

Sherrborne County Star-News: The Democrats of the Sixth congressional district met at St. Cloud Tuesday, and, as a matter of course, renominated Congressman Baldwin, there being no other candidate with sufficient nerve to make the run. The proceedings were perfunctory, no enthusiasm being manifested.

Breckinridge's Oiler Creditor. Chicago Dispatch: If Breckinridge is re-elected he will owe everything to his faithful wife.—St. Louis Chronicle. Not everything; he will still owe $15,000 to a Washington girl.

A Great Prize. Could I but speak to her! Ah, me! 'Twould lift the clouds of doubt, Each day her perfect face I see. For sometimes fancy goes; And I must sit not far away And view her angelic eyes. The smiles that o'er her features play And mirror naught but bliss.

Could I but speak to her! The days Speed on; no word is passed. Her bright eyes still her prayer wait; Her lips are mute and fast. But, ah! some day this tale must turn; I'll win my treasure yet. You see I've started in to learn The clumsy alphabet. —Boston Courier.

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Society Circles Have Been Almost as Quiet as a Churchyard Among All Sets This Week.

Hardy School Reopening Brings in Many Outsiders—Anticipations of a Revival of the Informal Parties.

Miss Agnes Maginnis' Dancing Party on Wednesday Evening—Two West Duluth Euchre Parties.

Social matters have been exceedingly quiet this week and there is but little prospect of anything prominent for the coming week. Even the "younger crowd" as it is termed has nothing to offer. A number of the young ladies have gone away to school and entertainments previous to their departure cancelled the social circle a little. Hardy school has reopened and has brought more than thirty young ladies from outside. The young people are in hopeful anticipation of the revival of the little bi-weekly informal parties which were so delightful last year.

DANCING PARTY.

Miss Agnes Maginnis Entertained a Company on Wednesday Evening.

Miss Agnes Maginnis gave a dancing party at her home, 1113 East Third street, on Wednesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Maginnis, Miss Maginnis and Miss Farrell received. Punch and refreshments were served. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Thornton, Dr. and Mrs. Phelan, Mr. and Mrs. L. O'Brien, Mrs. Cowan, Misses Evans, Fiebigler, Porter, Farrell, Lulu Fiebigler, Murphy, Kenny, Brady, Dot Farrell, Mabel Brady, Mary Maginnis, Weber, Henry, Kenny, Sheridan, Messrs. McCabe, of West Superior, Sullivan, Huelan, Macdonald, S. S. Murphy, J. Burrows, Dunn, Hessian, Lahey, Kraemer, Miller, Farrell, Sheridan, Baskerville, Weber and S. C. Murphy.

PROGRESSIVE EUCHRE.

Two Parties at West Duluth in Honor of Visiting Guests.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Matthews, entertained a company of friends at their home in West Duluth on Tuesday evening in honor of their guest Mrs. Ida H. Prettyman, of Louisville, Ky. It was a progressive euchre party. The prizes were taken by Miss Dent and H. Mitchell. Dancing followed. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Dent, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Benjamin, Mrs. Walters, Mrs. Pettit, Mrs. Green and Mrs. Holloway, Misses Simonds, Sharp, Little, Sawyer, Dent, Green and Messrs. Simonds, U. S. G. Sharp, H. Mitchell, A. W. Huttman, Day Smith, Jr., Tenholm and Little. On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Dent gave a progressive euchre party at their home in West Duluth in honor of Mrs. Green and Mrs. Holloway and Miss Green, of Leavenworth, Kas. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. William, Mr. and Mrs. Follett, Mr. and Mrs. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Salter, Mr. and Mrs. Mayhew, Mrs. Prettyman, of Louisville, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Benjamin, Misses Little, Sawyer and Sharp, and Messrs. Sharp, Little, Smith and Thexton.

Madeline Island Tug Party.
The tug Nellie Cotton carried a happy party to Madeline island last Saturday. They camped on the island Saturday and Sunday nights and on Sunday visited several points of interest in the vicinity. The party was given at the home of Dr. and Mrs. G. V. I. Brown and returned on Monday. Those who went were: Dr. and Mrs. Brown, Misses Barber, East, of Springfield, O.; J. Peyton, Martha Peyton and Sharpe, and Messrs. L. A. Barber, W. Peyton, A. W. Hartman, M. Peyton, Bert Newton and J. Newton.

Social Mention.

THE EDITORS RETURN.

Informal Entertainment For Them at the St. Louis Hotel.

The North West brought the Minnesota Editorial association back all right. They had a good time all through the trip, and the good time was not allowed to end with leaving the boat. At the St. Louis last evening an informal meeting was held, in the midst of which a surprise was sprung on three members of the executive committee to whose exertions much of the pleasure of the trip was due.

Dr. Barrett in a happy address presented H. G. Gay, of the Albert Lea Standard, with a gold headed cane and umbrella. C. P. Stone received a handsome gold watch and chain, and E. A. Paradis, of the Midway News, got a set of sleeve buttons and shirt studs. An impromptu concert followed in which members of the association contributed.

The editors will leave for home over the Eastern Minnesota this noon.

SHOULD THE GOVERNMENT ACT

To Suppress Fraudulent Advertisements of World's Fair Awards?

Letters from both the chief of awards (on agriculture) at the Chicago World's fair, J. S. Browning, and the judge of awards on baking powders expose the falsity of the claim made in behalf of a Chicago baking powder that it received the highest award for leavening power, keeping qualities, purity and general excellence.

The judge of awards says that this claim is false, that no such award was given to that baking powder.

Mr. Browning in his letter already published also shows that there was no award given to the Chicago company for the best baking powder.

It now appears further that the analyses of the powders exhibited showed a baking powder made in New York altogether the superior of the Chicago powder in both purity and strength.

The government has prohibited the use for advertising purposes of the medals awarded by the fair. It would be a great protection to the public if the government would also prohibit the publication of false claims such as those that have been exposed in relation to such awards.

A national competitive test of a national character, from which consumers can obtain the actual facts as to the relative values of all the principal brands of baking powder of the country, is that made by the agricultural department at Washington, D. C. It so happens that this was conducted by the same chemist who acted as judge of awards at the Chicago Columbian fair. As has already been published, at this examination the Royal baking powder was found to be the superior powder and highest in leavening strength.

FAVOR A PURCHASE.

Jobbers' Union Would Like to See the Water Works Plant Purchased.

The jobbers' union met with a full attendance yesterday to consider the water proposition. The discussion was warm and lasted several hours. Finally a resolution offered by H. H. Hanford and seconded by J. S. Annuck was passed, in which the union conditionally recommended the purchase of the old plant.

The conditions upon which the purchase is to be made is that the figures presented by the company be verified to the satisfaction of the general committee, figures as to not earnings being especially questioned.

Copies of the resolution will be sent to the council and to the general committee.

MY FOOD DOES ME NO GOOD

Oh, If I Could Only Eat.

Why Are These Questions Asked by So Many People?

A Piece of News For Those Who Have Weak Stomachs.

The stomach, liver and bowels cause more trouble than any other part of the body. There are thousands of persons whose food don't do them the good it should. They have had taste in mouth, coated tongue, constipation, gas in stomach, fullness or distress after meals, bloating and belching of wind. They often have headache, are weak and nervous, have sallow complexions and can't sleep. Frank Pierce, Esq., a well-known man of Goffstown, N. H., says:

"Some ten years ago, I was taken with indigestion of the stomach. I was in so much distress that the doctor gave me morphine and used something he put in my arm. After the pain stopped my little finger began to swell and pain me. It extended all over my hand, which was terribly swollen.

"I could not use it at all and it continued so for weeks. My stomach and bowels were in a fearful condition. I had to take physic constantly. My hands and feet swelled so I could not walk and could hardly feed myself. The doctor pronounced it rheumatism.

"That followed me for years and last fall I had a slight shock which weakened me very much.

MR. FRANK PIERCE.

"Then the grip set in and I was unable to do anything all winter. When warm weather came I got some better, but was unable to walk the shortest distance without being so tired I would have to sit down.

"I tried doctors and medicines, but received no benefit from them. Then I began to use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and before I had taken one bottle I felt better and continued to steadily gain under the use of this wonderful medicine.

"I have been in better health this winter than for the last ten years. Have not had an attack of rheumatism since and my stomach and digestion are all right. I do not take cold as I used to and have worked every day for the last two months without the least trouble and without that tired feeling I have had so long.

"I advise everyone to use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It is a wonderful medicine. It cured me and it will cure you, sufferer. There is no other remedy in the world that will compare with it.

"You who have suffered so long and tried so many remedies, just try a bottle of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and you will get well. It always cures. Doctors recommend it because it is a great physician's discovery and because it makes people well. Dr. Greene is the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. Luck is Out of Luck.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 15.—The second trial of the suit of George W. Luck against Clothing Cutters and Trimmers' Assembly, No. 750, Knights of Labor, for $5000 was begun in the court of common pleas yesterday. The first trial of the case was in the superior court last November and resulted in a verdict and judgment for the assembly, as Judge Ritchie took the case from the jury.

Luck, who is a skilled clothing cutter, was for some months employed by the New York Clothing house, this city, at a salary of $30 per week. He alleges that owing to a threat made by the assembly that his retention would result in a general boycott against his employers firm, the latter dismissed him.

THE WORLD OF LABOR

Water Works Purchase Matter Taken Up and Discussed by the Trades and Labor Assembly Last Night.

President Olson and J. H. Baker Were Favorable to the Ordering of a Special Election.

They Considered the Proposition Made by the Company a Fair and Business Like One.

The Trades assembly held its regular meeting last night and most of the session was taken up with the waterworks purchase matter, now commanding so much attention on all hands. A recommendation was made that the city council call the question before the people for a vote in case the figures given by Mr. J. H. Baker, who has been a member of the special waterworks committee, in his report to the assembly reviewed the ground covered by the joint committee and brought forward points for and against the water company's proposition.

Mr. Baker expressed the belief that Mr. J. H. Baker's proposition was a fair and business-like one and that its acceptance would, in all probability, be a saving of time and money to the city, as tedious litigation would thereby be avoided.

The aim which many had in view, that of giving employment to labor, would be served, as the city would immediately go to work making extensions. Attorneys have been consulted who hold that the mains already laid can be adapted to the abutting property and the money thus obtained can be used in the extensions, which improvements, in turn, would be assessed against property along the new mains. Only $200,000 would have to be raised on bonds at present and the remainder of the bonds raised could be used in extensions or could be issued at once and used to replace the outstanding bonds of the present company.

President Olson highly commended President Baklanoff for his frank and business-like statement of the affairs of the company. He maintained that in recommending an election, that the assembly would not be urging the purchase of the plant, but simply would be leaving the matter for the people to decide. As an individual, he favored the purchase.

Other speakers took the same ground and the only opposition was from Mr. O'Brien, who objected to a special election on account of the expense connected with it.

The Labor day committee reported that a net profit of $216 had resulted from the picnic. Of that amount $50 goes to the fire sufferers. The committee will, later on, return an itemized report.

The delegates from the electric workers reported that they netted $15 from their dance, which sum had been turned over to the relief committee. The street car employees' delegates reported that their net had amounted $50.

MUST SAVE THEMSELVES.

How the Interests of the Workers Are Slighted or Trampled Upon.

Dr. Lyndall Holmes of All Souls' Lutheran church, Chicago, presented a sermon recently on the labor question which was full of good things. He took the ground that the laboring element, constituting seven-eighths of the entire population, was the least considered in legislation, and that it had no hope of ameliorating its condition except by its own efforts. He said:

"Men of education and culture are not interested in the toilers men of wealth are not interested in them. Jurists and legislators are concerned with every other interest but that of the laborers, and there is less hope of help from the organized churches than from any other section of the community. Fully three-fourths of the exploiters of labor are either church members or else closely associated with the churches, whereas not more than one-quarter of the men who live by their labor are in the habit of attending any church."

As to whether the laboring classes were not as well off as possible at the present time and much better off than ever before, Dr. Holmes was not prepared to admit either supposition. To consider them as well off as possible would put together too narrow a limitation on the capacity of the human race to improve its social condition, and to suppose that little which they were better off than before when it was apparent that they were not as well off as they ought to be.

"But it is evident," he continued, "that there is a tendency toward worse conditions. This is the result in some degree of the history of human science and humanity over nature, resulting in what is called overproduction, and it is in part the result of the war of competition between the captains of industry into which the increased power of invention sometimes tempts them to engage in. The material facts of the situation are that there are multitudes of idle men every year, many of whom are in a condition of chronic starvation. Not only is physical hardship the lot of the workmen, but dishonor and contempt also are necessary experiences of his life. This is not because labor is contemptible, but because the poverty incident to it and the unmeritedly paid labor deprives the laborer of all social consideration."

"How are these conditions to be improved? Only by instituting governments with the obligation imposed upon them of rendering possible poverty and the enjoyment of the products of his own labor, only by securing to every community the products of communal life. One of the functions of a well designed and effective government would be to secure to every child a childhood free from toil and free from starvation and misery. If we are to have capable citizens in our community, the children of this community must be educated so that they shall be qualified for the citizenship. It is not more necessary for the well being of the community that all who deserve the franchise should possess the franchise than that there should be in the public schools a seat for every child in the community. Not only should there be a seat for every child, but no child should be there in hunger or in rags or in semi-nakedness. If there be no other means of providing the child with breakfast, dinner and supper, the state should provide. If there be no other way of clothing the child decently and providing it with a home, the state should find the means."

"These are things which a government should do. What it should not do is to place the interests of money, the interests of property, against those of mankind. It should not guarantee the will of the possessor of property to dispose of it at pleasure according to the feudal custom which we Americans have thought proper to maintain, though we have left monasteries and many of the traditions of the old world behind us. Neither should the government allow the present generation to be bound and fettered by the past. What is the use of the franchise if supreme courts can, by declaring the will of the nation unconstitutional, nullify the declaration of the nation? For the verdict of the supreme court we should substitute the referendum and initiative."

Solidarity.

The world is mine to live in and enjoy; I am mine to love in and to weep. I am mine to build upon, but not to destroy. I am mine to labor in and sleep. The world is mine—my heritage it is. It is not mine alone. Who's born of woman it is also his—his title is my own.

"Is more my own than were it given me To hold in undisturbed repose. For me alone a desert it would be. When match blossoms like the rose, And whose will not for my title fight. Must likewise his resign. And whose triumphs on another's right Abridges also mine."

To stand together—neither can escape Our joint responsibility. The duties we each other owe. The common racial destiny. Our interests are mutual, communal. Wherever we may be. The blows which on a covering fellow fall Are an affront to me.

Americans, 'tis time we understood. Our flag, the red, the white, the blue, Means freedom, equal rights and brotherhood.

For all earth's children as for you, That follow men in Pullman or Calumet—In masters' building where—Are driven as slaves beneath a despot's sway—That, too, is my affair.

The world grows smaller—men are closer drawn—And sympathetic strikes announce the dawn. Of justice for each man who labors. National lines are nothing—all is this: Who wills every man To live as free as he would be, he is My fellow countryman.

Our grandfathers summoned hither the oppressed. Of every nation. They have thronged Unto us from the east and west—The souls by cruel tyrants wronged. Our hand is full, let us our shield extend To whosoever men be. While anywhere men to despots bend I am not wholly free.

Miles Alexander Dawson in Railway Times.

FAVORS ARBITRATION.

A Professor of Political Economy Before the Labor Commission.

Edward W. Bemis, associate professor of political economy at the Chicago university, gave the special labor commission his study of the labor question and of the effect of arbitration. In order to consider the question of arbitration properly, he said it was necessary to divide industries into two classes—private and quasi public enterprises—result of his study of the labor question and of the effect of arbitration. In order to consider the question of arbitration properly, he said it was necessary to divide industries into two classes—private and quasi public enterprises—result of his study of the labor question and of the effect of arbitration.

In a struggle for the rights of humanity individuals are nothing. He will be a poor champion of the cause of the people who will pass for a leader in fighting for principles. But when a leader like Debs is attacked as he has been attacked and all the agencies and all the influence of capitalism are set in motion to "hush up" the matter, he should be prepared to encounter like danger in the wage workers' cause—then must every spokesman of the working classes speak out in defense of the leader.

The slanders that have been directed against Debs during this struggle simply laudably recount because of their number. He has been called crazy, drunken, lawless, criminal, in competent. Newspapers have at once declared his conduct of the strike impudent and denounced him for having made it so effective. Labor has been charged to throw him over as a power broker, and capital has been warned that he is a dangerous man because of his surpassing ability. "Anything to beat Debs" has been the one policy which has animated the organs of capital for the last four months.

Well, Debs is beaten—in a certain sense. His effort in behalf of the Pullman strikers has failed, and the very journals which most strenuously opposed his work are now printing the story of the dreadful destination of the Pullman strikers which Debs did his best to break down.

It is too late now to fight over again the issues of the American railway union strike and boycott. Debs and his associates now stand in the shadow of the penitentiary for trying to avert by entirely proper and lawful means the conditions which now engage the attention of the government and the nation, and must awaken the sympathy of all humane people. The privileged corporations doctored to the aid of the Pullman concern. No one conversant with the facts of the case can doubt that the Pullman strikers stood by Pullman; every morning newspaper in Chicago except The Times stood by the Pullman; the government joined in the combination. Mr. Debs' testimony is to the effect that the government and the Pullman issued injunctions which killed the strike—a statement which everybody cognizant of the course of that movement will indorse.

There has been much evidence adduced before the investigation commission, but none so exact or none more clear than that of Mr. Debs. His explanation of the causes of the strike and boycott is perspicuous and logical, his outline of the causes of its failure coherent and convincing, his suggestion of means for avoiding its recurrence absolutely right. He sees, as all clear sighted and fair minded men must see, that under the private ownership of railroads there is no possibility of justice for railroad employees. The public interest in the smooth and uninterrupted course of traffic over the roads embles the managers to call upon public opinion and even upon state forces to aid them against the employees in any serious controversy. The government ownership of railroads is indeed, as Mr. Debs said, the one effective remedy for strikes among railroad hands. Asked for a solution of the general railroad problem, he suggested the co-operative commonwealth—a solution desirable, but one so difficult of accomplishment as to seem almost if not quite utopian. Mr. Debs might have proceeded logically from his declaration for government ownership of railroads to government ownership and management of all other industries which tend naturally and inevitably to become monopolies. This accomplished, the repeal of all laws giving private persons the benefit of artificial law created monopolies would follow; then the abolition of all taxes upon industry; finally the throwing open to all men on equal conditions of all natural opportunities so that every man starting in life should have so far as human power could accomplish it, an equal chance with every other man. Under such an organization and with such laws the co-operative commonwealth which Mr. Debs suggests would probably prove unnecessary. Competition, which is essential to the progress of civilization, would still continue, but it would be free competition, not the triumph of man plus a monopoly over the man without it.—Chicago Times.

Dangerous Ideas.

For a number of years now I have watched the trend of anarchist thought in this country. I was in Chicago in 1886 when the anarchists were in the Haymarket that May evening. I was in the courtroom when Spies—a university graduate, a quiet and intelligent gentleman—Lings, Parsons and the others were condemned to death. I studied as best I could the growth of the public feeling which demanded that these men be killed because they did not think as you and I do. Since then I have met many anarchists—men like Malato, Malatesta, who like Sicilian revolt; women like Emma Goldman and Louise Michel. I believe in the new French law against anarchists; I believe in Superintendent Dyer's repressive theory. This society in which you and I believe demands the iron hand.

By the way, I discussed this matter with Oscar Wilde a few weeks ago. I argued then as I argue now.

"The ideas are dangerous," said I, "and should be suppressed."

"Dangerous?" said Oscar. "My dear boy, the ideas which are not dangerous are unworthy the name of ideas."

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Oxford, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism. His stomach was disordered. His liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Balm cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Pa., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Balm and soon found relief. Used four bottles and the sore was healed. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg, one of which was incurable. One bottle of Electric Balm and one of Buckle's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold at Max Wirth's drug store.

A. M. Bailey, a well known citizen of Eugene, Oregon, says his wife has for years been troubled with chronic diarrhoea and used many remedies with little relief until she used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which has cured her sound and well. convincing, his suggestion of means for avoiding its recurrence absolutely right. He sees, as all clear sighted and fair minded men must see, that under the private ownership of railroads there is no possibility of justice for railroad employees. The public interest in the smooth and uninterrupted course of traffic over the roads embles the managers to call upon public opinion and even upon state forces to aid them against the employees in any serious controversy. The government ownership of railroads is indeed, as Mr. Debs said, the one effective remedy for strikes among railroad hands. Asked for a solution of the general railroad problem, he suggested the co-operative commonwealth—a solution desirable, but one so difficult of accomplishment as to seem almost if not quite utopian. Mr. Debs might have proceeded logically from his declaration for government ownership of railroads to government ownership and management of all other industries which tend naturally and inevitably to become monopolies. This accomplished, the repeal of all laws giving private persons the benefit of artificial law created monopolies would follow; then the abolition of all taxes upon industry; finally the throwing open to all men on equal conditions of all natural opportunities so that every man starting in life should have so far as human power could accomplish it, an equal chance with every other man. Under such an organization and with such laws the co-operative commonwealth which Mr. Debs suggests would probably prove unnecessary. Competition, which is essential to the progress of civilization, would still continue, but it would be free competition, not the triumph of man plus a monopoly over the man without it.—Chicago Times.

Dangerous Ideas.

For a number of years now I have watched the trend of anarchist thought in this country. I was in Chicago in 1886 when the anarchists were in the Haymarket that May evening. I was in the courtroom when Spies—a university graduate, a quiet and intelligent gentleman—Lings, Parsons and the others were condemned to death. I studied as best I could the growth of the public feeling which demanded that these men be killed because they did not think as you and I do. Since then I have met many anarchists—men like Malato, Malatesta, who like Sicilian revolt; women like Emma Goldman and Louise Michel. I believe in the new French law against anarchists; I believe in Superintendent Dyer's repressive theory. This society in which you and I believe demands the iron hand.

By the way, I discussed this matter with Oscar Wilde a few weeks ago. I argued then as I argue now.

"The ideas are dangerous," said I, "and should be suppressed."

But he is given to epigram.—Vance Thompson in New York Advertiser.

Irving W. Larimore, physical director of Y. M. C. A., Des Moines, Iowa, says he was considerably impressed by Chamberlain's Pain Balm to athletes, gymnasts, bicyclists, football players and the profession in general for bruises, sprains and dislocations; also for soreness and stiffness of the muscles. When applied before the parts become swollen it will effect a cure in one-half the time usually required. For sale by all druggists.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Oxford, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism. His stomach was disordered. His liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Balm cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Pa., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Balm and soon found relief. Used four bottles and the sore was healed. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg, one of which was incurable. One bottle of Electric Balm and one of Buckle's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold at Max Wirth's drug store.

A. M. Bailey, a well known citizen of Eugene, Oregon, says his wife has for years been troubled with chronic diarrhoea and used many remedies with little relief until she used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which has cured her sound and well. Give it a trial and you will be surprised at the prompt relief it affords. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by all druggists.

Finick too Much for Him.

Harry Finick bested Mose Jackson at the Parlor theater last evening. It was a round gy, but was simply a picnic for Finick.

The Colored Dude also bested Jack McDonald, St. Paul, although McDonald claimed to be an expert.

PAYS DULUTH A VISIT

The "Wandering Jew" Dropped Into the Zenith City Recently, Coming in a Side Door Pullman.

He Passes His Opinion on Some of the Familiar Objects to be Seen in the City.

He Has Forgotten Whether the Government Building Was Begun About His Time or Not.

Eugene Sue's story of the "Wandering Jew," who for an indignity offered to the Christ was condemned by him to live until he should come again, is well known. Perhaps it has not been generally received as truth, as it was not like him to inflict such a severe punishment. But a Herald man was convinced of the truth of the story lately, for he had it from the old man himself.

The Jew was just emerging from a St. Paul & Duluth Pullman when the Herald man was attracted by his unusual aspect. He looked not unlike an ordinary tramp, but there was an indescribable look about the old man's face that would distinguish him from others if nothing else would. It was a look of intense sadness, as though some crushing sorrow was weighing upon his soul. When the Herald man became acquainted with him, and knew his old story, he knew the cause of that look.

It was the weight of the centuries of the old man had gone through. When he thought of how much must be crowded into one life, what must it be to witness the share allotted to the centuries.

I accosted the old gentleman and asked some questions calculated to draw from him his story. He looked somewhat like a belated Coyote at first, but after a few moments' conversation it was plain that he could not be that.

Naturally his story was not to be believed at first, but was soon convincing of the truth of his statements. He informed the Herald man that he had just come through from New York where he had landed two weeks before after an extended trip in Asia.

He signed that he was hungry and penniless in a manner that made the reporter return to his first idea that he was a Coyote. His words had a familiar ring about them, being the same old plea for "assistance" that is made by the bum on the street.

It soon became apparent that his manner had been obtained by contact with the class he would naturally meet in journeying through the country in box cars and on the streets. His demands were modest and when his hunger was allayed the old man became more congenial. He said he had heard a good deal about Duluth and its enterprise, and while he was here he thought he would like to look around a little.

The Old Man Comments. As he entered the business portion of the city he was much struck with the appearance of the streets, and as he went along frequently expressed admiration of the public buildings. As he reached the ruins of the old Board of Trade building he paused for a moment and looked at them thoughtfully. As he seemed puzzled over them the reporter asked him what his thoughts were.

"I was just wondering," said he, "what object the people of this city have in leaving this pile of ruins in such a prominent place. It cannot be for ornament, for it is surely not thought to be handsome."

"Now, Isaac," said the reporter, "you mustn't bother about that. It doesn't concern us, as it is the private business of the people who own the building that once stood there. Of course it isn't pretty, and it has been an eyesore for a long time, but it is not our business to be bothered by the people who own it by commenting on their private affairs. Then, you know, we are in too much of a hurry getting rich to think of beauty. Perhaps we had better move, along, Isaac."

Isaac moved along and pretty soon came to The Herald building, where the general relief committee was distributing relief in copious quantities to the fire sufferers. Isaac was much interested in this and listened with open mouth to the awful story of the cyclone of flames from which these people had escaped and of the relief which followed.

He seemed struck with the generous spirit which had moved the people who were thus by the grace of God, aiding to lift their suffering brethren from the gulf of despair into which the fire had plunged them after taking their all, even to friends and loved ones. As he walked along he spoke of the incident as an oasis in the desert of time in which he was traveling, and he expressed contrition at having thought the world was worse than it used to be.

Soon a thought struck him. "Are those people who are getting relief all fire sufferers," he asked. "Yes," was the answer. "Well, are there no others who need aid?"

"Oh, yes, lots of them, but—" "Have the people forgotten them," asked the old man. "No, I don't think they have, although they have lost sight of them momentarily in the larger trouble. They will soon be remembered and cared for. The old man seemed relieved.

County's Beautiful Ruin. "What a beautiful ruin," he said. "They told me it was burned when I was there the last time that America was a very good place but there were no ruins here. I see I have been misinformed, for this is one of the finest ruins I have ever beheld. This is doubtless the remains of an aboriginal palace."

"See here, Isaac, you old rascal," said the reporter, "are you making fun of our court house? We are rather proud of our court hall, and we wouldn't exchange it for the ruins of any other court house. The old man looked at the speaker incredulously for a moment and then smiled for the first time. In explanation he said that he was forced to speak at the ridiculous of the idea of such a city having such a court house in its midst.

When convinced that he was not being trifled with he forbore further levity, but as he wended his way cityward he frequently looked back at the "ruins."

He was also much interested in the harbor and docks. Standing on the canal watching the boats go in and out and listening to the story of the rapidly increasing commerce and the growing importance of the port of Duluth he expressed wonder and admiration. He saw the immense natural advantages, and commenting on those led him on to speak of improvements.

As the "Wandering Jew" passed the improvements upon the natural advantages are not nearly adequate. Now look at this canal. It is a great thing for the city, but in what condition is it. Have none of the people noticed those gaping breaches, the rotting, tottering wood-work, so dilapidated that it would seem that a strong sea would sweep it away. That is for the government to see to, you say. I don't know much about your government, but it would seem to me that unless it is presented by men who know and are interested in the needs of your city, the government will never see to it.

"That's quite a lecture, Isaac, but I suppose it is all right," answered the reporter. "I think the people will have new eyes some time before the old ones are washed out all right, so we won't worry about that."

"I don't remember anything about it either," said the Jew simply. "The next day Isaac bade farewell to Duluth and with careful instructions to avoid going to West Superior, boarded a Northern Pacific freight train for the coast. As the train passed out of the yards he waved a farewell with his hat from the open window of a box car.

NEW DULUTH DOINGS. Latest Happenings in the Suburb Up the River.

NEW DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 15.—[Special to The Herald.]—Frosts are seen by the earlier riser these mornings.

Two car loads of lumber and shingles were shipped from here Tuesday.

Illustrated Americans Feast of Varied Contents—Argonaut's Last Sensation—McClure's Sketch of Dana.

Tales from Town Topics—Illustrated London News—Babyhood's Talk About Little Ones—Other Publications.

All sorts of tastes and fancies are catered to in the current number of the Illustrated American. The place of honor in this number is given to an account of "The North Carolina Naval Reserve," in which is related the story of the recent cruise of the citizens-manned of that state, handsomely illustrated with photographs and etchings. "Eve's Fairest Daughter" tells the story of the famous Countess Castiglione, the beautiful woman for whom Napoleon III openly slighted the Empress Eugenie. In "Plays and Players" Charles Fiedler tells why E. J. Sothern's new play, "The Victoria Cross," fails so dismally at the Lyceum theatre. "Miss Adams' Resulting From the Use of Cow's Milk," and the medical editor answers questions as to the supposed need of long clothes, excessive flow of milk, etc. W. R. Garrison, the editor of the New York Nation, contributes a striking article on "The Mother of Boys," and there are practical papers on subjects as "Household Economics in the Nursery," "The Place of Fruits in the Nursery Diet," etc. The department of "Puzzles and Pastimes" and "The Mothers' Parliament" treat of subjects in a lighter vein. $1 a year. Babyhood Publishing company, 5 Beckman street, New York.

The literary sensation of the hour in Paris is the subject of a clever letter from "Parisian" in the Argonaut of Sept. 10. It is Marcel Prevost's new novel, "Les Demi-Vieilles," in which he has described the last young woman of fashionable French society, and it is no wonder everyone is talking about it, for such experienced and judicious young persons as Prevost's Parisian and the type, the freedom of the American girl and the independence of the British girl are in a lighter vein. $1 a year. One of the most desirable features in a book or publication designed to be a guide for the traveler is a good map, or, for guidance in various pursuits is compactness of proportion. A book that will go into the pocket of an overcoat or is a very more serviceable than a large bulky volume. It is said that one of the greatest reasons why the Rand McNally Railway Guide is so popular is that it is so small, so compact, so handy, so convenient.

One of the most desirable features in a book or publication designed to be a guide for the traveler is a good map, or, for guidance in various pursuits is compactness of proportion. A book that will go into the pocket of an overcoat or is a very more serviceable than a large bulky volume. It is said that one of the greatest reasons why the Rand McNally Railway Guide is so popular is that it is so small, so compact, so handy, so convenient.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

School Work is Getting Settled Now and is Running Smoothly.

The first week of school is usually the most worrisome of the school year, especially for the teachers, as every department in the school has to be rearranged for the new classes. This being the second week, everything began to move smoothly last Monday and the pupils soon realized that the time for systematic study was at hand.

Rev. E. M. Noyes delivered a short address before the students on Tuesday morning, taking as his subject, "A Sincere and Honest Purpose." The scholars sincerely regret that the time for his departure from Duluth is so near.

Three scholars from the West Superior high school seem to think they can do better work in our famous building.

The seniors have decided to enter upon the work of the next High School Annual at once. The following members were chosen to bring the undertaking to a successful issue: Walter Scott, Clarence Taylor, editorial and business managers; Phoebe Zimmerman, secretary; Clara Bull, artist; associate editors, Rose Wilkey, chairman; Georgiana Everett, Jennie Crowley, Laura White, Charles Kent, Annie Milne, Alfred Thwing, Maude Clark, Eva Rockwell.

The book will appear about the middle of next June. It will be pushed vigorously from now until it goes into the hands of the printer, as the editors expect to make it a credit to the school in every respect.

The total enrollment has increased to 383, being divided among the classes as follows: Seniors, 45; juniors, 68; sophomores, 113; freshmen, 140; post graduates, 9. The names of the post graduates are: Herbert Abbott, Elton Jones, Jessie Palmer, Florence Williams, Lillian Ingalls, Virginia La Vaque, William Smith, Anna Waugh, William Cleland.

Seats in the assembly hall were assigned to pupils on Tuesday morning. This will enable the teacher in charge of the hall to mark the attendance of pupils for the period which they are due there.

Three of last year's graduates will soon leave for the university at Ann Arbor, Mich. They are: Scott Cash, who enters the engineering department; Gunter Pake, 6 years' course in the literary and medical departments; Charles Meinhardt, 4 years' course in the medical department.

The senior class held a meeting last Monday and elected as officers for the present year: President, Hamilton Peyton; secretary, Jennie Crowley; treasurer, Clarence Taylor.

Professor Woolman expressed himself as well pleased with the first week's work of the chemistry class. Each student has a desk and chemicals of his own, and is required to perform experiments with as little aid as possible.

Presents a Great View. Duluth Heights has been threatened several times lately with fire, but the trees, groves and the hill sides all around are covered with beautiful green foliage.

Nevertheless, no prettier spot was found, and to prove it everyone should take a trip there and out to the end of the line. Large numbers of people go up every Sunday, not merely to see the bustling little town, but for the grand view as well.

The Duluth Business University and College of Shorthand Has Opened With a Large Attendance. Night School Opens Monday, Oct. 1.

The annual opening of this noted commercial college and institute of shorthand has found a larger number enrolled than on any previous opening, and the coming year promises to be the busiest in the history of the college. A large number have arranged to enter on Monday, Sept. 17. This will be an excellent time to begin, as new classes will be organized to accommodate those who have already arranged. A large attendance is assured for the opening of the night school. The same excellent facilities are afforded in the night as in the day school for securing thorough commercial, stenography or telegraphy course. No young person who is employed during the day can afford to neglect such an opportunity. Call at the office and arrange to enter at the beginning. Location 105-107 West Superior street.

HOW THEY WORKED IT

Rockefeller's Crowd Insisted on the Consolidation of the Mines Before Advancing the Needed Money.

Alfred Merritt Not Allowed to Testify as to the Value of Leonidas Merritt's Services.

Letter Written to Lon Merritt by His Secretary Turns Up in the Defendant's Possession.

After the noon adjournment yesterday H. E. Harris continued the re-direct examination of Leonidas Merritt in the Merritt vs. Missabe road case. The defense had attempted to show that Mr. Merritt had been working among other things for the furtherance of the consolidation during the time for which he seeks to recover compensation. The re-direct examination was occupied mostly with refuting this, showing that the reason Merritt had worked for the consolidation was that Rockefeller refused to advance any more money unless it was formed.

After some documents had been identified, Mr. Merritt was excused and his brother Alfred called to the stand. The greater portion of his testimony related to the original contract for a loan by which Wetmore became connected with the road. He testified that the money for building the road came from the sale of bonds to Wetmore and his associates, that Leonidas went to New York to see the president. He went to New York later to assist his brother.

He testified that he was present when Leonidas negotiated the $500,000 loan from Rockefeller, and that Gates told them for Rockefeller that they could not get any more unless the mines were consolidated. A question as to the value of Leonidas Merritt's services was objected to and held over until this morning to allow Mr. Harris to present authorities.

The cross-examination was begun. Alfred Merritt testified that on the same day that the traffic contracts between the mining companies of which Leonidas was president and the Merritts were made, Leonidas became vice president of the road.

Cross-Examination Continued. The cross-examination of Alfred Merritt was continued this morning for about half an hour. Little of moment was brought out. After a few moments re-direct examination the direct in chief was taken up where it was cut off yesterday afternoon, in relation to the value of Leonidas Merritt's services. He was asked the value of the services from Oct. 27, 1893, to Oct. 13, 1893, but the same objection was interposed.

After an hour's argument the objection was sustained on the ground that the witness had not had any previous experience in such matters and that he was not a competent witness as to the value of the services. Alfred Merritt was excused and John E. Merritt, a nephew of Leonidas, was called. He testified that he was a director of the road from February, 1892, to February, 1894, and that he had talked with the other directors about the value of the services of Leonidas. It was understood that he was to be paid for his services as soon as the road was placed on its feet.

He remembered telling plaintiff that he could not afford to neglect his personal affairs the way he was doing and that he should receive pay for his work. "You were a director at that time?" was asked.

"Yes, sir." There was no cross-examination of Napoleon B. Merritt who was called to the stand. His testimony to the same effect as that of John E. Merritt. He was a director of the road, and he had spoken to Leonidas in the same strain as John.

M. M. Clark, Leonidas Merritt's private secretary, testified to several items of fact to his own services at $100 a month, a stenographer's services at $75 a month, and the office rent at $75 a month, all of which plaintiff had paid. Mr. Clark was a good witness for the plaintiff, and although the defense tried to show by him that work performed by him was partly for plaintiff's private affairs, he was not to be shaken in his statements.

Surprised Mr. Clark. In the cross-examination a letter written by Mr. Clark to plaintiff concerning the stenographer was produced, and Mr. Clark was asked to identify it. He seemed to be surprised at seeing it in the hands of the counsel for the defense, but he identified the letter as his.

"Is that your writing, Mr. Clark?" asked Mr. Cotton.

"It is your signature also, is it not?" "It is. That's my signature, that's my writing, that's my letter. I wrote it to Mr. Merritt. I think he wrote it to me. Now how he lost it."

This raised a laugh at counsel's expense, which was promptly rebuked by the court. The forenoon testimony was concluded here, as the next witness, A. R. Merritt, was expected to consume a good deal of time with his testimony.

Rowe Found Guilty. James Rowe was pronounced guilty of rape by the jury at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. There are no extenuating circumstances to his crime, and his sentence will probably be a long one.

The next case taken up was that against Francis M. De Vere, accused of indecent assault upon two little girls. His trial was continued until today.

Following is the call of cases for next week: Monday—109, 118, 115, 62, 159. Tuesday—130, 133 1/2, (136 to 143), (166 to 188). Wednesday—168, 236, 74, 34, 221, 119.

$2.50—Hinchley and Return—$2.50. On Sunday, Sept. 16, the "St. Paul & Duluth railroad" will sell excursion tickets to Hinckley and return at the rate of $2.50. Giving an opportunity of viewing the burned district. Get tickets at city ticket office, 401 West Superior street.

IS DEATH TO BABIES.

When Food Fails to Give Strength in September.

Children Must Now Eat Well and Digest Well in Order to Live.

Lactated Food Will Not Disagree With any Child—Should be Used.

Don't take chances with the baby.

These summer disorders, diarrhoea and cholera infantum, come with a suddenness and progress from bad to worse with a rapidity that throws unprepared mothers into helpless confusion.

Every experienced nurse knows that it is of the utmost importance to keep at hand lactated food, a substitute for baby's food, even when the child is fed at the breast. Often the heat so weakens the infant's stomach that the natural milk fails, so that a partially digested food, such as lactated food, must be employed, that will burden the weakened stomach less and yet keep up the baby's strength. The irritated condition of the bowels is what leads to fatal diarrhoea when mothers persist in clinging to the same old diet despite the warnings that baby is not only not thriving, but in great danger of cholera infantum and diarrhoea that carries off so many infants.

When babies throw up their milk or when they are not keeping up their strength, especially during hot weather, it is plain there is trouble with the food. Either the food, if it is mother's milk, is poor in quality from long nursing or the mother, or if the child is weaned the infant stomach, weakened as it is by the high temperature, is irritated and cannot keep baby strong and healthy. Physicians, when called in such cases, put the child on a diet of lactated food. Being a partially digested food, as physicians call it, lactated food is more easily converted into vigorous blood than any other food upon which a child can be fed.

It is a successful infant food, its parts are well nigh identical with baby's earliest and best food, healthful breast milk. Babies that seem to mothers to take "hardly enough nourishment to keep them alive" eat heartily when fed on lactated food, because that great object of successful infant food has been thoughtfully attained—it pleases the infant taste and induces the child to eat heartily.

Babies are safely and readily weaned during the summer months on this splendid nutritive. And for the same reason lactated food is by far the best diet for young children, so it is peculiarly fitted to the needs of nursing mothers, as well as invalids who have slight energy to extract strength and nutrition from ordinary coarse, heavy food.

Lactated food is used in all the large homes for children throughout the United States and Canada, and in families possessing every means for securing the best for their children; and yet it is easily within the reach of the most modest household in the land.

ONLY A BLUFF INTENDED. Duluth Heights Residents Had Prepared a Bad Scare for Joe Burns.

Joe Burns faced Judge Powell in police court this morning on the charge of assault and battery. James A. Chisholm who made the complaint, alleges that Burns committed the offense by punching his wife, Julia Burns, in the face with his fist. The prisoner pleaded not guilty and the hearing was set for this afternoon.

Said a resident of Duluth Heights this morning: "Joe Burns is a pretty tough customer. He runs a little store on Duluth Heights, selling candy, cigars, butter, eggs and all that. He has ruined his business, however, as the result of continued cruelty to his wife. He has more than once vented his wrath by using physical force on her. Among his little methods of amusing the devil in his nature he has broken beer bottles over her head."

Last evening a crowd of citizens on Duluth Heights secured a rope and horse whip and started to hunt up Burns. They expected to put the rope around his neck, make a bluff at lynching him just to scare the fellow and then wind up their demonstrations by freely horsewhipping the fellow.

Jailer McEwen, of the police department, got wind of the affair, but he and his men were not to be deterred. They laughed the landlors and the police who would arrest them. They then went out and purchased another bottle of whiskey, but before they could make more loss, knocked over the lamp.

This morning both men were arraigned on the charge of disorderly conduct, complaint being made by M. S. Colson. Both pleaded not guilty and the trial was set for the afternoon session.

Mack Mullen, drunk, received ten days in the county jail and John Teshan, who pleaded guilty of begging on the streets, was given suspended sentence.

Yesterday afternoon the seven boys arrested for stealing wheat from St. Paul & Duluth cars in the vicinity of Garfield avenue, pleaded guilty and paid fines of $1.50 each.

Yesterday Dominick Costeler, who lives near the corner of Eighth avenue west and Superior street, treed Joseph Crainpitt under a house and then proceeded to bombard him with shots from a big revolver. Before Joseph's anatomy had been perforated, the police appeared on the scene and stayed the hand of the angry Dominick. Crainpitt was jailed but Costeler got away. The trouble was due to a belief entertained by Costeler that Crainpitt was too intimate with Mrs. Costeler. His Dago blood was aroused and he swore vengeance with the result stated. Up to noon today, no complaints had been issued.

From High Government Authority.

No authority of greater experience on food products exists than Dr. Henry A. Mott, of New York. Dr. Mott's wide experience as Government Chemist for the Indian Department, gave him exceptional opportunities to acquaint himself with the qualities and constituent parts of baking powders. He understands thoroughly the comparative value of every brand in the market, and has from time to time expressed his opinion thereof. On a recent careful re-examination and analysis he finds

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

superior to all others in strength, purity, and efficiency. Dr. Mott writes:—

"New York, March 20th, 1894.
I find Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder to be superior to all others, for the following reasons:—

1st. It liberates the greatest amount of leavening gas and is consequently more efficient.

2nd. The ingredients used in its preparation are of the purest character.

3rd. Its keeping qualities are excellent.

4th. On account of the purity of the materials and their relative proportions, Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder must be considered the acme of perfection as regards wholesomeness and efficiency, and I say this having in mind certificates I have given several years ago respecting two other baking powders.

The reasons for the change in my opinion are based on the above facts and the new method adopted to prevent your baking powder from caking and deteriorating in strength.
